Peace Talks Set to Go Next Week

United Press International

Middle East peace talks are expected to begin in New York next week under the auspices of mediator Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden unless unforeseen developments intervene, diplomatic sources said at the United Nations Friday.

The sources said Israel most likely would appoint at a Sunday cabinet meeting UN ambassador Joseph Tekoah, as the representative to the Jarring talks despite the Israeli position that they should be held at foreign ministers' level.

* * *

There was an uncomfirmed possibility that the negotiator could be Israel's Washington ambassador, Yitzak Rabin, but in any case it would be an ambassador on the understanding that in their later stage the talks could be elevated to foreign ministers' level.

Jarring was expected to announce the date of his talks sometime early next week, possibly Tuesday, the sources said.

Tekoah himself, after a brief meeting with Jarring, declined to confirm Jerusalem reports that he might be appointed the negotiator. "I don't expect anything," he said. "I just follow instructions."

* * *

The Arabs, in appointing their UN ambassadors for the talks — the United Arab Republic's Mohammed Hassan Bi-Zayat and Jordan's Muhammad H. El-Pvva — were known to have agreed to a subsequent elevation of the talks to foreign ministers' level if developments after the opening stage so warrant.

The foreign ministers of the countries concerned — and many others — were expected to come to New York in any case by Sept. 15 when the UN General Assembly's 25th session is scheduled to begin.

Israel complained again Friday that Egypt is continuing grave violations of the Middle East ceasefire by building defensive missile sites near the Suez canal.

Viet Cong Halted

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian artillery and air strikes Friday apparently halted a powerful North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault that had moved within six miles of Phnom Penh.

The government moved two battalions into the tiny village of Prek Krabao to replace Cambodian defenders who had been on the line for two nights and two days of heavy fighting.

* * *

Four 120-millimetre artillery pieces were moved north of this Cambodian capital to provide continued support for government forces that had pulled southward from the battle area in what was called a tactical retreat.

Although the government controlled Prek Krabao, six miles northeast of Phnom Penh, the Communists held the area to the north where the fighting was centred Thursday.

* * *

The government military spokesman, Maj. Am Rong, said a few mortars were fired at Cambodian lines across the Mekong River "to check our defences and draw them out."

Although the main Communist force was within rocket range of the capital,

Solar System Similar To Earth's, Far Away

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — A British scientist said Friday an American space satellite has helped discover what appears to be a solar system similar to Earth's 30 quadrillion miles away.

Zdenek Kopal, professor of astronomy at Manchester University, told the international astronomical meeting the centre of the system was a one-million-year-old star named Epsilon Aurigae.

Kopal said the star is surrounded by a transparent disc of matter, four billion miles across, apparently made up of large solid particles, a number already the size of small planets.

It has been known for about 40 years there was something unusual about Epsilon Aurigae, he said, but recent observations from the U.S. satellite OAO-2, an earth-orbiting astronomical observatory, show the star to be the centre of a solar system.

One surprising feature about the system, Kopal said, is that the temperature in the newly-found system reaches at most 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, about the same as the sunlit side of the moon.

Intensive Search Begun After Two Jets Collide

BAGOTVILLE, Que. (UPI) —The pilot of one of two CF-5 supersonic jets which collided in flight Friday was in hospital Friday night suffering from shock and bruises, while an air and ground search continued for the second pilot in rough country 65 miles north of Bagotville.

Lt. Marc Fortier, 23, of Quebec City, ejected from his jet and parachuted safely to the ground. A third pilot said after the crash he saw two parachutes drop into the clouds.

Fortier was found late Friday and returned to Canadian Forces Base Bagotville, where he and the missing man, Capt. Denis Lambert, 35, are stationed.

A spokesman said Fortier was able to walk off the rescue helicopter that carried him back to Bagotville, but was later taken to hospital with shock and bruises and contusions suffered while bailing out.

The search for Lambert, a married man with two daughters, has been pinpointed in "rough bush territory," the spokesman said. He said the area of the search was determined by the discovery of Fortier and the two wrecked jets.

The collision came as the two, along with the CF-5 pilot who saw the parachutes, were performing a high-level exercise. All three belong to the 433 Tactical Squadron stationed at CFB Bagotville, which is located on the Saguenay River some 200 miles north of Montreal.

The spokesman said the search for Lambert included several aircraft, among them Otters, DC-3 Dakotas, two types of helicopters, T-33 jets, CF-5s and Voodoo jets. At any given time, he said, as many as 10 different planes might be involved.

He said a ground search party was working in the area but was not expected to take an active part in the search until daybreak. Overnight, the search was curtailed somewhat, he said, but at least one helicopter continued to work out of a nearby lumber camp airstrip.

Peterson Bid Accepted

First IWA Vote Rejects Offer

By DON COLLINS

At least one group of forest workers has already turned down the Nemetz contract proposal for the B.C. Coast region, the Colonist learned Friday night.

This was the result of a vote organized quickly at one woods operation before IWA negotiators had agreed to meet with Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, sources said.

The negotiating committee, reportedly dogged by troubles of its own and under new leadership, said it had accepted Peterson's request Friday for a meeting to discuss the 28-page report turned out by Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz.

* * *

Peterson asked during the day that both the union and industry refrain from voting pending further study of the report's implications.

The industry, represented by Forest Industrial Relations, has said it will comply with the request to study the report thoroughly, but has not indicated yet whether it intends to meet with Peterson.

Jack MacKenzie, new chairman and spokesman for the union's negotiating committee, said in a statement the union had accepted the labor minister's invitation and that "we have proposed 2 p.m. on Monday because of the urgency for an early solution to this problem."

* * *

MacKenzie, vice-president of the IWA western region, has replaced Jack Moore in the top committee role. Moore, who is president of the western region, was said to have resigned as both chairman and spokesman Thursday after the committee's decision to recommend rejection of the proposed package.

He was one of a minority on the committee favoring acceptance. He remains on the committee as a regular member.

One well-informed labor figure said late Friday: "There has been ill feeling over someone in the union conferring with government officials on the matter — and doing so on an individual basis.

* * *

"It now definitely appears the government had been led to believe there would be a recommendation for acceptance of the proposals."

This was given as the reason for the surprised reaction of Peterson and Premier Bennett when rejection was recommended.

Bennett said Thursday he

Trudeau Back, Busy

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau returned to Ottawa Friday from a week of Caribbean swimming and skin-diving and immediately presided at a late afternoon cabinet meeting.

The continuing postal contract deadlock and the stepped-up pace of rotating strikes by the postmen was expected to be one of the main issues discussed at the cabinet meeting.

A source in Trudeau's office said all ministers would be reporting to the prime minister on what had transpired in their respective fields during his absence.

Trudeau was whisked to the meeting directly after his plane arrived late in the afternoon.

Before taking the week of vacation Trudeau said the postal situation could not be allowed to continue much longer in its present state.

City Becomes Battleground

KATMANDU (UPI) — Fighting Communist and right-wing forces were reported Friday to have turned the industrial city of Biratnagar, 180 miles southeast of Katmandu, Nepal, into a virtual battleground.

SFU Given Ultimatum

BURNABY (CP) — The executive of the Simon Fraser University Alumni Association said Friday it will demand the resignation of SFU's president and board of governors unless eight suspended professors are reinstated. The executive also will stop accepting donations for university use.

Dismissal proceedings and investigations have already cost taxpayers $200,000, the association charges.

Postmen Return To Work

The longest and most severe of the mail strikes to cripple B.C. services since the national postal dispute began was to be over by this morning.

The 48-hour stoppage, replacing the usual 24-hour rotation strikes, covered most of B.C. and was to finish as it had begun — on a staggered system.

* * *

The first of metropolitan Vancouver's 1,700 mail workers began reporting for work by 8:30 p.m. Friday and by this morning their counterparts were to be back on the job across the province.

The first workers were expected at the Victoria post office by 5 a.m.

But with the end coming when it did, it meant no mail delivery between Wednesday and next Monday.

* * *

The strike pattern across the country was reported more intense Friday than it had been on any day since the dispute began, with some 13,832 of the 27,000 mail workers off the job at 146 post offices. The government suspended operations at another 71 offices employing 1,291 workers.

Prime Minister Trudeau said in Ottawa that the government was prepared to give mediator Thomas O'Connor a week to 10 days to achieve results.

Quiet Prague Remembers

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

PRAGUE (LAT) — Complete calm burdened by an overwhelming mixture of apathy and fear prevailed throughout Czechoslovakia Friday on the second anniversary of the invasion of the country by the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact troops.

A steady, day-long drizzle over most of the country seemed appropriate to the mood of the populace which generally ignored official praise of the "timely and friendly assistance" of the Soviet forces which continue to occupy the country since they stormed in on Aug. 21, 1968, to crush the Communist reform movement of Alexander Dubcek.

Clandestine appeals for a passive demonstration of protest against the Soviet occupation were only moderately effective in the Czech capital. There were fewer people in the stores, on the streetcars and in the streets than is

Flutter Sputter

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Baritone Louis Quilco, his voice booming to the upper balconies in mid-aria, suddenly stopped, gagged, and rushed off-stage during the opera Rigoletto.

A hastily-summoned doctor plucked a feather from his throat. It had fluttered down from a nest of pigeons in the rafters and nearly strangled him.

Margaret's Portrait 'Like Tragic Queen'

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and the royal family toasted her 40th birthday with vintage champagne Friday while controversy flared over a new oil portrait of her.

* * *

Margaret was vacationing at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with husband Lord Snowdon, their two children and the rest of the British royal family. Rain pelted the castle ramparts but the champagne flowed.

The portrait by British artist Bryan Organ, 35, is the first major royal family portrait in abstract style. British newspapers and the public generally scorned it. Art students saw it as good riddance to the "starchy, still-life image of royals."

* * *

A close associate of Margaret's photographer husband said, "I understand she is delighted with the portrait." The princess herself tapped Organ for the job and gave him complete freedom of expression, the artist told newsmen.

"It appears the princess is

Greek Prosecutor Asks Indictment of Magnate

Niarchos

ATHENS (UPI) — The Piraeus public prosecutor Friday night asked for the indictment of shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos on a charge of causing "fatal injuries" to his wife.

Evgenia Niarchos, 44, died early on May 4, at Spetsopoula, the private island resort of her husband. A board of medical experts appointed to examine an autopsy report after her death agreed she died of barbiturate poisoning.

But Piraeus prosecutor Constantinos Fafoutis said Friday night, "I have asked the judiciary board to indict Stavros Niarchos for causing fatal injuries to his wife Evgenia, the night of third to the fourth of May.

"I do not know whether the usual on a Friday, but the railway stations were jammed with people headed for a weekend or summer vacation in the country.

The call for a boycott of stores and public transport and for a night blackout to mark Czechoslovakia's "day of shame" also appeared to have gone generally unheeded.

Heavy security precautions were in evidence throughout the city, with joint army and police patrols on hand to make certain there would be no repetition of last year's violent protest demonstrations which resulted in the death of at least five persons and the jailing of thousands.

The estimated 80,000 Soviet soldiers in the country stayed close to their barracks and heavily guarded garrisons. Small, officially organized groups brought together by the Czechoslovak-Soviet friendship society paid visits to some of the Soviet garrisons to hand them flowers and small presents.

But in the streets of Prague, particularly around the main squares and other central areas which formerly were the scenes of massive protest demonstrations, police and armed soldiers and plainclothesmen in abundance made spot checks among groups of long-haired youths, inspecting their identification papers and questioning them.

At the grave of Jan Palach, the 21-year-old student who burned himself to death in January, 1969, in protest against the Soviet occupation, detectives arrested several young people who had spelled out his name in funeral candles.

They also detained Associated Press correspondent Gene Kramer, held him for nearly two hours while they looked over his credentials and then released him with a warning not to return to the grave site.

A month ago, authorities removed the gravestone with its carving of a dead dove of peace and left the burial place unmarked. But scores of people, young and old, have continued to come daily to place fresh flowers and candles on the grave.

The official press so overplayed the line of friendship and gratitude to the Soviet Union that many Czechs suspect that the old national hero, "The Good Soldier Schweik," was still at work making the occupiers and their supporters in this country look ridiculous.

The official news agency Ceteka reported with a straight face that Soviet soldiers were lending brotherly help to the economy. In northern Moravia, the agency reported that 40 Soviet soldiers had helped farmers build a cow barn and in another community, 15 of them gave a fraternal hand in the construction of a chicken house.

The main party newspapers and the evening television newscast completely ignored the anniversary. But the newspaper Svoboda Slova commented fervently that the Soviet soldiers came two years ago "though they knew that they would not be understood by some."

"But they loved this country too well to permit its people to suffer — to permit the streets of beautiful, golden Prague to be full of dead bodies of Communists — even though they had to pay the price of temporary loss of prestige."

Despite the clear signal of official apprehension, Prague Radio reported that all was calm and normal throughout the country.

"And if things continue as they are now under the leadership of the Communist party," said the commentator, "we will not have to wait for Soviet tanks to come into the city again to restore order."

there was no indication a ground attack against the city was imminent. All the action took place across the river, patrolled by Cambodian and South Vietnamese gunboats.

Cambodian T-28 bombers pounded suspected North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions about four miles northeast of Phnom Penh and some distance from the river bank opposite the city.

Cambodian troops at Prek Krabao could not confirm Am Rong's claim that 500 Communist soldiers were killed in the fighting north of the village, but it appeared the number was large.

"We knew they were coming and we were ready for them," said one company commander.

Am Rong said government losses were at least 19 killed and 124 wounded.

being fired out of a cannon," the London Times said.

Dr. Roy Strong, director of the gallery, came to Organ's defence. "Portraits have been a dirty word for so long," he said.

* * *

"Everyone is tired of the word 'portrait' in its traditional sense," said Strong. "When Organ said 'This is a picture of a person,' he was describing what portrait painters today are trying to do."

judiciary board will accept my proposal, which was submitted this evening," he said.

The judiciary board, consisting of senior judges acting like a grand jury, indicts persons accused of criminal violations. The board, after considering the proposals of the public prosecutor and the evidence and conclusions of police investigation, can issue an indictment or drop any charges against persons suspected of committing a crime.

* * *

Niarchos could not be reached immediately for comment. He was reported by friends to be at Spetsopoula. His silver jet was parked at the Athens airport.

Friends of the family said Niarchos was not concerned by the prosecutor's request.

"The overwhelming evidence supports his innocence and the judiciary board is unlikely to accept the prosecutor's arguments," one friend said.

Shortly after the death of Evgenia Niarchos, a spokesman for her husband said she died of an overdose of sleeping pills. "It was suicide," he said.

The Niarchos spokesman said then that certain marks found on the body were caused when Mrs. Niarchos fell from her husband's arms when he was trying to revive her, having found her unconscious in their bedroom.

* * *

It was those marks and reports that the couple quarrelled before Mrs. Niarchos took sleeping pills which prompted the prosecutor to ask for an autopsy before burial.

Evgenia Niarchos was buried on Spetsopoula, outside the chapel of Saint Spyridon where the Niarchoses have a family grave.

Electric Blanket? No

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When our eldest son entered the service, the youngest, now five, "inherited" his room and electric blanket.

Since then neighbors have said an electric blanket is not advisable for a child that age, and that it will lower his resistance. At this point I don't know what to do next fall when the weather turns cold.—Mrs. J.J.H.

It's nice that the little fellow "inherited" a room of his own. And the electric blanket won't "lower his resistance."

All the same, but for other reasons, I'd quietly put the electric blanket away and not bring it out next fall.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A woman once told me she used a solution of boiled water, salt, and soda, with a small baby syringe, and swore it kept her sinus open. Would this be any help? — Mrs. E.M.C.

We have a number of sinuses, or cavities connected with the nasal passages. I would suspect that your friend didn't know this, and that furthermore her trouble, whatever it was, probably wasn't sinus disease. Indiscriminate use of salt water in that fashion can, indeed, even spread infection if any exists, and makes matters worse. I suggest that you NOT try it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you think of parents who spank and yell at their two-year-old son because he cries and has tantrums? He cries at meal time, at bed time, and at night. They were spanking when he was a year old. — W.E.S.

Spanking is not the way to control either crying or tantrums. Spanking, if occasionally useful, should be used very rarely with any child, and a child spanked at the age of a year doesn't understand why it is happening. All he knows is that he is being hurt. This child is irritated — probably by some attitude or conflict within the family.

These parents ought to get some information on bringing up children and review their own behavior as a family unit. They should have done so a couple of years ago.

Visit To Ocean Floor

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Trudeau returned to Ottawa Friday after a four-day visit to the U.S. Virgin Islands that included a dive to the bottom of the Caribbean sea to see the U.S. department of interior's Tektite underwater research project.

He met with his cabinet and was briefed on the postal situation.

On Thursday, he dived down to the aquanats' habitat 50 feet under the bay, where scientists involved in the project live during their studies. During one of his dives, Trudeau used a new closed cycle rebreather unit which permits divers to stay underwater about 10 times as long as conventional scuba gear.

The prime minister said he was impressed with the project, which is pioneering efforts to let man live and work in the ocean depths.

A Tektite project spokesman said Trudeau arrived Tuesday from the Bahamas. The prime minister had declined to say where in the Caribbean he planned to spend his vacation when he left Ottawa several days ago.

BANGKOK — It wasn't from Russia with love but was it from the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency? That was the question that had Bangkok's diplomatic community buzzing Friday after a prank that left Soviet embassy officials literally red-faced and assured that the second anniversary of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia reached the front page of most Bangkok newspapers.

Elaborately printed announcements were received by the capital's diplomatic community, foreign businessmen and the press in the mail Thursday morning inviting them to refreshments and a film showing that evening at the Soviet embassy.

The invitations read: "On the occasion of the second anniversary of the socialist people's victory over deviationism and counter revolution, the staff of the U.S.S.R. embassy requests the pleasure of your company for refreshments and a film show on Czechoslovakian vignettes and the Warsaw Pact military manoeuvers of August 1968, on Thursday, 20 August 1970, at 1900 p.m. at 108 Sathorn Nua Road."

The Soviet embassy first learned of the hoax when an official at the Austrian embassy telephoned to say he wouldn't be able to attend.

Victor Mizin, chief of protocol at the embassy, said the Soviet staff spent the entire afternoon telephoning other embassies to tell them no such invitations had been sent.

Nevertheless, two Russian embassy officials, including Mizin, spent 90 minutes in front of the embassy Thursday night turning away visitors who showed up for the party.

Sources later attributed the origin of the cards to a "very patriotic American" living in Bangkok who is in the direct-mail business. After all, who would believe there is a Czechoslovakian underground in Thailand?

Officer's Quick Move Prevented Catastrophe

TOULON, France (Reuters) — A French officer ran his damaged submarine on to rocks to save the lives of his oxygen-starved crew and prevent a major disaster, a survivor said Friday.

Sailors were collapsing around the officer — identified only as Lieut. Lauga — after his submarine, the 700-ton Galatee, collided with the South African submarine Maria van Riebeeck. The accident occurred Thursday night about one nautical mile from this French Mediterranean base.

Six French sailors died and four were injured in the collision between the French-built South African submarine returning from an exercise, and the Galatee, leaving harbor.

Water gushed into the Galatee through a 40-foot hole in its port side, a sailor told reporters. He said most of the crew collapsed because of lack of oxygen in the remaining air.

Lauga's quick decision to run the Galatee upon a rocky shelf running from the coast prevented a catastrophe, a navy spokesman said.

Court Ousts Bias Charge

WINNIPEG (CP) — A motion that would have barred J. W. Pickersgill from participating in railway passenger train hearings ordered by the Canadian transport Commission was denied Friday in Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench.

Pickersgill is president of the commission. Monday the Canadian Railway Labor Association said Pickersgill had shown bias in favor of the CPR in a speech he made in Montreal June 9.

In his judgment Mr. Justice J. E. Wilson said that in his review of Pickersgill's speech he had found nothing that could be interpreted by "reasonable people" as bias.

In Ottawa Friday the transport commission announced it will proceed as scheduled with public hearings next week in Calgary and Vancouver.

Destroyed by Water

New Discovery Cuts Herbicide Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of Texas researchers said Friday it has developed chemicals which could increase the effectiveness of herbicides while decreasing environmental pollution.

The chemicals, called "water-degradable polymers," also could be used as a pharmaceutical aid or in the packaging industry, the researchers said.

M. L. Beasley and R. L. Collins, both of Austin Science Associates Inc., told of the development in a report to the technical journal Science.

Polymers are compounds created by the union of two or more similar molecules. The new compound has the same elements as the original but possesses a higher molecular weight and has different physical properties.

The new polymers differ from those already discovered in that they break down in the presence of moisture.

The chemicals, when combined with conventional herbicides, produce a sticky resin which can be applied to plants.

The researchers said conventional weed and insect killers pollute water supplies because rain and irrigation water washes away much of the chemical.

Farmers thus must use 10 times as much pesticide as would be normally needed, they said.

Sellers Will Remarry

LONDON (Reuters) — Actor Peter Sellers announced Friday he plans to take a nobleman's stepdaughter as his third wife.

The bride will be 23-year-old Miranda Quarry, stepdaughter of the second Baron Mancroft. No date was given.

Hydro Protest Gains Weight

THE PROTEST of the North Quadra Land Protection Association against B.C. Hydro Authority's plan to construct an equipment yard and service station right in the middle of a prime residential zone is meeting with support from municipalities all over the province.

The North Quadra body is objecting on principle to the B.C. Hydro Act of 1966 which allows that authority to ignore any local building or zoning regulations and gives rights to acquire by expropriation or other means any land which the authority wishes to use.

Saanich council has earmarked the old Burdge farmland on Beckwith for farm or residential development, and only three years ago, after a public hearing, denied a proposal by B.C. Hydro to set up a similar type of facility on land adjacent to the farm.

Despite this B.C. Hydro went ahead with plans to acquire the 27 acres of the Beckwith Farm and, using its powers under the new act, is declining to recognize Saanich council's zoning category for the land in question.

Although its legal position does not appear too strong, Saanich council has called a public hearing into the matter for September 28 in the hope that it may lead to some new thoughts about B.C. Hydro's powers over local authorities.

The North Quadra Association has taken the opportunity of its particular plight by circulating every municipal or other local authority in the province seeking their support for the principle of keeping land usage within the jurisdiction of the properly elected local body.

The response, according to Gerald A. Reimer, chairman of the association, has been most encouraging. Over 30 councils have already responded, most of them agreeing strongly with the argument that zoning rights should not be abrogated to any crown corporation.

Some councils have expressed amazement that B.C. Hydro has indeed such powers under the 1966 act, and are horrified at the implications: others which have already suffered under the B.C. Hydro bulldozer say they are glad the whole matter is now going to be aired.

Most of the community leaders are in agreement that the matter should receive priority treatment at the forthcoming meeting of the UBCM in September. As Mayor Curtis of Saanich is also chairman of that group, there is little doubt that this request will be happily granted.

It is possibly desirable that where Hydro has no alternatives it may be forced into expropriation proceedings, and that is perhaps why the act was framed. On the other hand when Hydro makes a unilateral decision against the zoning wishes of the local authority, and the need is one of convenience rather than necessity, as is the case with the Beckwith property, then no homeowner in the province can feel his environment is safe.

B.C. Hydro should never have been permitted dictatorial powers.

High Hopes for Helsinki

BETWEEN THEM, THE UNITED STATES and the Soviet Union have stocks of nuclear weapons sufficient to annihilate the world. They have been engaged, at Helsinki and Vienna, in negotiations designed to "limit" what they have finally recognized is a senseless proliferation of arms. Their negotiators are in recess but expect to reconvene in Helsinki on November 2. At least that was the word from the closing session in Vienna, August 14.

What has been accomplished?

After four months the United States delegation reports "important progress." But, in fact, nothing tangible has emerged from the secret conversations. About the only advance, and it is trivial as a means of breaking the stalement, is what has been called a "positive response" by the Soviet Union to the United States proposal for a numerical limit on strategic delivery systems. When it is recalled that both sides have sufficient explosive power to obliterate each other several times over, such an accommodation is hardly significant.

The negotiators, so the Americans report, believe they have settled the business of anti-ballistic missile sites. At one time it appeared both nations were embarked on a program of ABM construction which would cost them billions without being able to guarantee effectiveness. It seemed that by mutual reaction the expansion of these systems would shortly be out of control. The cost was too immense even for contemplation.

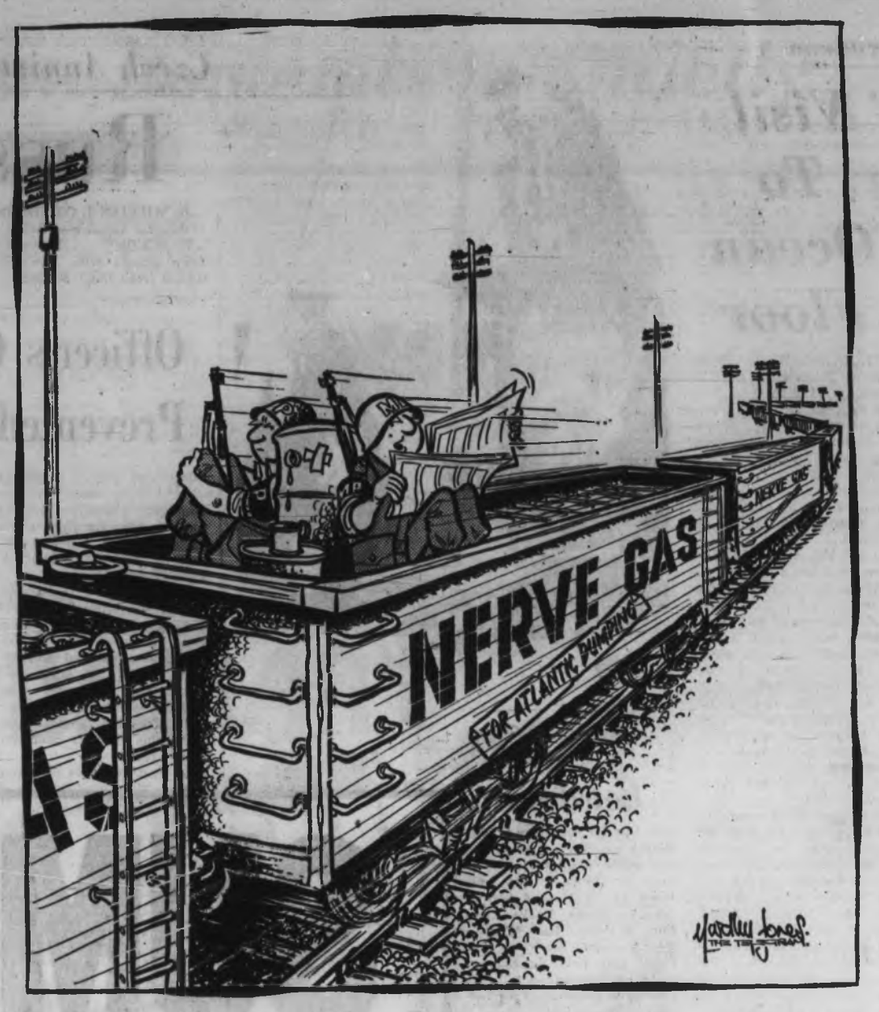

If expense is the reason for the reappraisal it is as good as any for the man-in-the-street, who not only would have had to pay the bill but live in increasing insecurity.

The ABM sites are to be confined to the Washington and Moscow areas, according to latest information—cold comfort for those who hope to survive elsewhere.

However, "there is reason to hope we can reach an agreement," according to Secretary of State William Rogers. He has gone so far as to hint that a draft treaty limiting both offensive and defensive weapons may be put before the Helsinki conference before Christmas. But other authorities warn that any treaty, if and when it gets the approval of the governments concerned, will be very limited rather than comprehensive.

For what it is worth, President Richard Nixon has contributed this: "There is no area in which we and the Soviet Union have a greater common interest than in reaching agreement in regard to arms control."

That interest, one dares say, is shared by the rest of the world, for without control the escalation of armament can have no other end than disaster.

"You wanna read the funnies or Nixon's pollution report . . . ?"

Canadians' Generosity to Youth Repaid By Sneak Thieves in Capital Hospitals

THE federal government said it couldn't afford to maintain the national defence establishment even at a thin manpower line of an already theoretical 95,000.

And so it is being cut back to 80,000 men with a shrinking commitment both abroad with NATO and here at home, requiring fewer ships, dockyards, bases, tanks, guns, airfield, planes — and here hangs today's tale, fewer armouries.

Among the honored units disbanded all across the land was the French-Canadian Regiment de Hull which carried the flag for Western Quebec.

The federal government couldn't disband the armouries — although, in many other centres, it has managed to either sell them on the real estate market, give them away to property-wise municipalities, or, as a last penny-pinching resort, demolish them — so the old home of the demobbed Regiment de Hull was rented to the bingo promoters, the rock groups, springtime oyster and beer parties, cocktail bashes and for a wide variety of other purposes.

But now, in mid-summer, the federal government has discovered a use of its own for the armouries, a handsome, high-ceilinged, huge, and even in this national capital steambath, cool structure.

Sleeping peacefully there, on a cot, staying for three days and three nights on what has to be called the "Modified American Plan" — bed, breakfast and dinner — as the arrangement is known in the world of resort travel, is a self-professed Quebec separatist.

There he was, a few nights ago when this particular head-count was made, alongside some 20 other young avowed Quebec separatists.

To report they were long-hairs — beards and what used to be called a "pageboy," down-to-the-shoulders hairstyle favored by glamor girls of a generation or so ago — is to recount they were no different from some 35 others who didn't happen to be separatists, perhaps because they weren't from Quebec.

No, indeed, a couple of them, young Americans, protested they weren't Quebec separatists, they were army deserters, "on the road and on pot."

Odd sight this, these shaggy young males, looking for all the world as if they had been poured out of the same mould — conformists to the hippie conviction that repulsiveness is beautiful — sleeping and eating in a federal military armoury adorned with peace and love symbols.

And 20 of them taking pride in boasting they were separatists, dedicated to the proposition that Quebec minus the rest of Canada will be a nationalist subtraction done as automatically as if on an electric calculator.

They are all grinningly aware that they are guests of the Canadian taxpayer at this particular link, just across the Ottawa River from Parliament Hill, in the federal government's new chain of youth hostels.

And a 20-year-old Montreal student, let's call him Henri Cleroux, who takes Quebec separation as an accepted fact of next-provincial-election-political-life graciously expressed a collective "merci" for the group to the Canadian taxpayer.

They give him, the working stiff who is paying the hotel bill for them, credit, as Henri Cleroux mockingly phrases it, for "imagination."

A clothesline of blankets across one end of the armouries' floor is the uncertain dividing line between the government's male guests and a handful of female camp followers.

There just could be a possible credit yet to come for the taxpayer out of all this. A small one.

The members of this footloose long-haired band are not touring the country preaching anarchy but mainly merely rubbernecking.

And it might be within the realm of possibility that the young separatists among them might like what they see and the people they meet, and decide it could be worth thinking about for Quebec to give Canada another chance.

That's a possible dividend that could accrue in the months and years to come.

Meanwhile, in the national capital, as in many other cities, there is an immediate here and now debit being charged to the taxpayers. And it's just not the cost of running this coast to coast chain of armouries hostels.

It's the far greater cost of providing hospital beds — here in the capital at last official count, 89 — for infectious hepatitis cases, largely contracted by itinerant hippies using dirty needles for their drug shots.

Plus another but lesser cost of special security guards posted at hospital doors and patrolling even the private wards, on the alert for hippies, who, on pretext of visiting patients, are nipping into rooms to lift purses and other valuables.

These unspeakable leeches have a preference for patients who are immobilized by post-operational tubes, those under sedation, or those asleep. They're easier to rob, being unable to protest or pursue.

Boards of Governors Blamed for Failure

MAY I be permitted to reply to Mr. Ireland, Chairman of the Board of Governors, Victoria University, on the question of the alienation of Canadian education, especially in B.C.

Mr. Ireland would have us believe that in a search for "the best" Victoria got 54 per cent of its staff non-Canadian. But his job, along with other Canadian educational bodies, is to be sure Canadians of excellence are available, and to be sure Canadians have opportunity in Canadian institutions. It is not enough to say that Victoria looks for Canadians, apart from the fact that such a statement reveals fundamental naivete about how new staff is sought and hired very often.

Every year Canadians become a smaller proportion of faculty in Canadian universities. Obviously Victoria is not finding Canadians. Its failure to do so is a declaration of the failure of boards of governors across Canada to fulfil their trust for the Canadian people.

If a presidential selection board at Victoria could only find an American for president, one must assume that the selection board was made up of a pack of cringing colonials or that the Canadian people are so inferior they can't produce enough excellence to operate their own community. But the president of Victoria University is just a symbol, alas, of the increasing and galloping U.S. takeover of Canadian education.

No other civilized country in the world has major universities with 54 per cent non-citizen faculty. In Canada, Victoria is but one of many. If it is "shrill" to point out the fact and the dreary incompetence and colonial-mindedness of those responsible, then I accept the adjective "shrill" without displeasure.

U.S.-Soviet Pact

I would like to bring the attention of your readers to the fact that the United States and the Soviet Union negotiated and signed an agreement in 1968 whereby the Soviet Union agreed that its bottom-dragging and mid-water trawlers would not operate in certain areas of the international waters of the North Pacific during the season of the year when the United States' halibut and king crab fishermen had their gear on the ocean floor in these areas.

The same agreement among a host of other things allowed the free flow of scientific information concerning the biological aspects of the fisheries off the coast of Alaska, Washington, Oregon and California.

The best our Canadian government can do is send out Canadian navy vessels to shadow one of these Soviet research vessels when it was operating off the Queen Charlotte Islands when it actually had two United States biologists on board as observers under the terms of the agreement.

Mistaken Policy

In your issue of Aug. 4 there appeared an item titled "Beacon Hill Beds Nearly Halved," meaning the flower beds.

The parks board will surely make a great mistake if it destroys half the flower beds in the park. Not only will this take away much of the pleasure that hundreds of us citizens enjoy in viewing the lovely flowers but also the pleasure of many tourists from many parts of the world who visit Beacon Hill park and are thrilled with its beauty. It will be a real pity if we allow this to happen for a saving of a mere $5,000, a sum when divided among a population of over 60,000 would result in a saving of less than 10 cents per capita.

And it could very probably mean loss of a like amount to our tourist industry which is a very considerable part of our economy. It could result in an increase in the unemployed.

Beacon Hill park is naturally very beautiful and that beauty is greatly enhanced by the lovely flowers. Please do not let us take away any of that beauty. Unless many others who love the park as it is make their feelings known I am very much afraid that it will happen.

Signal Fault

I notice that some of the newer automobiles have front turn-signals that are not visible at an angle of more than about 30 degrees from straight ahead as they are obscured by chrome flanges that run perpendicularly beside them. If the manufacturer does not call in these autos for alteration, then the law-enforcement agencies should compel the owners to have that fault corrected immediately.

Early Interests

I am concerned about the youngsters losing their enthusiasm for learning (the dropout, the seat warmer) in our public school system and I feel there is a great need for change at the primary level. We have all noticed and heard parents, grandparents and people who are interested or work with pre-schoolers say how bright they are — how independent and interested in learning even at two years old and I wish there would be a far greater interest shown in the six-year-old, a bigger concentration of teachers available at the primary level so that by the time a child is 14 or 15 he had already had approximately nine years of a subject he is vitally interested in and is by this time well versed in — be it mechanics, the arts, languages or cooking by having say a high school teacher bring in a gas engine to class.

There are going to be at least four of five boys in every class of say 30 children who show a decided interest in learning the names of parts and how an engine runs — and then maybe a teacher (high school level) who can see possibilities in some six-year-olds of artistic abilities or cooking or languages. All these primary age children should be able to take what we'll call special classes, extra time during the school day in classes that they already by this age show particular interest in or show an aptitude for so that by 15 years of age they each have special qualities instead of not knowing at 15 what they are good at and having lost all interest in school.

Facts and Fantasies — By LUBOR J. ZINK

South Africa a Stolid Whipping Boy But Accusations Lack Foundation

IT is fashionable to condemn the governments of South Africa and Rhodesia as the most oppressive, most abominable regimes on the international scene.

This is one of the prepackaged articles of faith of contemporary "liberalism."

I have heard otherwise rational people argue that even Nazilism wasn't quite as bad because its racial discrimination was directed against a minority, whereas the "dictatorships" in Pretoria and Salisbury smother the majority.

To insist on substantiation of such statements usually brings astonishment and disgust. How can anyone doubt it? Isn't it an obvious fact that the black majorities in the white-ruled countries of Africa have no chance to political self-expression and are treated worse than animals?

Two years ago I had an opportunity to tour South Africa and see for myself. What I found had little in common with the picture painted by our mass media and politicians.

It is true the government in Pretoria does not represent the majority of the 18 million people of the Republic of South Africa. But it is also true, as anyone who has seen the stage of development of the black (Bantu) society cannot fail to notice, that our concept of representative government is totally foreign and meaningless to the vast majority of the Bantu tribesmen.

They have, as do our Indians, their own culture, customs and forms of administration under tribal chiefs. And like our Indians, as the Trudeau government has discovered to its dismay, they do not share the white man's concepts of justice, equality and progress.

The analogy is imperfect only in the sense that, unlike the Indians of North America, many of the Bantu tribes in the rural parts of South Africa live in what can only be described as a Stone-Age social pattern.

Next to this primitiveness, which has to be seen to be believed, the white minority, which accounts for about 20 per cent of the population of the republic, has created a thriving computerized economy with urban centres equal to any of our cities.

With the exception of the pockets of urbanized Bantu who detest enforced segregation, the two societies are so far apart in their stages of development that their integration can only be visualized as a long evolutionary process. Considering the failure to integrate some 200,000 Indians into the mainstream of our society, Canadians should be able to understand the enormity of this aspect of South Africa's problems.

The government in Pretoria experiments with the system of "separate development" (apartheid) it inherited from the British colonial administration. It offers the Bantu tribes, which form several distinct national groups, self-government in what is envisaged as a federation of autonomous black states (Bantustans) within the framework of the republic.

One such Bantu state, called Transkei, is already functioning under its own elected all-black parliament and cabinet. Others (like the recently established Zululand) are emerging in response to Bantu demands for national self-rule.

It is therefore not true that the Bantus are deprived of political self-expression. They are, in fact, encouraged and assisted to form their own governments and to use them for collective cultural, political and economic development at a pace of their own choosing.

This is a far cry from the "dictatorship" we hear so much about from the "majority rule" champions. In essence it is what the black radicals in the U.S. demand for themselves and what our "Red Power" Indians seem to want: racial autonomy.

It would be easy for the government in Pretoria to create the same illusion of "majority rule" that the communist dictatorships produce by using universal franchise for endorsement of a carefully selected single list of candidates. It would be easy, but dishonest.

Instead of stooping to such a fraud, the government in Pretoria openly excludes Bantus from the self-rule of the white society in South Africa, but scrupulously observes the principles of open political contest within that framework.

Elections are contested by several parties and the white electorate has the same chance to displace the government that voters have in Canada. In the recent South African election the official opposition improved its standing in Parliament and the Progressive Party, which opposes apartheid, increased its popular vote.

Within the frankly stated limits, South Africa thus has a genuine democratic process. Few of the black-ruled countries of Africa, and none in the communist orbit, can make the same claim without lying. Yet South Africa is the universal whipping boy.

Andras in Sudbury

Officials View Devastation

SUNBURY (UPI) — Federal Minister without portfolio Robert Andras and a team of federal and provincial officials toured the storm-slashed Sudbury district Friday, viewing the damage done Thursday morning by a freak storm which police said killed four and injured more than 200.

"What is amazing is the low loss of life, considering the vast amount of damage that was done," said Andras, Ottawa's man responsible for housing, who said the federal government was "standing by" to give assistance wherever it was needed.

The official party viewed damage in Sudbury and hard-hit Lively, 10 miles away, by car and then helicoptered to the town of Field, 45 miles east of Sudbury.

The official group included Ontario Attorney-General Arthur Wishart, federal member of Parliament for the area Jim Jerome, and Jack Wallace, head of the national Emergency Measures Organization.

In Sudbury, they saw several streets of severely damaged residential homes. The nearby Kelly Lake industrial area was also on the tour, and there the party saw the devastation of three industrial plants, several overturned railway cars, and two massive oil tanks which were deeply dented by flying debris.

Men Won't Go Back After Dizzy Terror

SUDBURY (CP) — An official said Friday that six workers have quit their jobs rather than climb atop the International Nickel Co. of Canada's 1,250-foot-high smokestack from which they were almost blown off during Thursday's storm.

The official of Canada Kellog Co. Ltd., which employed the six, said they decided to resign rather than risk climbing the smokestack again.

Reds Hurled Back

Phnom Penh Saved

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian commanders Friday moved two battalions of fresh troops into defensive positions six miles from Phnom Penh and claimed victory over Communist forces in a 24-hour battle described as a major test of the capital's defences.

Two battalions of battle-hardened Cambodian soldiers were put ashore from landing craft at the village of Prek Krabau, on the east bank of the Mekong River north of the capital.

Government spokesmen said that Cambodian defenders around Prek Temeak, upstream from the capital, had been able to push back Communist forces attacking from that gateway town, killing 500 of them in a fierce battle. They said a Cambodian commander had ignored a wound to lead his troops to victory.

At the same time, however, the spokesman made no mention of whether the government force had actually recaptured Prek Temeak, which had been reported lost to the Communists on Thursday.

The Cambodian troop reinforcements rushed up the Mekong Friday were veterans of the fighting at the Kiri Rom plateau, southwest of Phnom Penh. They had been brought to the capital after the plateau was lost to the Communists July 27.

Cambodian officials said also that government troops had found the bodies of 700 Communist soldiers in mass graves in jungles near Skoun, 35 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. Skoun — the scene of a major battle from Aug. 1 through Aug. 8 — had been pounded by air strikes prior to its recapture by Cambodian government troops.

American B52 bombers hit for the third straight day at Communist targets five to six miles south of the DMZ.

Bail Cut For Pair In Bond Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bail was reduced Friday to $10,000 cash or $25,000 property each for two Utah ranchers charged with possession of stolen share certificates valued at $1.6 million.

Lawyer Marvin Storrow representing Brent Bauer, 50, and Paul Morrow, 52, of Salt Lake City, argued for the lower bail claiming his clients were unable to communicate with persons in the United States vital to the defence because they were forced to remain in custody.

Bail had earlier been set at $25,000 cash for each of the two men.

'Save-Your-Hair Day' Set for Mon. and Tues.

FOR BALDING HEADS LIKE THESE, a "SAVE-YOUR-HAIR DAY" has been announced. As long as you have some hair, you have an excellent chance to grow thicker hair by new methods of home treatment.

SCALP SPECIALIST HERE TO DEMONSTRATE NEW HOME TREATMENT

Now is the time to carry out that long delayed resolution to "do something about your hair."

For Monday and Tuesday, August 24 and 25 is "SAVE-YOUR-HAIR DAY" in Victoria. The event is sponsored by Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists. They have sent trichologist I. Edgar here to personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the Sussex Hotel.

WHAT CAUSES BALDNESS

Actually, the two most common causes of baldness are neglect and mistreatment of the hair. The most conspicuous thing about hair trouble is that it's progressive. Common disorders like dandruff or itchiness lead to hair loss. And once hair loss starts, it doesn't stop voluntarily. It has to be stopped.

EXPERT ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

As a feature of "Save-Your-Hair Day" Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists offer a consultation service.

All you have to do is take your questions in person to their suite in the Sussex Hotel and let the trichologist give your scalp a complete examination.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash your hair?
2. Which kind of shampoo is best for you?
3. Is brushing necessary?
4. What about dry or oily scalp?
5. Are "tonics" helpful?
6. When is dandruff dangerous to hair growth?
7. Can your hair be thickened?
8. What are home treatments like?

Take this list with you Monday or Tuesday to see Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

DON'T PUT IT OFF

Your hair is in better condition today than it will be next month or even next week. That's why we urge you to see the Harrison trichologist before more damage is done. Find out about our new home treatment methods for saving your hair.

Then you won't wake up a few years from now and find yourself bald — and painfully aware that you need not have been.

FREE SCALP EXAMINATION

See Mr. Edgar in person. Learn how the new Harrison method permits you to actually save and improve your hair in the privacy of your own home.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Hotel Sussex Monday or Tuesday between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. for Mr. Edgar's suite number. You don't need an appointment. Examinations are given in private.

GET THE FACTS

He will tell you what's wrong with your hair and scalp, what can and should be done about it, how little time and money will be required to put your scalp in condition to grow healthy hair again.

CHECK YOURSELF HERE AND NOW

Can't quite decide whether your hair needs expert attention? In general, it can be said that if you're concerned about your hair, you have good reason to be. But here's a check list of signs that point to a hairless future:

- ☐ Have noticeable dandruff?
- ☐ Scalp hard, tight?
- ☐ Scalp itchy or irritated?
- ☐ Hair dry and straw-like?
- ☐ Hair excessively greasy?
- ☐ Lose much hair in washing?
- ☐ Lose much hair in combing?
- ☐ Getting "highbrow?"
- ☐ Thin spot on crown?

If you've checked even one of these conditions, you should see Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists during "SAVE-YOUR-HAIR DAY".

Dorothy Smashes Caribbean

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Tropical storm Dorothy, showing signs of intensifying, moved across the open Caribbean Friday, leaving at least 25 dead and hundreds injured or homeless on the islands of Martinique and Dominica.

Officials at Pointe-A-Pitre, Guadeloupe said at least 24 persons had died on nearby Martinique, and another man lost his life in Dominica when rains washed out a bridge he was crossing. All overseas telephone circuites to Martinique were reported out of order but some telegraph circuits were functioning.

Roseau, a city of 35,000 and the capital of Dominica, had its water and power supply knocked out by the storm.

Pointe-A-Pitre officials said there were no deaths or injuries on Guadeloupe, but thousands of tons of bananas were destroyed.

Reports reached Paris from Fort de France, Martinique, saying the hardest hit area was the suburb of Riviere Laure where floodwaters and mud slides swept away dozens of houses.

Rescue From Darkness

Six months ago, Russell Strayer, 11, was considered totally blind. Thanks to special glasses developed by Dr. William Feinbloom, left, boy can see well enough to learn to read. Russell, of New York City, was born with about half of each eye missing, but special glasses with tiny telephoto lenses give him distance vision about 45 per cent of normal and reading vision 90 per cent of normal. —(AP)

Manson Seen at Tate Home By Prosecution Witnesses

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The prosecution has two witnesses who will testify at the Sharon Tate murder trial that Charles Manson was at the actress' estate shortly before the slayings, and at the same time she was there, it was disclosed Friday.

The defence line consistently has been that the 35-year-old cult leader was never at the home in the summer of 1969 and had no opportunity to meet the beautiful blonde, who was slain that August along with four others.

A court source confirmed that Rudy Altabelli, owner of the $225,000 estate leased by Miss Tate and her husband, Roman Polanski, and her personal photographer, S. Hatami, will testify they saw Manson in the home and on the grounds a few weeks before the killings.

There was some uncertainty over whether the two men will testify whether they actually saw Miss Tate and Manson together but the opportunity existed.

The disclosure of Manson's presence at the Tate estate was followed by testimony by Thomas Noguchi, the Los Angeles county coroner, that Miss Tate was hanged as well as stabbed.

He said there were rope burns on the pregnant actress' neck and left cheek, as well as the 16 stab wounds.

"It is quite consistent that the decedent was hanged," he said.

Police found a nylon rope around the neck of the blonde screen beauty, looped over a living room ceiling beam with the other end around the neck of victim Jay Sebring.

Dummy Finally Laughed

PHILADELPHIA — Herman, the reluctant mannequin, kept everybody going in circles at Gimbels department store here searching for a burglar, but finally gave himself away with a laugh.

The unidentified 14-year-old told Judge William McLaughlin he was shopping at Gimbels and fell asleep on a sofa, later finding himself alone and locked in. After he tripped a burglar alarm, police and man-hunting dogs cruised through the store.

Herman posed as a mannequin and never said a word until a woman security guard passed his perch and remarked: "My, what a pretty Negro mannequin."

Herman laughed and retorted: "Honey, you wouldn't kid me, would you."

MONTREAL — Alvin Karpis, one-time leader of the notorious Karpis-Ma Barker gang in the United States, says the kidnapping of a brewing firm executive which sent him to jail 37 years ago was "politically inspired."

☐

MARGATE, England — Robert Sullivan liked his beer and his job at a seaside bar was just too much of a temptation. In a year of secret drinking he got through 2,666 bottles of his firm's beer. Every time he drank a bottle, Sullivan carefully replaced the cap and put the empty back in stock. His illicit drinking spree was discovered when for the first time in five years he failed to report to work, and the hoard of empties was found.

Overheated Capsule Delays Space Frogs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency delayed the launch of two frogs from Wallops Island, Va., Friday for a least 10 days because temperatures were too high in the chamber designed to keep them alive in orbit.

The experiment is designed to learn more about the effects of weightlessness on the inner ear. The frogs were selected for the flight because their inner ear is similar to man's

Indian Band in Wilderness

Temptations Behind

NORDEGG, Alta. (CP) — A dogged little band of Indians who forsook the comforts of civilization to live like their forefathers are entering their third year in the Rocky Mountain wilderness.

It was in the summer of 1968 that Chief Robert Smallboy, now 74, led about 150 members of his Ermineskin band away from their reserve at Hobbema, 45 miles south of edmonton.

"We want to get our people away from the temptations of liquor and trouble," was the simple explanation given to a visiting reporter this week by Lazarus Roan, 66, the first lieutenant of Chief Smallboy.

Of the 140 persons still with Smallboy, about 100 are young people, 40 of them of school age. There are 20 men of working age and a dozen grandfathers and grandmothers. The band has 30 horses.

A sticky situation about schooling has been overcome. Two trailers in the camp are used for classrooms.

In another move toward independence, the group has set up its own store. This has avoided the former welfare payments and the Indian affairs department has assisted in the move.

Although their shifting from camp to camp within a recreation and wilderness area like the Kootenay Plains has been a contravention of park regulations, there has been no government pressure on the Indians.

Both federal and provincial authorities have been ignoring the situation, apart from receiving Smallboy's repeated requests for a new reserve for his people.

Roan said lumbering possibilities in the Muskiki Lake area, west along the Brazeau River, could provide an income for the band.

was calling on the negotiating committee to reconsider its stand and on the membership to vote acceptance.

Sources said the one known vote among a group of workers showed they rejected the proposals by a margin of more than 80 per cent.

Peterson's request came Friday in telegrams to Moore and John Billings, president of FIR. He said he was prepared to meet separately with the parties "if they so wish during the course of the next 10 days."

He added: "In the meantime, I would ask that a vote on the acceptance or rejection of the report by both union and management be suspended."

He said also he was alarmed by both the official and unofficial positions taken by the two sides.

★ ★ ★

In response to the invitation, the IWA's MacKenzie said: "We are prepared to do anything possible to settle the matters still in dispute so we welcome any assistance the minister can provide."

Billings said the industry is studying the report thoroughly as requested and has discovered so far that the total cost of implementing the package over the proposed two years would be $35 million.

MacKenzie found fault with the premier's stand.

"It is the feeling of our leadership that it was a wrong attitude for the premier to stand four-square on the side of the employers in view of the deep dissatisfaction over this report," he said.

The union's negotiators voted to recommend rejection of the report because they said it lacked a great many of the fringe benefits sought, particularly in the area of health and welfare.

Nemetz, appointed by the government to look into the dispute, recommended an increase of 60 cents an hour over two years on top of a base rate of $3.12. There would be an additional 30 cents for tradesmen.

The contract covering the 30,000 IWA members and 116 companies in the Coast Region expired June 15.

There had been a belief that the vitally important report of the B.C. Appeal Court judge would have an impact on other sectors of the province's industry, particularly in the pulp and paper field which has been experiencing more than enough trouble of its own.

But by Friday night Pat O'Neal, Vancouver-based international vice-president of the International Pulp-Sulphite Union, said there was now reason to believe his union and the pulp industry might achieve the settlement that would serve as an overall pattern.

He said government mediator Gus Leonidas had "reported out of our situation" and that the industry had agreed to meet Monday with the two unions concerned, Pulp-Sulphite and the United Papermakers.

The two unions had threatened to strike several mills by midnight Wednesday, but postponed such action on a request from the labor minister after the Nemetz report was released.

O'Neal said of Monday's meeting: "I am confident responsible attitudes will prevail."

Of the possibility of his union and the smaller United Papermakers setting the pace for what lies ahead in contracts, he said: "It would appear now that the last hope for settlement may lie with us."

The IWA has often said that unions in related industries end up with contracts similar to those hammered out by its bargainers.

Seven pulp and paper mills, approximately half of those in the province, have been shut down for 29 days through strike action of 4,200 members of the rival Pulp and Paper Workers of Canada.

Although there was no official announcement, it was reported that the striking union and industry had begun meeting with a government mediation officer in Vancouver. Sources said the union was calling its delegates from various locals to Vancouver for weekend meetings.

There was no indication Friday of what progress may have been made in talks aimed at ending B.C.'s other major labor dispute in the construction industry.

Bowlers Set For Nanaimo

In Yellowknife Today

Tour Near End For Micheners

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Governor-General and Mrs. Roland Michener arrive today in this capital city of the Northwest Territories to begin the final phase of their 10-day western Arctic tour.

The vice-regal couple had a day off Friday and made a private trip to Bathurst Inlet with Territorial Commissioner and Mrs. Stuart Hodgson.

A tiny, remote settlement on a large inlet of the Arctic Ocean, Bathurst Inlet has a population of only about 80 persons, most of them still living the nomadic Eskimo life and following the caribou herds of the area.

The vice-regal party transferred to a small charter float plane for the trip from Coppermine and will rejoin the main party, which came on to Yellowknife after a stop at Cambridge Bay.

It was expected that the Governor-General and at least part of the party would again try their hand at fishing.

Later today, the Governor-General's party will take a side trip from the capital to Hay River, N.W.T., about 110 miles southwest of Yellowknife on the opposite shore of Great Slave Lake.

Breathalyser Case Ousted

HUMBOLDT, Sask. (CP) — Evidence obtained from a Breathalyser test was inadmissible in a charge against a Regina man for impaired driving, Judge A. L. Boryski of Saskatoon said Thursday after dismissing the case against Norman Kozuska.

The judge said the RCMP officer giving the breath test must have grounds the suspect committed an offence within the past two hours, and in this case, the test was conducted before there was any proof Kozuska had been involved in an accident.

Business Topics

Oil Gums Computers

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The computers at all three leading Canadian stock exchanges went on the blink Friday. Stock prosperity and quicker action appeared to be too much for them to take in one quick bite.

At Toronto and Montreal the trouble was located and service restored in time to provide the day's trading totals, but in Vancouver the computer was still not functioning at the close, and no record of the closing prices and trading was available to the Canadian Press.

Western oils, following the lead of major oils in the U.S., shot sharply upwards, and the grains were the best for some months.

Elsewhere there were also indications of a return of investor confidence. The Toronto Stock Exchange volume was 2.1 million shares and the value of shares traded was $14.6 million — the best day of the summer for the brokers.

At New York, where the Dow Jones industrial indicator reached a new recovery high, economic news was favorable, and market experts were looking to the future with some hope that economic conditions were improving.

General Motors, generally regarded as the belwether stock of the New York big board, had a rise of 3⅞ to set the tone for the rest of the market.

LOSS ON INVESTMENTS

A drop of more than 50 per cent in operating profits and a loss of $1,469,000 on sale of investments were claimed responsible for a net loss by Home Oil Ltd. of Calgary in the first half.

The company's deficit for the six months to June 30 was $233,000 (three cents a share). In the first half of 1969 the company earned 38 cents a share.

NEW CUSTOMER SIGNED

Among the companies reporting better results for the second quarter than for the first is Versafood, and Allan Baker, president, predicts the improvement trend will continue throughout the year.

Although net profit for the six months was down to $229,450 from $560,000 a year earlier, total revenues rose to $33,131,000 from $29,000,000.

Among the company's new contracts is one with Quebec Hydro to house and feed several thousand workers at the Manicouagan River hydroelectric site.

DIVIDEND RAISED

The promised increase in the quarterly rate of its dividend was formally announced this week by Bethlehem Copper.

The new rate of 15 cents a share will be paid Sept. 22 to holders of record Sept. 1. The Highland Valley copper producer previously paid 12½ cents a quarter with occasional extras.

RIGHTS OFFERED

Shareholders of Donalda Mines are being given rights to buy extra shares at 20 cents a share. The rights, which expire Sept. 25, entitle shareholders to one new share for each three shares held. Donalda shares started trading ex-rights Aug. 19.

Bond Prices Push Ahead

TORONTO (CP) — Rumors dominated the Canadian bond market this week, pushing prices ahead at the close generally ⅛ to ¼ of a point.

The first rumor of the week — that Ontario Hydro was planning a new issue — hindered the market's hydro issues. Nothing firm developed.

The second rumor of a prime rate cut in the United States had a bullish effect on the market, bringing prices out of their early slump to gain ground in the last two sessions. One Toronto dealer reported that two American financial institutions had dropped their rate on short-term loans by ⅛ of a point.

Day-to-day money was available at 5½ per cent Friday.

New York Penetrates Important Level

Western Oils Lead Toronto Advance

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were sharply higher in active trading, with western oils posting their largest gain in almost a month.

It was the busiest session since July 29.

The market was prodded upward by Wall Street, where prices climbed after United States administration officials stated that the economy would turn upward during the second half of the year.

Oil stocks were strong during most of the week. Observers attribute the strength to speculation that the U.S. would require increasing quantities of Canadian fuel.

They said there has been heavy speculation in Canadian oil issues by U.S. investors.

The largest gainer among oil issue was Dome Pete, which climbed 5 to 59⅛. The company was given the go-ahead Friday by the National Energy Board to sell a total of 55.30 million barrels of Alberta-produced propane over the next 23 years. The propane will be sold in Eastern Canada and the United States beginning in January, 1971.

Other large climbers among oil issues included Canadian Tricentral, which was up $2.00 to $8.50, Canadian Superior Oil 1⅞ to 35⅞, Great Plains 1 to 26, United Canso 80 cents to $4.70 and Ranger ⅝ to 10⅝.

Industrials Gain

MONTREAL (CP) — Following investor confidence in New York, the market moved higher at the close of active trading.

Industrials led advances with a gain of more than two points. Investors and utilities were ahead more than a point and papers were up fractionally. Banks slipped slightly.

Analysts said the advance was spurred by a strong performance in New York. It was the fourth straight day of gains in Montreal.

Highlighting gains were Famous Players up 1⅛ to 10, Consolidated-Bathurst 1¼ to 11⅝, Moore Corp., 1 to 30 and Falconbridge Nickel 1 to 133.

Canadian International Power was ahead ⅞ to 26⅝, Husky Oil ⅞ to 11, Imperial Oil ⅝ to 17⅝ and Toronto-Dominion ⅝ to 18⅞.

Up ⅛ were Domtar at 13⅛, Gulf Oil at 15⅝, Texaco Canada at 24,½ Alcan Aluminum at 20⅞, CPR at 56¼, Bell Canada at 42 and Northern and Central Gas at 12⅝.

Inco advanced ¼ to 40¼ as did Price Co. to 8 and Noranda to 27¼.

Among declines were MacMillan-Bloedel off ⅞ to 25⅛, Velcro Industries ½ to 20, Canron ⅝ to 11¾, Melchers ⅛ to 12¼, Microsystems ¼ to 5⅝, Royal Bank ⅛ to 21⅝, Bank of Commerce ⅛ to 19⅛ and Rapid Data 20 cents to 2.55.

Communications Interrupted

Because of trouble with its computer, the Vancouver Stock Exchange was unable to compile a full range of Friday's trading on the exchange for the Canadian Press.

We regret that owing to these circumstances the Vancouver stocks tables are not available for today's issue, and also that the week's range of trading, usually supplied by the Vancouver Stock Exchange will not appear in Sunday's issue.

New York Sees Upturn

NEW YORK (AP) — The market climbed for the fourth consecutive session, propelling the Dow Jones industrial average ahead 15.81 points to 745.41.

The 2.16 per cent gain in the average of 30 industrial stocks, enabled it to penetrate the psychologically important 740 level.

The advance brought the total gain in the blue-chip indicator for the last four sessions to more than 35 points.

The gain for the week, narrowed by the small decline Monday, was 34.57 points, the largest weekly increase since the week ending July 17, when the Dow rose 34.95 points.

Analysts attributed the hefty gains to positive news on the economic front. They said this included United States government reassurances that an economic upturn had occurred, signs that the Federal Reserve Board was easing credit and a U.S. labor department report that the cost of living increase last month did not exceed the rise in the two previous months.

Wall Street long has felt that if the industrial average could remain above the 740 level for a sustained period, the market would enter a long growth phase.

Prices included Xerox up 2⅝ at 72⅞, General Motors up 3⅛ at 71⅞ and Eastern Air Lines, up 1 at 16⅛.

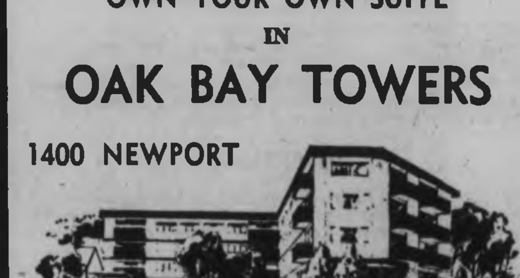

Among Canadian issues Alcan was up ⅝ and Distillers Seagrams rose ⅝. Losers included McIntyre Porcupine off 1, Inco down ⅛, Dome Mines down ⅛ and Hudson Bay Mining off ¼.

Canada Uses U.S. Legislation as Model

Car Safety Rules Tougher

OTTAWA (UPI) — Using existing U.S. legislation as a model, the Canadian government published today a new set of minimum safety regulations for new automobiles and other motor vehicles.

The proposed regulations, expected to be put into force by Dec. 1, apply to all new cars, trucks and other powered road vehicles that are manufactured in or imported into Canada, and their component parts.

Manufacturing and distributing companies have 30 days from now to propose changes or additions to the new safety requirements.

After that time a second and final version will be enacted under the motor vehicle safety act passed by Parliament this spring.

A transport department spokesman noted the regulations closely parallel American vehicle safety standards, to which Canadian manufacturers have been voluntarily adhering for a year or more.

Most of the impact of the new regulations will fall on foreign manufacturers who have been importing certain car models that do not meet U.S. standards.

Cars in this category make up a "relatively small" proportion of all automobiles sold in Canada, the spokesman said.

Although he said he could not specify which foreign makes might be affected, the spokesman said it was expected that several would either have to be modified or removed altogether from the Canadian market.

The regulations set minimum standards for braking devices, lighting systems, tires, mirrors, latch systems, safety belts, windshield mounts and a number of other components.

Mandatory standards intended to protect persons against impairment of health by exhaust emission and noise will also follow current U.S. regulations.

Specific deviations from American standards occur in at least two places. The transport spokesman said the government "saw no reason" to prohibit the use of bulb and reflector type headlights, which are banned in the United States in favor of "sealed beam" lights.

Also, convex outside mirrors outlawed in the States will be permitted "under certain circumstances" in Canada, the spokesman said.

Over and Out

Boaters get in close to watch as steelworkers topple one of three sections of C & O bridge into Ohio River between Cincinnati and Covington, Ky. Bridge was ordered replaced because of deteriorating steel. Tipping section is 500 feet long and weighs 1,400 tons. New bridge will be built in 1972. — (AP)

Drug Users Too Dangerous For Life Insurance Company

TORONTO (CP) — Occidental Life Insurance Co. of California is destroying 150,000 insurance applications and will replace them with new ones in an attempt to weed out life insurance applicants who use drugs, a company spokesman said Friday.

The company is adding questions on drug use to its life insurance application form, one of which asks whether applicants have ever used marijuana.

The spokesman said his company is satisfied marijuana usage can constitute a hazard to life.

"One effect of using marijuana is that space is broadened and near objects seem distant. If a person drives an automobile while experiencing this, the chances of accidental death are greatly increased.

"Also, we are informed that narcotics officers have observed definite physical and mental deterioration of individuals who have used marijuana over protracted periods of time. For obvious reasons, such persons would not be good risks for life insurance."

50 Times More Life Claimed

Datsun Signs Pact On New Car Engine

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Inventor Wallace Minto said Friday his Freon-powered, pollution-fighting car engine will run 100,000 hours, more than 50 times the life of the conventional internal combustion engine.

Minto, president of Kinetics Corp., announced earlier this week the signing of a contract with Nissan Motor Co., Ltd., of Japan, manufacturer of the Datsun automobile.

He said in an interview that about 100 of the engines will be placed in Datsun automobiles in 1972 for a year of highway testing.

The engine is much the same as the steam engines which powered such famous cars as the Stanley Steamer early in the century.

But it uses Freon instead of water to provide steam and Minto said he can get about three times as much horsepower from his engine as from an equivalent water steam engine.

"Our engine has only two moving parts, helical gears that turn when high pressure Freon is squirted against them," Minto said. "There's no transmission or drive shaft, so we save a great deal of weight there."

Freon is a liquid chemical manufactured by DuPont Co. It flows into the boiler controlled by a solid state computer the size of a pack of cigarettes. Here it is converted to gas to be driven against the helical gears.

Minto said the first production models probably will cost a good bit more than present Datsuns, but he added: "When we start mass producing these engines at a million a year or so, they should cost 10 to 20 per cent less than present cars. They're easier to make."

McNally Gets Shutout And Reaches 19 First

Dave McNally has become everything expected of him when Baltimore Orioles reportedly gave him an $80,000 bonus in 1960.

It took a little time, however. The hard-throwing lefthander had only 48 major league victories after the 1967. But he won 22 games in 1968 and 20 last season.

Friday he became the first pitcher to win 19 games this season, making a third successive 20-win season for granted by pitching a six-hit, 5-0 win over California Angels.

It was the seventh successive win for McNally, who now boasts a 109-62 major league record.

Brooks Robinson, who hit into a bases-loaded double play in the one-run first inning, gave McNally breathing room by hitting a three-run homer in the third inning.

Victory kept the Orioles, heading for their second successive American League playoff, 10½ games in front in the Eastern Division.

New York's stubborn Yankees stayed firmly in second place by taking Chicago White Sox, 4-2, on the strength of an exceptional inning of relief pitching by Ron Klimkowski.

Klimkowski was sent into action in the sixth inning with runners on second and first bases and no one out and retired the side on three pitches. Edd Herrmann was picked off second base after Klimkowski's first pitch, then Ken Berry hit the second for an inning-ending double play.

Minnesota Twins moved in on a second straight playoff clash with the Orioles, moving six games ahead of the Angels by edging Washington Senators. To make it even better, the third-place Oakland Athletics took a 6-3 beating from Cleveland Indians.

Reserve catcher Tom Tischinski hit his first home run in two major league seasons to give the Twins their victory. San McDowell got credit for his 16th win of the season although he and two successors gave up 12 hits to the Oaklanders.

The Eastern Division leaders were edged out by Los Angeles Dodgers, 2-1, while the Mets sped by Cincinnati Reds, 4-1.

Bill Sudakis drove in the Los Angeles runs with a homer and single, giving Claude Osteen his fourth straight win over the Pirates.

Dave Marshall keyed New York rallies with a double and single and Jerry Koosman judiciously spaced out seven hits. Only bad happening for the Mets was a first-pitch error by shortstop Bud Harrelson, who had tied a major league record in his previous game by playing a 54th consecutive game without an error.

He booted a bouncer by Pete Rose to end a streak which began on June 24.

Milwaukee Waits For Stadium Rent

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers have failed to pay rent the baseball club owes for use of Milwaukee county stadium, a budget hearing was told Friday. The rent due is $1.

Under the contract, the stadium is leased to the Brewers for $1 if less than one million people a season attend American League games at the park.

If attendance exceeds one million, the team pays the county a percentage of ticket and merchandise sales.

Wait-for-the-Photo Meet Starts Today at Sandown

There'll be something new for Vancouver Island horse racing fans today at Sandown Park, where there will be pari-mutuel betting on an eight-race quarter-horse card.

The experimental meeting, which the Vancouver Island Quarter Horse Racing Association hopes will lead to a regular and longer program, is the first sanctioned quarter-horse meeting in B.C. with pari-mutuel wagering.

There has been pari-mutuel betting at meetings at Princeton, Vernon, Prince George and Williams Lake but none have had the approval of the American Quarter Horse Association.

Danny Hajnal, vice-president of the VIQHRA, said Friday that 59 horses are on the grounds now and that another 40 will be here early next week to be ready for the final two days, Friday and Saturday.

Any reasonable interest at the wickets is sure to keep in motion plans for a 1971 summer meeting with 14 to 21 days of racing with, hopefully, thoroughbreds and quarter horses sharing the same cards.

Hajnal is pleased with the calibre of stock the first Sandown meeting has drawn, and also with the calibre of jockeys. Among the riders is Jack Palmer, third-ranked in quarter-horse racing, and there are two distaff riders on hand in Miss Bo Cuppage and Mrs. Evelyn Jones.

STARTS AT 1:15

Today's program, which is due to start with the first post parade at 1:15, is featured by two Futurity trials, a Derby Trial and the Sidney Stakes.

On Friday the featured races will be the British Columbia and Queen City Stakes and get-away day will have the Futurity, the Derby and the Vancouver Island Stakes.

Seven of today's races are over a furlong and a half, beginning in the six-and-a-half furlong chute and ending in front of the stands. The other run is over three furlongs.

IT'S BANG-BANG

Fans who didn't take to the three-and-a-half furlong races which doomed spring thoroughbred meetings here, just might take to the bang-bang action of the quarter-horses.

The 330-yarders take about 18 to 19 seconds to complete, and more often as not it takes a camera to decide the placings. The 660-yard "marathon" should require about 35-38 seconds, and again the advice is to not tear up your mutuel tickets until the "official" is on the board.

Gretel Bests French Boat Valiant Takes First Loss

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Intrepid pulled ahead less than a half-mile from the final mark and handed Valiant her first defeat in a shortened race as the America's Cup defence candidate trials resumed Friday on Rhode Island Sound.

At the same time, the Australian yacht Gretel II and the French yacht France opened their best-of-seven series for the right to challenge the United States defender, and Gretel won by 6 minutes 30 seconds.

Intrepid, raising her record to 3-1, and dropping Valiant to the same mark in these trials, took advantage of a shifting breeze on the first leg and gained a lead of 1:08 at the first mark. She increased it to 1:43 on the next leg.

Valiant came back on the third leg and gained a brief lead, but Intrepid took it back less than a half-mile from the mark, and crossed with her narrow margin.

The boats took more than four hours to sail the 16.8 miles of the three legs in light and fluky winds, leaving them less than two hours before the time limit expired. Rather than have that happen, the race committee decided to stop the race at that point.

The French yacht, handled by 68-year-old Louis Noverraz, led Gretel at all the turning marks on the 24.3-mile course, but fell back on the 4.5-mile final leg.

Their second race will be held Monday.

Exhibition Park Feature Breeze for Alder Glory

VANCOUVER — Alder Glory, bred and owned by R. W. Hall, grabbed the lead early and raced to a six-length victory in Friday's third running of the Debutante Stakes at Exhibition Park.

Hall took home the winners' share of $7,497 plus the $700 breeder's prize when Jim Broomfield and the filly crossed the finish line well in front.

Alder Glory paid $11.20 to win. Union Valley and Petite Mungo were next in that order.

Biggest price was the first race quinella which paid $109 when Cheri Mine and Warriors Grandson were the first two across the finish line.

Oh George and Horrify combined for a fourth-race Exacto worth $78.70 and Sikanni Chief and Ardent Morn were a $37.40 coupling in the sixth.

Harris Star As Labatts Even Series

A last-inning single was the only hit Bob Harris allowed Friday night as he led Labatts to a 4-1 win over Colwood Inn at Heywood Avenue to force a final game in their Stuffy McGinnis Softball League semi-final.

Fifth game of the best-of-five series will be played Sunday starting at 2 p.m. at Heywood Avenue Park.

Harris, who struck out six batters, fell behind in the first inning when Ron Griffis, who got on base through an infield error with two out scored on a three-base error.

Labatts got the tying run and what was to be the winning run in their first turn at bat, making use of an error, a passed ball, a fielder's choice and singles by Ron MacDonald and Harris.

Speedway Action Tonight For Late-Model Stockers

Late model stock cars will be in competition at Western Speedway Saturday night, as second place Larry Walker attempts to narrow the commanding points lead held by Ross Surgenor. Rick O'Dell will also be on hand to challenge, along with Bill Price.

During their last meet, Surgenor and Price fought for the track record, as each of them alternately brought it down, until Surgenor stopped the clocks with a record time for the 4-10 of a mile oval, of the 17.78 seconds.

In the stock car (jalopy) division, 18-year-old Larry Pollard is expected to head up the competition against points-leader (and his father) Earl Pollard. The young Pollard is currently sharing second spot with Ted Mortel and Gary Madden.

Casper Leader At 135

SUTTON, Mass. (AP)— Billy Casper, who missed the cut in this tournament a year ago, fashioned a five-under-par 67 Friday for a three-stroke lead in the second round of the $160,000 Avco Golf Classic.

"Well, at least I think I made the cut," the placid Casper observed after posting a 36-hole 135, nine under par on the hilly, 7,212-yard Pleasant Valley Country Club course. "That's some sign of improvement."

FIVE IN A ROW

Casper, the only three-time winner on the pro tour this year with earnings of $107,000, was caught in a downpour on the first tee, but shook it off and recorded five-consecutive birdies.

He missed only two greens and easily saved a par on both, chipping to within less than two feet.

CHI-CHI GAINS

A group at 139 included Chi Chi Rodriguez, Tom Weiskopf, Lou Graham and Jim Colbert. Rodriguez had a solid 67, Weiskopf and Graham posted 69s and Colbert had 70.

Tony Jacklin, the Briton who has failed to survive the cut in every tournament since he won the United States Open, missed it again with a 73 for a 148 total.

CANADIANS OUT

The two Canadians in the field were also eliminated. George Knudson of Toronto went out with 79-70—149 and Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver with 77-74—151.

Hockey Canada Heads List With Grant of $273,227

OTTAWA (CP) — Grants of more than $1,000,000 to 50 sports governing bodies and sports programs were announced Friday by Health Minister John Munro.

The minister also announced that Hockey Canada is to get $273,227 to promote amateur hockey, especially in smaller towns and communities.

Mr. Munro said in an interview it is highly unlikely that Canada would have a team in international competition this year "but I am always hopeful."

Hockey Canada has been entrusted the job of getting Canada's national team back on the ice but only on the condition that it is allowed to dress the best players available.

In Hockey Canada's view, and that of the government, this means being allowed to use professional players, an idea that is not accepted by the International Ice Hockey Federation.

With Canada out of international play, at least for the time, Mr. Munro said the grant to Hockey Canada would allow that organization to fulfill its other role of getting more young Canadians onto hockey rinks.

"In this way, we'll be in a better position to compete when we return to international play."

The grants run from a high of $121,265 to the Canadian Track and Field Association to a low of $971 to the Canadian Amateur Speedskating Association.

Sport Centre To Provide Extra Boosts

OTTAWA (CP) — Nine sport governing bodies will move into a temporary sports administration centre here Sept. 1, Health Minister John Munro told a news conference Friday.

Another 18 are expected to move in by the end of the year.

The temporary space on Coventry Road in east-end Ottawa will be used until Jan. 1 when Mr. Munro expects a new building will house selected sport governing bodies.

Those moving into the government space will receive free office space, secretarial help, office supplies and furnishings and up to $12,000 annually to employ an executive director.

THEY'RE FIRST

Moving into the temporary space Sept. 1 will be the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, the Canadian Figure Skating Association, the Shooting Federation of Canada, the Canadian Yachting Association, the Canadian Badminton Association, the Canadian Water Ski Association, the Canadian Soccer Football Association and the Canadian Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Tax Concession Promised Expos

OTTAWA (CP) — A revenue department source Friday said Montreal Expos of baseball's National League will be permitted to write off part of their investment in player contracts as a business expense for tax purposes.

While a spokesman for the department said he could not disclose the business affairs of any individual taxpayer, he indicated that normal business accounting practice will be applied so far as possible to the Expos.

"We haven't had too much experience with professional athletic clubs, and there is no mention in the Income Tax Act of the cost of acquiring athletes," he said.

For taxation purposes, the revenue department will regard the price paid for acquiring ballplayers as an initial capital investment by the club.

"The contracts with the players are an asset," an official said.

Then, each year, the tax department will allow the club to charge part of the capital cost of the players as an expense of doing business for that year before levying income taxes on the club's net income.

One official said the department doesn't know what rate of depreciation to apply to the ballplayers' contracts. That apparently is still to be worked out.

Announcement Stirs Storm

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor William Dennison strongly attacked the federal government Friday after he learned that owners of the Montreal Expos are to receive tax concessions from the national revenue department.

"That's the last straw," Mr. Dennison said. "I can't comment calmly. This is so upsetting.

The federal government has gone much too far.

Lew Hayman, president of Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, said he knows of no such tax concessions available to CFL teams nor of any efforts by football teams to gain such concessions.

A spokesman for Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League said professional hockey teams in Canada do not receive any such concessions but would definitely press for something similar if the Expos gain such a financial break.

"I would think that the hockey teams in Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver would try to get this as well. If one sports organization in Canada can get a tax concession, it should be available to the others," the spokesman said.

Balding in Front with 137 Wakeham Five Shots Away

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — Toronto's Al Balding, playing out of the Chippewa Golf Club in Southampton, Ont., surged to the front of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association tournament Friday with a four-under par 68.

Balding's 36-hole 137 was seven under par. The 72-hole tournament, worth $25,000, ends Sunday.

Balding has a three-stroke lead over Gary Bowerman of Toronto heading into today's 18 holes. The top 100 and ties who survived the 36-hole qualifying rounds had scores of 161 or better.

In third place, at two-under 142, were Bill Thompson of Copetown, Ont., who shared the first-round lead with Bob Rose; Bob Panasiuk of Windsor, Ont., who set the competitive course record of 64 Wednesday in the pro-am, and Bill Wakeham of Victoria.

BIG SWITCH

Rose, also of Copetown, fired a 79 on the Brantford Golf and Country Club's 6,586-yard layout Friday and his score soared to a 147, leaivng him 10 off the pace.

Balding's 137 also gave him the lead in the Alcan Golfer of the Year award. His 68 Friday gave him a low-gross score of 559, four fewer than Bill Wright Jr. of Edmonton and Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont.

The Canadian Alcan award goes to the Canadian pro golfer who scores the lowest number of strokes in two tournaments during the year, comprised of Ontario, Quebec or British Columbia opens plus his score at the CPGA.

IT DISAPPEARED

Wright led Balding by five strokes going into Friday's round, Bowerman, who stroked his second-straight round of 70, has a 565 total in the Alcan race.

Grouped at 144 were Wilf Homenuik of Winnipeg and Dick Munn of Vancouver. In at 145 were Leon DeCaire of Buttonville, Ont., Adrien Bigras of Rosemere, Que., Phil Giroux of Montreal and Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont.

Balding, with only one over-par hole in the 36 he has played, birdied five Friday to give him eight for the tournament.

Despite his four-under score, Balding said he had to work harder Friday because of bad tee shots.

He said that winds which swept the course Thursday afternoon and again Friday morning at velocities ranging from 10 to 17 miles an hour, moved to the north and did not affect play to any degree for the late starters.

"Conditions were different altogether from Thursday," said Balding, explaining that the westerly winds aided tee shots on four of the five par-five holes Thursday.

Vaughan Trapp of Victoria slipped to a 77 for 150 but was still two strokes ahead of defending-champion Bob Cox of Richmond, who also had a second-round 77 to shoot himself out of contention.

Ron Willey of Vancouver had an 81 for 156 and Dick Silverberg of Sidney, B.C., pro at the Glen Meadows Club, had an 81 for 161.

Choral Merger Pays Off

They're Making Sweet Music

By BILL THOMAS

Strong and sincere efforts are being made to preserve the Victoria Choral Society in its amalgamation with the University of Victoria Chorus, representatives of both groups said Friday.

Rumors have been circulating among the musical community that a breakup of the 220-member group was imminent, which could present a grave problem to the Victoria Symphony Society because the large choir was scheduled to perform Jan. 17 and 18 in Beethoven's Choral Symphony with a star cast of soloists.

Victoria Choral Society president Peter Orme explained, "We entertained the amalgamation on a six-month trial basis and retained Dr. George Corwin of the university as our musical director. There is no doubt in my mind that every effort should be made to continue this amalgamation because there is no doubt that this is the best thing for the community from a musical standpoint."

* * *

Orme touched on one of the critical points in question. "We're deeply concerned about our identity as a group. We are not sure just where the university is going, and I feel we should hold further meetings with Dean Peter Garvie and Professor Philip Young, chairman of the music department. One way or another, there will continue to be a choral society, but as I said before, the amalgamation has shown what we can achieve together and I would like to see it continue. It's just time we all sat down again and decided where we were going."

Said Young: "This group is capable of producing beautiful music as was shown in the performance of the Brahms' Requiem. The maturity and experience the choral society brings to us is invaluable. We want the choir to succeed."

* * *

Young was most emphatic on the point of the 108-member choral society retaining its identity. "This choir has long-standing and great respect in the community. My view is that we should contribute to this from the university and that the amalgamated choir should retain a total community identity.

"Honestly, I don't give a damn what name or label they put on it. The fact is, the amalgamated choir is producing fine music, and I want to see it go on."

Corwin took over the choir last season when pressure of work forced musical director Rodney Webster into temporary retirement as a conductor.

"I'm not exaggerating," said Young, "but by chance, we have in Corwin one of the major choral conductors in North America. He's recognized as such and the fact that he's prepared to take on these extra duties within the community is to his credit. There has been some question, I understand, about what fee he should get for this extra work, but I feel that is a personal matter for Dr. Corwin and the chorus executive."

When he joined the music department in September last year, Corwin said in an interview, "I want our music to go out into the community."

TV Make-Believe

Tiny Buffy's Unreal —But Anissa Sure Is

'Buffy'

By BARBARA HAETUNG

HOLLYWOOD (CNS) — Buffy, the tiny girl of CBS television's Family Affair, may seem real to television viewers. But to Anissa Jones, the tiny girl who creates Buffy on the show, there's no reality to Buffy.

Quite to the contrary, the 12-year-old Anissa who portrays the pigtailed girl three or four years her junior, turns Buffy on or off. Is there any time when you find you get mad at Buffy or feel sad for her? Anissa was asked.

"No, how could you? She's not real," she answered, sipping chicken and rice soup just before going on the stage to model a fall wardrobe she will wear on the show.

"I'm not like Buffy because she's too polite. She usually doesn't do anything wrong," remarked the little actress who is seen by more than 34 million people each week on television — as many as are said to have viewed Shirley Temple in her entire career a generation ago.

When Anissa successfully landed the role of Buffy five years ago she was 43 inches tall. Today she's 51½ inches tall, still small for her age. But just how long can Anissa, who is just going into junior high school, continue to portray tiny little Buffy?

"I don't know," she answered wrinkling her little nose, sprinkled sparsely with freckles.

"That's a question everyone asks. And it's the same question everyone asked about Chip on My Three Sons. He was 8 when he joined the show and now he's 18," commented Les Kaufman, a television spokesman.

Buffy may grow up on the program — in other words. And so may Jody, Buffy's twin brother on the program, portrayed by Johnnie Whitaker, who will be 11 in December.

"The kids may jump to 11 or 12 years old next year. We don't know. We're half through filming for this fall," he added. But if the series continues to be successful through the years, it's not inconceivable that Buffy might continue to grow up. "We don't know but Buffy might even get married in the show. You can't tell," Kaufman said.

But the future isn't of much concern to Buffy's creator, Anissa. Today is important and that's because it's summer vacation, Anissa's favorite time of year.

"I swim a lot at the beach," she remarked of her favorite pastime which she shares with her younger brother, Paul, a year younger but a head taller. And the beach is only a stone's throw from their Playa del Rey, Calif., home.

"Just playing and going to the beach." That's Anissa's idea of what she'd like to do if she didn't have to go to school and work on her television role.

But nine months out of the year she's behind a desk like all her friends — although it's frequently an unorthodox type of school. At one corner of the huge CBS sound stage is a tiny schoolroom for Anissa and Johnnie where Mrs. Catherine Deeney presides over the lessons to give them three hours of schooling each public school day (a state requirement).

"I don't like school," Anissa commented.

"No, she's not particularly fond of studying," said Mrs. Deeney, a studio tutor for some 30 years. "But then she's at an age when she would not admit it even if she did like it." Mrs. Deeney smiled. Anissa prefers going to her own public school (which she does when filming is completed for the season) because "then I can be with my old friends."

Studio school is unorthodox not only in its location but also in the duration of lessons. Study is sandwiched in between shooting for the show. So Anissa may be portraying Buffy for an hour, then studying mathematics for half an hour in her schoolroom and then returning to the set for more filming. "It takes a pretty precocious child to develop this ability," Kaufman commented.

But then Anissa Jones is a pretty precocious youngster — one moment an actress and the other moment herself, an impetuous, blonde preteen.

Stag Party Girls Danced Topless

Two women have been sentenced, one man has been charged and two more men will be summonsed after Victoria police raided stag parties at a downtown club on two consecutive nights.

Kathryn Marlene Barnes, 20, of 712 Yates, and Sandra Carol Evans, 20, of 645 Dunedin, were fined $50 each Friday in Victoria Provincial Court after they pleaded guilty to separate charges of being an inmate in a common bawdy house Thursday in Victoria.

Also separately, William Daniel Marvin Walker, 2512 Cedar Hill, was charged with being a keeper of a common bawdy house and was remanded to next Friday for plea. The charge also was dated Thursday.

After this action was taken, Walker was charged with publishing obscene moving pictures Wednesday in Victoria and received the same remand. Bail for Walker was set at $400 to cover both charges.

During Walker's appearance, prosecutor John Macintyre said two other men would be summonsed in connection with the Wednesday charge. All charges mentioned the same address, 1206 Wharf.

Victoria police had disclosed Thursday that four color films were seized in a raid on the Dowunder club at 1206 Wharf at 10:50 p.m. Wednesday, when 85 males and two women were in attendance.

After Miss Barnes pleaded guilty, a policeman was called to testify about the Thursday events. In error, he described the stag party Wednesday, which he attended in civilian clothes after being given a ticket, and related a series of facts before the error was realized.

Macintyre then told court that Miss Barnes had been performing Thursday "topless and with a bikini bottom" while a second girl who wore a similar costume "permitted men to come out of the audience," two of them dancing on stage with her while both men were naked.

Judged William Ostler asked Miss Barnes how long she had been performing in this "bizarre" manner. After questioning his use of the word bizarre, she said she had been a go-go dancer for about a month.

After she was fined, Miss Evans pleaded guilty and received a similar fine.

Yes, Madam, The Mafia Plays Rough

By BILL THOMAS

The Mob, the Mafia, the Cosa Nostra, and the Syndicate have offered a fascination to film directors, who for years have treated them as either caricatures in big criminal business or as stupid thugs.

A French treatment of the Mob titled The Sicilian Clan, playing the Haida Theatre, is a delight. A rather noisy lady in the row behind me commented loudly: "But it's ridiculous! People don't to things like that!" I had an almost overwhelming temptation to lean back and suggest she read the factual literature on international crime and the Mafia's connections which ignore national boundaries.

The Sicilian Clan was directed by Henri Verneuil who has a well merited reputation for putting an audience on the edge of its seat.

There is no doubt that the film is successful because of the superb acting of Jean Gabin as head of the Manalese family. The film conveys all the usual tension of men plotting a major crime, but Gabin also contributes some hints of the Sicilian tradition of incredible family loyalty.

★ ★ ★

Alain Delon is a gun-happy holdup man who has killed two policemen but manages to buy his escape with the help of the Manalese family.

Director Verneuil offers a picture of a way some of the notorious families work that presents a startling contrast to the way American directors have treated the same subject.

Delon gives an exciting performance as a thief and pursued killer. He provides the plan for the big jewel robbery, but in keeping with Mafia tradition he is an outsider and tolerated rather than trusted.

The counterplay involves a highly proficient performance by Lino Ventura as the head of the police department who is initially tracking down Delon, over the killing of the policemen.

He later becomes involved in the jewel robbery case. Ventura has some of the great qualities of Gabin in that he acts in a completely credible way throughout the picture.

Verneuil has brought together three extremely strong actors and produced a powerful film that is a far cut above the ordinary cops and robbers film. It has a cracking pace, good photography, very little actual violence or overt sex. The Sicilian Clan is a top class high tension thriller that I can thoroughly recommend, and there hasn't been one of these in a long time.

Decision on 1973 Canada Games To New Westminster-Burnaby

OTTAWA (CP) — The potential for excellence in water sports in New Westminster and Burnaby was a big factor in awarding the British Columbia centres the 1973 Canada Summer Games, Health Minister John Munro said Friday.

"Because of the climate, there is a good potential for excellence in water sports and Canada has done rather well in these events lately," the minister said in an interview after announcing the site of the 1973 games.

Mr. Munro said Lake Burnaby was a natural setting for water sports and the area already had an excellent pool.

New Westminster and Burnaby won the games over 23 competing bids, including one from Hamilton, Mr. Munro's home town.

Also among the unsuccessful applicants was Victoria, which also offered excellent water-sports facilities with an Olympic size swimming pool under construction and ideal conditions for oarsmen at Elk Lake.

Mr. Munro strongly denied a suggestion that British Columbia got the games because of its losing a bid for the 1976 Olympics.

It wasn't a crumb being tossed to B.C., he said. "We think there is a tremendous national interest in hosting these games," he said.

Ottawa makes capital and operating grants of about $1,200,000 to the cities holding either the summer or winter games. Its $300,000 capital grant is matched by the province and host city.

The first summer games were held last year in Halifax and Dartmouth.

Jobless Rally Slated

Victoria and Vancouver's jobless will rally Wednesday to protest the lack of jobs and demand decent jobs or an annual income.

The Victoria Citizens' Committee on Unemployment and the Low Income Group plans to march from Bastion Square at 12:30 p.m. to the offices of the Provincial Alliance of Businessmen at 620 View Street and the Canada Manpower offices at 1415 Vancouver Street. Briefs are to be presented to both agencies.

B.C. Hikes Quake Aid

Agriculture Minister Cyril Shelford announced this week that the B.C. government is giving another $10,000 to aid victims of an earthquake that shook Peru in June.

The latest gift is from B.C.'s Agricultural Aid to Developing Countries and World Assistance Fund and will be used to buy 28 small electrical generators. Earlier, the province gave $15,000 to the Peruvian Red Cross for emergency uses in the disaster area.

Rape Hearing Date Set

Preliminary hearing of a 24-year-old Victoria man charged with attempted murder and rape was set Friday in Victoria Provincial Court for Sept. 9.

Carl Jens Hansen of Hillside Avenue was charged after an incident in which Sooke RCMP said a 12-year-old girl was thrown from a bridge near Point No Point "on or about June 2."

Judge William Ostler approved the hearing date after informing court that a psychiatric report fram an official of the Riverview mental hospital at Essondale had declared Hansen fit to stand trial.

Alan Bigelow will be prosecutor in the case and Robert Hutchison is defence counsel. Bail was set earlier at $20,000 and has not yet been met.

□

A no-publication order has been issued covering evidence given during the hearing, which began Thursday morning and is expected to take most or all of next week's court sittings.

A suspended sentence and two-year probationary term were the penalty for Penelope Anne Clarke, 19, of 3780 Savannah, who pleaded guilty Aug. 6 to four charges that involved 11 worthless cheques.

Nine of the 11 counts in the four charges were of uttering forged documents and the other two were of false pretences, with the total value of goods and cash mentioned in all counts being $752. In passing sentence, the judge noted Miss Clarke had been in custody for three weeks while awaiting completion of the case.

In the court section of Judge J. A. Byers, a $350 fine and a four-month driving ban were levied against Joseph Edward Buczkowski, 28, of 851 Esquimalt, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving Aug. 10 in Esquimalt.

Russell David Henry, 28, of 8950 West Sannich, was fined $350 after he was found guilty following a trial on a charge of impaired driving July 11 in Saanich.

Douglas Alexander Cameron, 33, of 1711 Midland, was fined $300 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving July 31 in Oak Bay with a blood-alcohol reading of more than .08 per cent.

John Charlebois, 58, of 723 Yates, was sentenced to a three-month jail term after the judge said he was "obviously a persistent and unrepentant thief."

Charlebois pleaded guilty to a charge of theft involving less than $50 — the shoplifting of several items worth a total of about $30 Thursday from the Metropolitan store at 1222 Douglas. Court was told Charlebois' criminal record dated back to 1929.

Misty's Just Fine Thanks to Hydro

Five-month-old Misty, a little white kitten that had been perched atop a B.C. Hydro pole on Cook near Quadra since Monday, was brought down safely Friday morning by a B.C. Hydro workman.

The rescue operation took the Hydro man only about five or 10 minutes, resulted in no injuries and brought loud applause from a large crowd at the moment the workman picked up Misty.

He turned the kitten over to Debbie Vanyo, 15, of 4014 Quadra, who was babysitting for the owner, Mrs. David Bouchard, 3350 Cook. Debbie took Misty to the Bouchard home, fed it milk and a heaping bowl of catfood and kept guard while Misty had a long sleep.

The Bouchards and their neighbors had tried since Monday to coax the kitten down, to no avail. Thursday, Hydro, SPCA and police and fire officials declined to act until Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock, vacationing off the west coast of Vancouver Island, phoned Hydro — which performed the rescue free.

Young Hitchhikers Get an Education

Life on the Open Road

By DON GAIN

The faces were earnest; the voices were soft; the talk was serious.

"I've just spent four weeks hitchhiking around the country," said a youth from Crofton. "You learn things fast when you're 2,000 miles from home and you're out there on the highway.

"But I'd like to see a list of hints compiled. For instance, you shouldn't wear sunglasses when you're hitchhiking. People won't pick you up if they can't see the whites of your eyes."

A girl from Prince George spoke up. "If you're stranded on the highway beside a forest, you don't need to go hungry," she said, "provided you know what you can eat and what you can't."

"That's right," said the youth. "There are lots of things you can eat in the forest, but not along the highway, where it's been sprayed."

"Are there many kids coming here from the States?" the girl asked. "Kids wanting to homestead but not knowing where they're going or what to do when they get there?

"If Cool-Aid could help them . . . " she went on.

Don Bridgeman, who is on the Victoria Cool-Aid summer staff, said Cool-Aid was helping such people.

"The only place I was hassled was in Wisconsin," said the youth from Crofton. "I flashed a peace sign at a policeman, and he didn't like it. But at Mosport in Ontario where they had the rock festival, the police were just great. They gave co-operation all the way."

The speakers were all delegates to the first provincial conference of the new Youth Helping Youth organizations meeting at the Victoria YM-YWCA in a one-day session Friday.

Friday afternoon they split into groups of six or seven and carried on discussions. Friday night they had a plenary session and summed up what they had accomplished.

"Basically," said Bridgeman. "we discussed the mechanics of the different Cool-Aid organizations, what they do, what they don't do and what they would like to do.

"One thing I hope will become a reality is the visiting of staff persons from one Cool-Aid to another to exchange ideas. We got a really good idea today of how the various Cool-Aids work. We didn't make any firm decisions, but we tossed a lot of information around."

The federal government sent two observers to the conference.

Kelly Ip of the state department came from his Vancouver office to talk to the young people.

He asked one group if all the Cool-Aids in Canada should share the same philosophy.

"No," was the emphatic answer.

"There would be a danger in a Canada-wide Cool-Aid," said one young man. "I could see one branch getting into trouble, and the government would have to close them all down. You can't handle it on a national level. Each one has to be a part of the local community."

★ ★ ★

This reporter asked Ip what he thought of Victoria Cool-Aid. He said he had been particularly interested in the exchange project this summer with young people in Quebec. It worked out "very favorably" he said.

Vicky Radley, who works for the national health and welfare department doing research on transient youth, said she travels all over the province and she hasn't found a Cool-Aid that does better work than Victoria's.

"We're not just interested in finding a bed for tonight or tomorrow night," he explained. "We're working on bigger issues — where is the situation heading, how can we change it, should we continue as we are or make major shifts?"

Adair said the economic situation was of great concern. "A lot of these young people aren't doing what they're doing just for the kicks," he went on.

"Many of them are dropping out of school because they see their friends graduating and not finding jobs. And the work force is getting smaller and smaller."

★ ★ ★

The Inner City Project deals not only with youth, but with poverty in general. There are four full-time staff members and 30 university students working on it.

"We help people start food co-operatives," Adair said. "We help them with housing and with legal aid. We serve about 700 meals a day to transients.

"We have a mobile bus painted crazy colors so people will be sure to notice it. It is used as an information referral service. We have a medical clinic.

"One fact that is becoming more and more evident is that people need help in the winter just as much as they do in the summer. We're working on that problem now."

Men 65–Females 60

Woman Librarian Battles Age Gap in Retirements

By DIANE JANOWSKI

A female Victoria librarian is fighting a decision that has forced her to retire at 60 while men doing the same work are kept on until 65.

The woman, who worked at the Greater Victoria Public Library for about 18 years, was forced to retire at the end of June because the library board interpreted the staff pension plan to read that women must retire five years before men must.

"This has been happening all along, but I guess no one has ever minded the early retirement enough to fight it before," said Alex Markides, a field representative of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, which represents the librarians.

"We interpret it as meaning that 60 is the minimum age and 65 the maximum."

He said the case has been put before the board of industrial relations which must determine whether or not the employer has complied with the agreement.

If that decision is not favorable for the woman, an approach may be made to the Human Rights Commission, but Markides noted this may not be possible.

"The Human Rights Act permits a registered pension plan to have this kind of retirement age without being discriminatory," he said. Markides declined to identify the woman involved.

The difference in retirement ages came about when the Municipal Superannuation Act was brought into effect in 1958. Women were asked to vote on whether they would retire at 60 or 65, but men were simply assigned the 65 age.

Another Victoria librarian, who asked that she not be identified, said that prior to this year women employees who reached 60 had simply asked the library board for permission to work beyond that time.

"It was sort of a gentleman's agreement," she said, "but the present board doesn't feel bound by it. Two women reached the age this year but although they had asked to stay longer it was refused.

"They were simply notified by mail that their services would be terminated on the specified date. It was a pretty cold letter for women who have given so many years of service."

"It's completely iniquitous that a person should be forced to retire before she's entitled to receive the federal old age pension," said Mrs. Charles Burchill of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Civil Liberties Association.

"Not only is it discriminatory because the men and women are considered equal in other respects, but it means with the new Canada Pension Plan that she will get a smaller pension for retiring before 65."

Sports Arrive At Cathedral

Parishioners of Christ Church Cathedral will go there Sunday morning in sports clothes, ready for their Parish Fun Day.

They'll attend eucharist at 10 a.m. — a combined service to take the place of the usual 9:30 and 11 a.m. services — and then they'll go outside for a turkey barbecue in the lot where the bishop's house used to be.

At the eucharist the parishioners will see a plan for the new east end of the interior of the cathedral. It includes a free-standing altar with the choir behind it.

After the barbecue there will be a cricket match in Topaz Park between the rector's warden's team and the people's warden's team. There will be a softball game for the youngsters and one for those who don't want to play cricket.

Evensong will be celebrated at the regular time — 7:30 p.m. But in the morning, everybody will be sporty.

Advisory Board

Harbor Scheme Under Review

A thorough review of Victoria's Inner Harbor plans will be made by the city's advisory planning commission, it was learned Friday.

Commission chairman S. J. Cunliffe told the Colonist in an interview the entire Inner Harbor scheme will be "given a thorough going over."

★ ★ ★

The committee never had a chance before to look at the various proposals, Cunliffe said.

The fact the commission was never consulted on any of the Inner Harbor plans has been criticized by Victoria Ald. Peter Pollen. He said last week the purpose of the commission is to review major development schemes prior to council's approval.

Last week, council decided at a special meeting to speed up the city's plans for Inner Harbor redevelopment.

Submissions to the provincal and federal governments regarding detailed plans for the Inner Harbor will be made early next month.

On Sept. 8, city officials, accompanied by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, will go to Ottawa for a meeting with Robert Andras, federal minister responsible for housing.

Cunliffe said the commission will review all plans before they are submitted for Ottawa's consideration.

The area slated for urban renewal consists of about 55 acres adjoining the proposed Reid Centre. Any plans for the area's urban renewal necessitate acquisition by the city of the Ocean Cement property. Negotiations are in progress.

If the three levels of government agree to participate jointly in the project, Victoria will have to pay only 25 per cent of the Ocean Cement purchase price.

Although the proposed Reid Centre isn't part of the urban renewal scheme, J. A. Reid, president of the Vancouver-based development company Reid Properties Ltd., has stated he will only go through with his plans if the city acquires the Ocean Cement site. This, Reid said, will be the initial step in renewing the entire Inner Harbor area.

May Date For Pool

Revised target date for completion of Victoria's $1.75 million aquatic complex in Central Park is May, 1971.

This is three months later than originally scheduled. The delay was caused by the prolonged construction lockout, project architect John Di Castri said in an interview Friday.

"But we are in full gear now, and unless we get more labor trouble, we should be finished by May," he said.

"Right now, we are still coming out of the ground and are putting up basement walls."

"Because of the interruption, we were able to pick up an extra $35,000 by using the allocated money for short-term investments," Bramley said.

This money, he said, would help offset additional expenditures which became necessary as a result of unexpected rock formation in the construction area.

Included in the original $1.75 million cost estimate was a $25,000 contingency fund. More than $21,000 of that fund has been used up and more rock could be found where it wasn't anticipated, Bramley said.

To date, the city has paid $254,000 to the contractor H. E. Fowler and Sons Ltd. and $87,000 in architects' and engineering fees.

Underground Paper

No Dirt, No Revolt

By HUBERT BEYER

The first edition of what could be called Victoria's first underground newspaper will be sold on city streets Friday.

Its name: The Partisan. Its aim: An independent socialist Canada. Its editors: A 31-year-old socialist who advocates revolution by democratic means.

The Partisan's base of operations is located in the basement of a home on a quiet Oak Bay street just a stone's throw from the municipal hall.

The rest bears a resemblance to most newsrooms; stacks of paper piled on tables, typewriters with slightly torn ribbons awaiting punishment from reporters and old newspapers cluttering up desks.

Editor Bob Munro is busy with the layout of the Partisan's first edition.

"We chose the name because it is a partisan paper and because a partisan is a fighter," he says.

"We will not publish any pornography, and there will be no advocating of violent revolution. We take a serious look at society, not a frivolous one. If society doesn't want pornography, we respect its wish."

Initially, the Partisan will have eight tabloid pages with a circulation of 3,000. Munro hopes to get it up to 5,000 soon.

The paper will concern itself mainly with Canada's economic development, the educational system, and local politics.

"We will cover city hall regularly; we will attempt to give a close account of our provincial politics and we will point out what's happening to our resources, why the workers are becoming more militant and what can be done for our low-income group," Munro says.

Munro is mainly self-educated. He left his hometown of Regina at the age of 14, worked on farms and in factories. At 17, he joined the navy where he served for three years.

Following that, Munro made his home in Victoria. He became active in trade union activities and joined the Communist party which he left — disillusioned, he says — after the 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia by Russian troops.

Neither Munro, nor his 10 volunteer colleagues, has any previous newspaper experience.

"We will have a business licence and sell our papers on the same basis as the two dailies are sold," Munro says.

He doesn't anticipate trouble from the police as was the case with two persons recently convicted of selling the Maoist publication Mass Line without a business licence.

Girl Injured

Ilene Ramage, 22, of 1664 Fort, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a dislocated left hip received in a water skiing accident at Elk Lake about 7:35 p.m. Friday, Saanich police said. Hospital spokesmen said Miss Ramage is in satisfactory condition.

Roller-Skater Hurts Shoulder

Brian Bassett, 38, of 4390 Chartwell Drive, Saanich, was released from Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment for a dislocated shoulder received when he ran into a wall while roller skating at the George Pearkes Arena, 400-Block Ker, Saanich, Tuesday night, Saanich police said.

Only Six Provinces List Cases

Ontario, B.C. Canada Abortion Leaders

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)-Six of the 10 provinces report that 992 legal therapeutic abortions were performed in the second quarter of 1970, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said Friday.

Comparable figures for the first three months of the year, or for the other four provinces, are not available.

When new Criminal Code amendments came into effect last year, provincial governments were authorized to collect data, but only seven have begun to do so, Ontario for the first time in the second quarter of this year.

Saskatchewan collected data and reported it in the first quarter but they were withheld in the second quarter because their accuracy was questioned.

For the April, May and June period, the number of abortions reported by the provinces: Nova Scotia 45, Prince Edward Island 2, New Brunswick 8, Ontario 456, Alberta 132, and British Columbia 317.

The new Criminal Code provisions removed the doctor's criminal liability in performing an abortion when authorized by a hospital committee. Previously, all abortions were, in law, illegal.

DBS said that the abortion rate—the number of legal abortions per 100 live births—for the six reporting provinces was 2.1 on the basis of the latest monthly figures availabe. This compares with an abortion rate of 4.6 in England and Wales under that country's 1967 Abortion Act.

The Canadian rate compares with 8.2 in Denmark, 10.0 in Sweden, 34.4 in Czechoslovakia, 38.7 in Japan, and 135.6 in Hungary. The Hungary rate is the latest available, for 1965.

No figures are available for Newfoundland, Quebec, or Manitoba. Some provinces have decided not to collect the data and others have not completed arrangements to do so.

Other DBS data showed that in the first five months of 1970 there were three deaths from abortions, two spontaneous or unspecified, and one criminal or induced for other reasons than medical or legal.

The last reported deaths from abortion induced for medical or legal reason were three in 1968. None were so reported in 1965, 1968, 1967 or 1969.

They're Better Than Money

Psst... Buy Diamonds

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you have anything left after the stock market slump, Mike Gingold knows where to put it — in diamonds.

Diamonds, as they say, are a girl's best friend. Also a man's.

"Most of us make two major investments in our lives," said Gingold. "One is a house. No, the other is not a car. A car depreciates rapidly. The other is in precious stones."

"Diamonds," continued businessman Gingold, "have gone up in this sagging economy. But look at what's happened to stocks. If I were advising an investor on his portfolio, in addition to savings I'd always include precious stones."

To illustrate how precious jewelry stone costs have risen, Gingold said just take, for instance, a five carat diamond. Seven or eight years ago, it could have been bought for $600 to $1000, depending on color and cut. Today it would go for $900 to $1,500.

Some of the rise comes from increased cost of mining, cutting and marketing. But a lot is simply because there just never are enough fine diamonds to meet the demand. Even so, through the centuries, he said, the market has remained fairly stable, not bouncing up and down like a stock market.

Gingold, a personable man with two grown sons and one teenager, is biestate consultant, who also has worked all facets of the jewelry business from designing to buying to selling. He now is president of Nationwide Marketing Associates, Inc., (NMA) a new organization to serve jewellers.

The association enroll some 4,000, helps each with buying (the smaller businessman cannot always make all the big exhibits of gems), helps with his local advertising, and helps him broaden his knowledge with seminars.

"In other words," said Gingold, "to make the little guy stand tall . . ." part of that standing tall will come from a "mark of authenticity," sort of a seal of approval, that'll guarantee to the customer that a diamond will be worth just as much in Austin, Tex., as in Seattle, Wash., or Hackensack, N.J., from an NMA member.

As part of the program, NMA will participate in the Pacific jewelry show Aug. 16-18 in Los Angeles and the other big national one in Dallas, Sept. 6-8.

Gingold looks at a diamond around Liz Taylor's neck as pure, unadulterated money. He says through the centuries it has been so, that precious gems are truly international exchange.

"I have seen people leave a country with literally nothing but the clothes on their back," he said. "But they'll manage to take their gems.

"The public has always bought jewelry. When times are bad, it just might be cheaper."

I asked him how to go about that investment in precious gems. "Well, you go to a reputable jeweller, to start, then, if you're loaded with money, go ahead and splurge on a fancy setting and all that.

"But if you're really a sharp investor, get the value in the stone and forget the surroundings, whether it be diamond, ruby or emerald. Pay for the gem, not the Geewhiz."

Run Run Needs Concubine

HONG KONG (UPI) — Asian film producer Run Run Shaw said today the Shaw Brothers studio will ask Ratna Sari Dewi, Japanese-born wife of the late Indonesian president Sukarno, to play the title role of The Fragrant Concubine in a picture he intends to make here.

Shaw said the film will be about Hsiang Niang Niang, a concubine of a Turki-Uighur chief, said to have had a unique body fragrance men could not resist.

McEachern with mums for dining room

'Hide Your Sins' With Few Greens

By HELEN MORRIS

Green foliage, says florist Keith McEachern, is God's gift to the amateur flower arranger.

"For a dining room arrangements," McEachern says, "most people want a low arrangement — about a foot high.

"And don't think you have to use a lot of flowers, either. You can make design count as much as the flowers. These 'mums are quite expensive, so we want every flower to count —, and of course if they're picking flowers from their own gardens they don't want to use the lot."

The secret of successful flower arranging, he says, is to find the focal points of the arrangement, fill in between them, and then "hide your sins with your greens."

He made a centre-piece of the yellow 'mums, starting with Fill-Fast foam for a base (it comes, he says, in blocks and the arranger can cut off the size piece he needs).

Then hide the base with a Florida green called Leather Leaf.

The glad arrangement — they should be blooming in Victoria for about three or four more weeks — was one-sided.

Instead of using a leaf filler, McEachern contrasted the pinkish flowers with a mossy, green, dried grass.

The grass he used is called sea oats, and is imported from Spain, but McEachern says an amateur arranger can find pretty grasses right in his own back yard. And he can use them as filler, or in an arrangement of their own.

He says local florists are just beginning to use grasses (and flowers) in arrangement which included remnants of their natural environment — rocks and wood and things.

"All you have to do is take a piece of styrofoam, cover it with cork, or with burlap — and then just arrange a nice spray of colored grasses. You can put ribbon around the edge like a frame, just to finish it off. That's a nice arrangement for fall."

"The main thing in any arrangement," he says, "is imagination. That's the thing that shows your personality."

She's Too Beat

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Mary Morgan, a waitress at a downtown restaurant for the last 13 years, quit her job Thursday. Mrs. Morgan, 55, was beaten and kicked early Thursday when two men walked into the restaurant and took $17. They also threatened her with a screwdriver. It was the 23rd time in the last 13 years that the restaurant was robbed while Mrs. Morgan was at work.

Patchwork of Adventure

Charlie's Quilt Quite Some Yarn

By DON DEDERA

CAMP VERDE, Ariz. (CNS) — If you are ever in this part of central Arizona, be sure to see the major tourist attraction, Charlie's Quilt.

Charlie's Quilt is just about the most exciting thing in town.

Now, that is not only because of Camp Verde's peacefulness, but because Charlie's Quilt makes history come alive. It is far and away the most famous quilt in Arizona. And in this dark period of factory-produced bedspreads and electric blankets, it is difficult for any kind of quilt to maintain a substantial reputation anywhere.

In 1847, one Adeline Jones accepted the marriage proposal of Samuel Dickenson. In those days a bride was expected to fill a hope chest with her handiwork. Miss Adeline carded, spun and wove cotton from her father's farm in southern Iowa. This became the main, white portion of the quilt.

Then, red, yellow and green applique in a rambling ivy pattern was sewn onto the quilt by six of Adeline's bridesmaids. They stitched their initials along the border of the quilt.

The Civil War caught the Dickensons and their three boys living in no-man's-land — Missouri. Dickenson went off to command a Union company in battle against some of his cousins.

Adeline and the boys were left unprotected in the path of Quantrell's Raiders. Everything of value was hidden away in a big old hollow tree. By war's end many of the household goods were ruined, but the quilt was as good as new, except for a few brown stains.

Together with 13 other families, the Dickensons made up a wagon train west.

They were four months on the trail. All good housewives of that period regularly aired their bedding. One method was to drape the quilts and blankets over bushes. Deep in Indian country, Grandma Nancy saw Charlie's Quilt being carried off by a naked Indian. She shrieked. The men folk gave chase. The Indian dropped Charlie's Quilt.

The Dickensons arrived in Arizona in 1875 and took up homesteads near Fort Verde. On the good advice of the troopers, the settlers chose land well away from the Verde River, prone to flash flooding. Since it was easier to carry clothing to the river than water to the houses, the women scrubbed their laundry on hickory boards in the river.

Once the women (and Charlie's Quilt) were down at the river bank when a band of Apache braves lined up on the opposite shore. The warriors fell to their knees and mimicked the women in their scrubbing. A troop of cavalry was summoned to scatter the hecklers.

Charlie's Quilt got its name in the family's division of heirlooms. More valuable things went to the older sons, but the quilt went to the youngest, Charlie.

Charlie's son, George, in recent years decided that a quilt with all that much history belonged on public display — and that is where it is, in the Fort Verde Museum here.

U.S. Rolls Out Dough For Frisco Bread Bake

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. agriculture department has decided to spend $49,190 to see if researchers can find a way to bake San Francisco sourdough French bread anywhere in the country.

The popular bread has been baked in the Bay area for more than a century, and some San Franciscans claim it can't be baked anywhere else because the climate makes it what it is. Others, largely tourists, say it's where the bread is eaten, not what it is, that makes the difference.

Whatever the reason, countless attempts to bake it elsewhere have failed because the starter bacteria, for some unknown cause, will not behave the same as in San Francisco.

Agriculture spokesmen said they have awarded a 2½ year, $49,190 contract to Oregon State University to study bacterial species isolated by department scientists from sourdough bread fermentation.

The new studies, officials said, might make it possible eventually to produce starter cultures which can be packaged and distributed like frozen concentrated dairy starters or bakers' yeast.

"This would simplify processing and also make it possible to produce sourdough French bread on a much wider geographic scale," officials said.

They Now Think Big

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuters) — A physician who practises hypnotherapy has reported success in enlarging the breasts of women patients through hypnosis.

Dr. Peter Mutke, a graduate of the University of Heidelberg school of medicine, said he has induced cellular growth through hypnosis and enlarged the breasts of 20 women.

He said the women, ranging from 20 to 37 years old, approached him with the goal of having breasts that would "measure up to the expectations of the average American male."

The doctor said 10 of the women expressed total satisfaction with the degree of enlargment.

Mutke, who lectures on hypnotic methods in University of California extension programs, reported about his treatment in a recent self-hypnosis workshop sponsored by a private foundation.

His report has just been made public.

He said the women who came to him were suffering from "mental disuse atrophy" — certain eccentric attitudes had altered some of their organic processes.

"The rationale for the treatment was that some inhibition happened to sensitize such a person so that she was afraid to show her breasts," he said. "Frequently such women walk around hunched over so that the breast profile is hidden."

Death Won't Wait

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I buried my best friend today. She was only 36, a beautiful delightful woman—a devoted wife and the mother of four children. This woman did not have to die so young. For the life of me I cannot understand it. And the whole tragedy seems so unreal, when one considert she was the wife of a physician.

The cause of her death was cancer. She admitted when she went to her doctor that she noticed the lump in her breast a few months after her last annual check-up.

She confided in me when I visited her in the hospital (following the removal of her breast) that she didn't want to "bother" her husband with it because he had too much on his mind. How an intelligent woman could have waited eight or nine months to investigate a lump in her breast is more than I can understand.

Please, Ann Landers, do the women of the world a favor. Your column is the best read thing in the paper. Please, I beg of you, print this letter. Tell every woman out there if she notices a lump in her breast to go immediately to the doctor and let him determine whether or not it is serious. Ninety-five per cent of the breast lumps are nothing more than enlarged glands or cysts. The painful lumps are rarely malignant tumors, but a woman should never ignore a breast lump. Early detection of even a cancerous tumor can mean a life saved. Thank you, Ann, and God bless you for the good you do. — Heartbroken Friend.

Dear Friend: Thank you for your letter. Somewhere, someone who reads it will now go to the phone and make an appointment with her doctor. That woman may live another 20 years because she read your letter. Thanks again.

Dear Ann Landers: I travel Illinois and Indiana for a nationally known firm. I get to Peoria frequently. Over the last year I developed a close relationship with the ex-wife of a former executive. Please understand, this was no romance, merely a friendship.

A few weeks ago I received for my birthday a framed picture of this woman. The accompanying note said: "For your desk." The picture was inscribed, "To a man who has been an angel to me . . ."

The woman has friends in this office and I'm afraid if I don't put her picture on my desk she'll hear about it and her feelings will be hurt.

In the meantime I already have a picture of my wife and kids on my desk and I think one picture is enough. Please advise.—Illinois Troubles.

Dear Illinois: Your Peoria friend sounds like an idiot or a troublemaker — or both. Her gift was in the worst possible taste. You said it better than I. You already have a picture of your wife and kids on your desk and one picture is enough. Toss it in your circular file, Bub, and invite your wife to Peoria when you go. It's a lovely city.

Air Heroine

Single And Smart

HAMAMATSU, Japan (UPI) — A young woman whose feigned birth pains foiled an aerial hijacker bent on suicide said Thursday "the idea came from a headache."

Michiyo Akita, 22, who is single, and not pregnant, wrapped herself in a blanket and moaned pitifully to trap the apprentice cook who commandeered a Boeing 727 jetliner with a toy pistol Wednesday.

"I complained of a headache after our plane was hijacked, and the passenger next to me suggested I might help by pretending I was about ready to give birth, Miss Akita said.

Police captured Sachio Inagaki, 24, after he ordered the tri-jet plane to land at an air force base. He demanded a rifle, 100 bullets and two cans of gasoline in exchange for the 74 passengers aboard the All Nippon Airways domestic flight.

★ ★ ★

Miss Akita's pretended labor pains were so convincing that Inagaki granted pilot Mitsuo Mikami's request that an amublance be allowed to back up to the rear ramp of the aircraft to receive the woman.

As Miss Akita was being assisted from the plane, a policeman dressed as medical attendant bounded up the ramp and seized Inagaki.

Inagaki later told police he wanted the rifle to provoke a gunfight with police in hope of being shot to death. He intended to use the gasoline to set the plane afire in order to go out in flames.

He said he sought death because of his tangled love life. According to police, he said he deserted his 24-year-wife and their infant child to live with his wife's 16-year-old sister.

Inaki will be the first person subject to a new Japanese hijack law that prescribes seven years to life imprisonment for offenders.

They Even Play Golf These Days

Korean Girls Breaking Loose

By M. H. AHN

SEOUL (AP) — Old Korean saying: "A family with the voice of a woman heard louder than man is doomed to failure."

Not many South Koreans who have grown up since the Second World War believe in that any more. There are elders who still frown sternly on sex equality but women are getting more and more into things that once were strictly the domain of the male..

While traditional drawbacks and difficulties remain, there are distinguished women university presidents, professors, legislators, lawyers, doctors, scientists and entertainers. Records show that 110 South Korean women hold doctorate degrees, 1,500 are medical doctors and there are three women members of the 175-seat legislature.

Korean women today also head business companies, run stores and restaurants and play golf and drive cars.

All this is a far cry from early in the century when restrictions on women went so far as teaching them not to sit with males after the age of seven.

At the end of the Second World War, the country was flooded suddenly with Western ideas, including that of equality between the sexes.

One of the areas in which the changes showed first and most importantly was in employment. In the old days, Korean women were unable to work to support themselves and were forced to depend on male relationships to exist. After the war, they moved quickly to establish themselves in varied jobs.

Education was another major move that affected women following the war.

Springing up across the country were thousands of grammar and high schools and scores of universities and colleges where coeds participate as actively as men. A recent survey showed that about 24 per cent of college students are women and one out of every four professors is a woman.

Another development has been in the husband-wife relationship. Until a new civil law was passed in 1960, Korean men could keep concubines with impunity. Now this has changed and government officials are fired if they are found keeping concubines.

The 1960 civil law also gave South Korean women the right of property inheritance and of heading a household.

One woman leader said the changes of recent years have given Korean women as much freedom and social participation as their counterparts in most Asian countries.

While this goes on, there still are some marked differences.

★ ★ ★

In general, South Korean women quit working when they get married, even if they are not forced to do so by the rules covering their job. There are some housewives who have begun to work regularly outside to help support the family and a few enterprising wives have gone into businesses in which they earn more money than their husbands. For the most part, however, both Korean men and women feel the wife should not work outside the home after marriage.

★ ★ ★

You still can go into the countryside in Korea and see old women walking a few yards behind their husbands, the traditional sign of respect for the male. At the same time, it is common in Seoul and other towns to see young couples, married or not, walking side-by-side and often holding hands.

While the sexes still may not be equal in Korea, they are a lot more equal than they were only a few years ago.

Male Logic At Work In House

By BETTY PRESTON
Copley News Service

Women aren't all that smart. Some men have some pretty good ideas about how things should be around the house.

Like my husband.

He wants to know why the holes in pepper shakers are so little, and those in the saltshakers so big.

His theory is that you can see the pepper, so you should be able to gauge how much you want—and not have to work so darned hard to get it.

Now salt is a different matter. You can't see it, so you need to approach it with caution.

My next door neighbor's husband contends that everyone cuts the wrong end off the radishes. It may be prettier, but it's kind of silly to cut the tail off and leave the green end, he says. That long skinny tail is much easier to hang on to, when you are running the radish around the salt and besides, you don't end up with all that refuse on your plate.

I have to admit he has a point there.

★ ★ ★

My husband has a complaint for furniture manufacturers, too. He is bitterly vocal about bed frames that are so constructed that the mattress doesn't fit snuggly up to the headboard.

"There's always a draft around my neck," he says, as he tugs the unwieldy pad up tighter.

I tug it back every morning when I make the bed, because it looks so silly, perched there—two inches shorter than the box springs.

He thinks that every living room should have a coffee table to put things on.

Like the mail . . . after it's opened, and the work he brings home from the office, the morning paper, the evening paper, the magazine clipped open to the article that his boss sent home with him to read, the two No. 2 soft pencils that he likes to have on hand to jot down things that he likes to jot down on the pad of paper that he likes to keep there, too.

I think every living room should have a coffee table with a false top—to slip over the debris when company is coming.

He doesn't think so much about my idea. Sarcastic, he calls it.

I sometimes wonder though, if he's so darned smart, where was he when the man who designed our house placed the thermostat in the only wall in the living room where the davenport could go and right next to the only possible place for a lamp.

And to reach the thermostat to push it up, you have to lean inelegantly across whoever might be sitting on the davenport.

St. Marys Church in Labasa on island of Vanua Levu

Dean Returns from Visit

Church Big in Fiji

By DON GAIN

The friendly islands of Fiji are moving into the 20th Century and the church has the duty of sheepherding the people in this transitional period, Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Anglican Cathedral said this week.

"We are taking really important steps through education," he explained.

The dean, who recently returned from a five-week visit to this British colony in the southwest Pacific, explained that there are no government-sponsored schools in the islands. Aside from a few schools organized by groups of families, called committee schools, most are run by churches. The Anglican Church operates seven schools in the islands, as well as a medical service.

But, even with a growing availability of education for the islanders, there is still the large question of what the rising generation will do with their knowledge.

This situation will pose problems, the dean said, "but whether the islanders like it or not, the 20th Century is encroaching on their lives more and more. The church is doing what I consider an important job in getting them started on their education."

New Zealand has been the country to which European children in Fiji went for schooling. Australia has invested heavily in Fiji, particularly in sugar mills.

Which leads, the dean explained, to Fiji being called a political colony of England, a cultural colony of New Zealand and an economic colony of Australia.

This may change when Fiji gets its independence this fall. It will become a dominion and will remain in the Commonwealth.

The dean was invited to this archipelago of 300 islands surrounding the Koro Sea in an area of 7,055 square miles by Bishop John Holland of Polynesia, whose diocese includes other islands as well.

In five weeks the dean visited 10 islands, preached 12 times, celebrated the holy eucharist 20 times, leactured at St. John the Baptist Anglican Theological College in Suva and the ecumenical Theological College of the Pacific, just outside Suva; held retreats and quiet times.

He travelled by launch and plane and, much of the time, stayed with Fijian clergymen in thatch-roofed houses called Bure (Boo-ray).

"They seem to be very happy - go - lucky," the dean said. "I was most touched when they served the kava drink, which is made from roots. This is ceremonial occasion, in this case, a welcome, and is done in a very serious manner."

English is the main language of the country and is Indians who each make up spoken by Fijians and East about half of the population of 500,000.

Anglican Churches use all three languages and in the singing of hymns and recital of prayers and creeds, all three may be heard at the same time in a church.

"They may not know what the person next to them is saying but they know he's a brother in Christ, and that's all that matters," Dean Whitlow said.

Overpopulation has been a problem in the islands, but a semi-official campaign for family planning has cut the birth rate from 42 to 27 per 1,000 in two years.

Lack of protein in the national diet has been partially remedied by the church's distribution of dried-milk biscuits to children.

The church's Vancouver Island diocese of British Columbia has been sending assistance of various kinds to the diocese of Polynesia and the dean will be telling of this aid at local parishes this fall.

Union Spans Globe

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Two Christian church organizations united here Thursday to form a new body which groups 55 million persons in about 75 countries.

Delegates of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches and the International Congregational Council united in a ceremony at Nairobi University to form the World Alliance of Reformed Churches (Presbyterian and Congregational).

The ceremony was attended by Wilhalm Niesel, West German president of the WARC, and Ashby Bladen, American moderator of the International Congregational Council.

After the union about 330 delegates attended a church service where the sermon was preached by Eugene Carson Blake, general secretary of the Geneva-based World Council of Churches and a member of the executive committee of the old WARC.

Blake said: "It is our faith that God in his sovereign grace is calling his whole people, Congregational, Reformed, Presbyterian, Lutheran, Anglican, Baptist, Orthodox and Roman Catholic, into new covenant relation to him."

Russian Baptists Being 'Persecuted'

LONDON (AP) — A new persecution campaign against Russian Baptists was reported Thursday by two British religious weekly newspapers.

The story, signed by John Capon, said Soviet police have arrested three leaders of the Baptist Initiativists, an underground breakaway group, earlier this year.

Three others were tried recently in Kazakhstan, the newspapers said.

The Baptist Initiativists, not officially recognized by the Soviet government, broke away from the authorized All-Union Council of Evangelical Christians—Baptists—in 1962.

The Christian Record and Cen, both published by the Church of England Newspaper, Ltd., gave front-page space to the story.

The stories said Soviet officials gave permission for the Initiativist group to hold a conference at Tula in December, at which time the breakaway Baptists published the names of leaders and members of their underground churches.

Soon after the conference, the stories said, police arrested three leaders, Michael Chores, Peter Rumatchik and G. P. Wiens.

The papers quoted Rev. Richard Wurmbrand of West Germany as saying in his newsletter the Baptists were "lured into a trap" by the authorities.

The German minister said "sweeping arrests" now have been made, followed by heavy prison sentences. Three men — Marta Roller, Alvin Klassen and Ivan Shtefen — were reported tried in Kazakhstan and a film of their trial was shown children in Baptist Sunday schools.

Roller was charged with secreting copies of the Salvation Herland magazine, Klassen of perverting children's minds with religious ideas hostile to the Soviet state, and Shtefen of having joined a Nazi youth group.

'Jesus Freaks'

Evangelical Hippies Plan Mass Baptism

VANCOUVER (CP) — A group of six advance "soldiers" in Jesus Peoples Army have arrived in Vancouver — and a division of about 150 more is expected to arrive from the U.S. in the next week.

"We are here to turn heads on to God. We will do it in the parks, on the beaches, and at impromptu rock festivals," said spokesman Jim Palosaari of Seattle.

The evangelical hippies — dubbed Jesus Freaks — have established about 350 communes in the U.S. Vancouver is the First Canadian city to be visited by the army.

"Within two weeks we will have a mass baptism of 400 converts on the beach. We plan to set up three or four communes in the city," Palosaari said.

The group will start its campaign Wednesday with a meeting and rock music at an auditorium.

Rock Owne, 19, of Seattle, one of the six here, is an army convert who said he regards God as "the ultimate trip, the eternal high." He said he discovered God while serving a jail sentence for possession of drugs.

He said he prayed one day to get out of jail, and he was released the next day.

Midnight Mastered

Victoria churches take on special atmosphere in moonlight, according to photographer Jack Ralph. He took these pictures recently between 11 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. to prove it. They are, from left, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Christ Church Cathedral and St. Mark's Anglican.

A Little English Went a Long Way

Those are all the words he needed to do a simple translation of the New Testament for persons anywhere in the world who have trouble reading English.

The New Life Testament, recently off the presses of the Christian Literatures Foundation in Cany, Ore., is the result of several years work in substituting universally known words for difficult words and passages of the King James version.

Gleason Ledyard and his wife Kathryn, moved to Canby 3½ years ago after trudging their way through the deep snows of the Canadian Arctic during 14 years as missionaries to the Eskimos.

That experience and other travels in more than 40 countries taught Ledyard that, besides the Eskimos, there are millions of persons for whom English is a second language.

Even in the United States, the former missionary realized, there are poeple lacking in education who could benefit from a simplified translation of the Boble.

Word by word, Ledyard evaluated how the New Testament might be understood—or misunderstood—by persons unfamiliar with bibilcal times and ideas.

"Compassion" was turned into "loving pity."

A "bondswoman" became the phrase "woman who was owned by someone and who had to do whatever she was told."

A "hypocrite" was identified as "you who pretend to be someone you are not."

"Corruptible" became "that which dies," while "Ark of the Covenant" was described as "the special box that held the Old Way of Worship."

The King James version of this difficult passage in Romans 7:23-24 reads: "But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O wretched man that I am: Who will deliver me from the body of this death?"

★ ★ ★

The New Life Testament gives the same passage like this: "But there is a different law at work deep inside of me that fights with my mind. This law of sin holds me in its power because sin is still in me. There is no happiness in me: Who can set me free from my sinful old self?"

The typeface in Ledyard's translation is large, and there are headings every time the New Teatament changes subjects of brings in new incidents. Maps and a list of defined terms are in the back.

An edition for children is 20 pages longer, using the same text but with more illustrations.

Pope: Don't Decry Faith

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul has exhorted Roman Catholics in Hungary not to renounce their faith and church history.

In what were apparently intended as words of comfort to two million Catholics living in a Communist society, the pontiff said that while the external circumstances of civil life change, the church is immutable.

The remarks were contained in an apostolic letter to the Hungarian Catholics, sent to commemorate the 1,000th anniversary Thursday of the birth of St. Stephen, founder of the kingdom of Hungary and of the church there.

Although the Holy See's relations with the Hungarian regime have deteriorated in recent years, the Pope's letter adopted a soft tone which observers here saw as conforming with the Vatican's conciliatory stance toward Communists.

Churchmen Slate Evangelic Study

OTTAWA (CP) — More than 600 delegates from 36 Protestant denominations will meet here next week to probe the meaning and role of evangelism.

Among the denominations to be represented at the Canadian Congress on Evangelism are the Anglican Church of Canada, the United Church, the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Baptist Federation of Canada, and smaller groups.

Rev. Leslie Tarr, a Baptist minister and public relations director for the congress, said the gathering will not be a "camp meeting."

"One of the primary aims is to find out what evangelism is."

The congress might help restore an emphasis on evangelism which had been discredited in the eyes of many church members because of "past excesses."

Among conference speakers will be Most Rev. Donald Coggan, Anglican archbishop of York, England and Dr. Leighton Ford, an associate of evangelist Dr. Billy Graham.

But Tarr said that "most of the action will be found in congress workshops."

One of the workshops is to centre on social questions — a weak point in Canadian evangelicalism in this century.

"Evangelicals should be in the vanguard of social progress," Tarr said.

The workshop will examine such issues as revolution, the classless society, nationalism and world federalism.

Rev. Ross Bailey, a United Church minister and a congress organizer, said that the idea for the congress sprang from the world congress on evangelism in Berlin three years ago.

Divine Mind Topic

One of the seven synonyms for God used in Christian Science is Mind, which is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Chambers and Pandora, at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday.

The nature of divine Mind will be explained in contrast to the belief that the human mind is a creative or governing power.

One of the Bible verses to be read is from Psalms: "Great is our Lord, and of great power: his understanding is infinite."

Other readings from the Bible illustrate the power of Mind utilized by Christ Jesus in healing the sick.

A citation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer and founder of Christian Science, reads: "The basis of all health, sinlessness, and immortality is the great fact that God is the only Mind; and this Mind must be not merely believed, but it must be understood."

Edmundston Bishop Appointed

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul has appointed Rev. Fernand La Croix bishop of Edmundston, N.B. The 50-year-old La Croix previously served as superior general of the Congregation of Jesus and Mary (Eudists). He also headed the Eudist seminary at Limbour, Que.

All This from Junk

For United Methodist minister and artist Ralph Holdeman of New York, paints and brushes are nowhere. Instead, he wields oxyacetylene blowtorch and arc welder to sculpt Christ on cross from discarded steel, bronze, chrome and glass. Discarded material, he says, is like discarded lives — redeemable.

Patron Saints —Only One

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — The Vatican Friday published new instructions to bring up to date the veneration of saints in the Roman Catholic Church, including a controversial order that every country should have only one patron saint.

It says that from now on a nation, region, diocese, place, religious family or association shall be allowed only one patron saint.

Canada has two patron saints, according to the 1970 Catholic Almanac — St. Joseph and Ste. Anne.

The document also aims to abolish rhetoric and long-winded eulogies from prayers in honor of individual saints.

Gideons president Jake Krahn will be in charge of the service which is the second to last for the season.

The entire service will be conducted by guest members of the Vancouver Metro Gideon Camp with their vice-president, David Wood, giving the gospel message. Also participating are Ira Munson, Gideon zone leader from the Vancouver area, as master of ceremonies and Douglas Bennett as song leader. Betty Gardiner of Vancouver will be guest vocal soloist.

Westminster Abbey To Demon Fighters

HONOLULU (CNS) — Name the faith and Hawaii has it — from The Ewa Assembly of God Church, advertising "help in fighting your demons," to Kawaiahao church, "The Westminster Abbey of Hawaii."

The ancient religion of Hawaii ended in 1819. Kapu (taboos and special privileges for some) and heavy kahuna — rituals involving human sacrifice — were discontinued.

★ ★ ★

Old Hawaii developed a common life of sharing — in a big catch of fish or a baby's first birthday. From this evolved Hawaii's spirit of aloha, in a sense, a religious word. In the Islands, the exchange of cultures, food, dress and a genuine interest in others provides a perfect background for religions of all kinds.

The Church of England claims the first Christian service on Hawaiian soil: a funeral for one of Capt. James Cook's sailors.

The Eastern Orthodox church is another contender for first if the usual flavy rules of holding religious services were followed when the Russians built a fort on Kauai.

French warships brought the first Roman Catholic priests. When Liholiho became king, an enterprising Catholic mission member began teaching him to read. They ended up playing cards.

The Hawaiian Evangelical Association of Congregational Christian Churches was the first organized group to come to the Islands. They developed an alphabet and taught the Hawaiians to read. The early missionaries' puritanical rules have softened through the years.

★ ★ ★

When the Filipinos docked, they were greeted by both Methodists and Congregationalists. The coming of the Portuguese strengthened the Roman Catholic church. Seamen's Bethel Church, originally built for English-speaking sailors, opened its arms to the Chinese.

Fussy Critter

To my mind, late summer and early fall is the best time of the year to plant up a new strawberry bed. By planting at this time of the year, the plants have lots of time to get themselves well and truly anchored in the soil and nicely established before growth stops in the late fall. And such plants may be permitted to carry a full crop of berries next year.

The first essential for a good strawberry bed is lots of humus in the soil. Hungarian gardeners, who are keen and expert growers of strawberries, dig in vast quantities of chopped straw, and I have sometimes wondered if this is how the strawberry got its name.

In our country it is more usual to get our humus from well-rotted manure or compost, and you'll need at least one bucketful per square yard. Dig deeply, adding the organic matter as you go, and if the subsoil appears dry, flood the bottom of your digging trench as the work progresses.

With this first digging completed, level the bed by raking, treading and raking again, then give the surface a top dressing of half a bucket of peat moss per square yard. Regarding fertilizer, the strawberry-wise Hungarians use half a cup of dried blood, one cup of bone meal and two cups of wood ashes per square yard.

Dried blood and wood ashes are not too easy to come by these days, so a pretty good substitute for the Hungarian formula is one cupful of ordinary chemical lawn fertilizer plus one cup of bone meal. If the plot has been recently stripped of old sod and soil pests are known to be troublesome, it is good insurance to add diazinon granuales at the rate of two tablespoonfuls per square yard.

With this mixutre applied evenly all over the surface of the new bed, dig it or rototill it in shallowly, mixing it intimately with the top six inches of soil.

Next, the soil should be firmed. You can use your lawn roller for this, or you can put on your biggest and heaviest boots and do a Charlie Chaplin shuffle all over the bed, so every square inch has received the benefit of your weight. Follow this with one final raking and you are ready to plant.

I allow three feet between the rows and 18 inches between the plants in the row. Use a trowel for planting, making a hole large enough to take the spread-out roots. Trim off the tips of the longer roots with a pair of scissors and remove about half the leaves, retaining just the central younger ones.

The strawberry is a fussy critter as to its depth of planting, and the crown should finish up just at soil level. If you plant too deeply, covering the entire growth or crown with soil, crown rot may develop. If too shallow, the roots may dry out.

I don't know of any plant that responds in a more dramatic fashion to "Planter's Punch" than the strawberry. This is my wife's name for a transplanting solution we use, usually Alginure of Dixon-Reid Vitamin B-1 or Transplantone in water; a good cupful of the solution is poured into each hole during the planting operation, finishing up with loose, dry soil on top.

★ ★ ★

Two years ago while planting strawberries I did half a row with plain water instead of Planter's Punch just to see whether I had been fooling myself with this planting technique. Within two weeks, the difference stuck out like a sore thumb and even my neighbor Ernie, who pooh-poohs all my little transplanting tricks, had to admit that the punch-treated plants had gotten away to a much better start. I think this is probably due to a root-stimulating hormone in the solution.

ARTHUR HOPPE

Life Isn't Simple

Once upon a time, there was a busy, frustrated man named Henry D. Thoreaubach who yearned, like most of us, for the simple life.

Henry's life was very complicated. At the office, he spent half his time deciding whom to saddle with the problems he'd been saddled with. The other half was devoted to seeing people he didn't want to see, phoning people he didn't want to phone, and writing people he wished would drop dead.

Being a busy man, he had many labor-saving devices. He had machines to chew up his garbage, wash his dishes, entertain his children, launder his clothes and brush his teeth. His hobby was laboring to repair them. It was very time-consuming.

But he loved his family. And he tried to schedule 12-minute chats with his children 6:18 p.m. daily and a romantic evening with his wife every other Wednesday — when he could squeeze them in.

Yet, somehow, Henry had the feeling he wasn't getting anywhere.

Well, one day Henry happened to read Thoreau's Walden Pond during his Great Books Reading Hour (every third Tuesday, 9 to 10 p.m.) "That," he cried "is the life for me!"

So he chucked his job sold his house bought an axe, ten pounds of nails and some fishhooks and set off to build a little log cabin in the wilderness.

He was lucky to find a nice 50-foot lot on a pond for only $19,500. And after he'd signed the mortgage, searched the title and assumed his pro-rata share of the bonded indebtedness for streets and sewers it was his.

Then he shouldered his axe and went off to chop down a tree. Unfortunately the Forest Service caught him. So after he paid his fine, he had to contract with the E-Z Credit Lumber Co. to deliver the logs. But he forgot a building permit.

The building inspector demanded studs on 16-inch centers. The plumbing inspector demanded enlarged toilet drains. The electrical inspector demanded No. 218a conduits. The health inspector . . . and when he tried to catch fish for his dinner he was socked $50 for failing to carry license.

That's when Henry said the hell with it, returned to the city and went on welfare. Here was the simple life he'd yearned for. He didn't do a thing all day long. "I am no longer busy and frustrated," said Henry after two months of it, "I am bored and frustrated."

Fortunately, Henry got a job making umbrellas. Red ones, blue ones, flowered ones. He liked making umbrellas. People need them. Besides, he didn't have to see people, phone people or write people he didn't want to see, phone or write. So he had lots of time on his hands.

He had time to picnic with his family, learn to play the piccolo, read Catch 22 in a single sitting, master Urdu, take long walks and, oh, a jillion other things. In fact, he didn't have any time at all. His life was soon twice as busy and complicated as it ever was.

But Henry didn't care. He was very, very happy.

Moral: Life isn't simple these days. So why clutter it up with a lot of nonsense?

Criticism Infuriates Director

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — A Man Called Horse director Elliot Silverstein has, as he puts it, "bitten down on the bullet" and endured the agony of the film's mixed reviews in painful silence.

Now he wants to blast out.

The rugged young movie executive, whose past credits include Cat Ballou, says he is tired of taking the brunt of the artistic criticism being buried at Horse. He's also embarrassed about the entire project.

When we chatted on his elegant floating home — a yacht docked at Marina Del Rey — he made it known that his beef is with Cinema Center Studios, "who forced me into compromising from the start of production."

Elliot still winces when he recalls the evening the film was screened at the Directors' Guild for his show business peers and friends.

"Afterwards, they questioned as to why I had done some things and hadn't done others. I had to admit that most of the decisions had been taken out of my hands."

One of the decisions that most definitely wasn't his, "was that cliched battle scene. I was made to include it, the explanation being that distributors insist upon violence."

While the sun was setting lower and the temperature at the marina was becoming comfortably cool, Elliot was getting progressively hotter.

"It was some commercial-minded businessmen sitting in their ivory towers, who know nothing about art or moviemaking. Just sales! They were the ones who made the final decisions!

"And one of those judgments was to cut my working schedule from 90 days to 72, without ever checking with me.

"The film is doing well at the box office — and I will get my percentage of the profits — but commercial success doesn't always mean artistic success.

Now that Andre and Dory Previn are divorced, Mia Farrow decided she'll stay right with her guy when he takes off in mid-September for a tour of East Berlin, Holland, Russia and Poland. Mia, who'll be dropping the twins off in England before the jaunt, says she's particularly looking forward to seeing that other part of the world where few people know her — "and where there won't be a million photographers around." Mia felt terribly hounded by the hordes of papparazzi who followed her around during her visit to Hollywood with Andre this month.

SYDNEY HARRIS

A Cynical Axiom

Speaking of telephone companies, as I was a few weeks ago, a recent news item in the New York Times held me spellbound for 10 fascinating paragraphs.

It seems that two New York businessmen swindled the telephone company in the five years between 1962 and 1967, by making $146,000 worth of long-distance calls on a credit card, and not paying the bills.

This seems to substantiate the cynical axiom that if you are going to cheat, do it on a big scale. If you run a large enough bluff, you can go a long time before being detected.

If the ordinary phone subscriber fails to pay his bill for a month, he gets polite but firm letter from the company reminding him of his dereliction. If he lets it go another month, he is likely to get his phone yanked out, unless he can come up with a mighty plausible explanation for this "oversight."

But these two men, under a fancy company name, and with the obsequious co-operation of a district telephone manager, went on for five long years without making a single payment on their phone bill, which averaged out to nearly $30,000 a year.

Incidents such as this make it hard not to agree with those critics of our system who contend that we operate under a double standard — one set of rules for the ordinary citizen, and another for the affluent, or presumably affluent.

A maid who worked for us last year had her gas service shut off for some minor sum she was unable to pay because of illness in the family; and it took us weeks, working with various city and charitable groups, to get this service restored so that she could feed her children.

Contract buyers of houses — and thus the poorest homeowners — face eviction if they miss a monthly payment or two, and lose everything they have paid, in addition to the house, under most state laws. At the same time, affluent purchasers of hotel chains can pile up millions in charges and debts before being called to account — and if they go into bankruptcy, no punitive measures can be taken.

If capitalism is to remain viable, it must try to bring everyone into the mainstream of owning some property, or some comparable security. This cannot be done economically, so long as many laws favor those who already control property and assets. Though everyone has more today, the gap between the affluent and the indigent has not narrowed in the 40 years since the Depression, and a system cannot be said to be working well that does not help its lowest element.

Blazing Ship 'Sinking Fast'

SAN FRANCISCO — A Filipino ship on fire northwest of here Friday night was reported to be "sinking fast" by an air force plane which reached the scene.

The C130 from Hamilton AFB, Calif., had a doctor and paramedics on board.

The stricken ship had radioed an S.O.S. earlier that its 40-man crew was unable to contain the flames.

The coast guard said the Japanese ship Ogishima Maru was rushing to the aid of the stricken 465-foot Don Jose Figueras, located about 985 miles northwest of San Francisco.

Lt. (J. G.) Jerry Echols, coast guard duty officer at the rescue co-ordination centre here, said Ogishima Maru was about 25 miles from the flaming vessel.

Three holds on the ship, which identified itself as a general cargo vessel, were on fire and one was flooded, it was reported.

A coast guard plane was flying to the scene but would only be able to remain in the area for about an hour because of its limited fuel capacity.

Echols said the Don Jose Figueras' captain's last message said the fire had spread to three holds but "presently we are not abandoning ship."

"All hands have done everything possible but are unable to control the fire," Echols said.

The coast guard cutter Yacona was also dispatched from Astoria, Ore.

The sinking ship identified itself in its S.O.S. as a general cargo motor vessel. However, the Lloyds registry of ships identified it as an oil tanker of 7,673 tons.

The registry said t was built in Nagasaki, Japan, and registered in Manila.

The S.O.S. said the ship was making 13 knots and there was a "slight wind south."

"Vessel caught fire in number three hold and number four. Of unknown origin. All hands aboard unable to extinguish," the message said.

Two passengers were also aboard the ship.

A second distress message at 11:45 p.m. EDT from the Don Jose Figueras said the blaze was worse than the crew first had thought.

There was no word of injuries aboard the 465-foot vessel.

Two ships in the area, the Oriental Daisy and Pacific Banker, said they were hurrying to the scene, due west of Portland, Ore.

The coast guard said a C-130 cargo plane with inflatable life rafts was dispatched from the San Francisco coast guard air station.

Students Need Homes

Homes are being sought for two Japanese girls who will be spending eight months in Canada studying at the University of Victoria.

The girls, who will be arriving in the first week of September, are on exchange from Tezukayama-Gakuin University in Osaka. In exchange, two UVic girls will study in Japan.

The program is designed to introduce the students to Canada's social and cultural life by having them become active members of a family during their stay here.

Law Sideswipes Trucker In Death Telegram Hoax

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI) — The hard luck that seemed to follow Bob Smith wherever he went came to an end Friday at the roadway truck stop and he wound up in jail on a charge of attempted theft by deception.

Bob Smith, who is really Bruce Kresmer, a 25-year-old truck driver from Harrisburg, Pa., pulled into the highway restaurant and service station shortly after a telegram was received there telling of his expected arrival.

The wire advised the truck stop operator to tell Bob Smith to hurry home because his wife and baby had been killed in an auto accident at Harrisburg.

One trucker was moved to donate $10 for a "mercy pot" when he heard the news. To another the telegram had a familiar ring.

"That sounds like the same telegram I heard at another truck stop about three weeks ago," he said.

Bob Smith arrived as expected and according to witnesses was "visibly shaken" when he read the telegram. He appeared to recover, they said, when the suspicious driver asked him "how many times does your wife and kid get killed?"

Police, who had been called before his arrival, arrested Smith. They said he signed a confession admitting his name is Bruce Kresmer and that he pulled off the lucrative telegram caper at lest three times before, raising $300 about six weeks earlier at another truck stop near Effingham.

Police said he told them he was due at another truck stop up the highway where another telegram was awaiting him.

'Hesitant Homosexual' Given Jail Sentence

A Victoria lawyer who described his client as "a hesitant homosexual" asked Friday that the man not be sent to jail because he has already been pestered "along these lines" by fellow inmates of the Wilkinson Road provincial jail in Saanich.

But the request of lawyer D. H. Grey for his client, Laurent Fournier, 28, of 3240 Quadra, was rejected by Judge William Ostler in Victoria Provincial Court.

The judge said he pitied Fournier but the public had to be protected. He sentenced Fournier to six months in jail.

Fournier pleaded guilty Aug. 14 to two charges of gross indecency July 31 in Saanich, one charge involving a boy aged seven and the other a boy aged eight.

Gray, reading from a presentence report, said Fournier comes from a Quebec family of 13 children who "fought like Kilkenny cats" and cannot read or write French or English.

He said Fournier was industrious but had no goals and had lost jobs all across Canada because of his illiteracy.

The lawyer said the report called Fournier "a hesitant homosexual," and added: "My client says that, even in the brief period that he has been in Wilkinson Road, since his case was mentioned in the press, he has been constantly pestered by other inmates along these lines."

Gray said a jail term would have a "disastrous" effect on Fournier but the judge, while expressing pity," said the "loathsome conduct" of Fournier had been aggravated by the "ridiculous and repugnant suggestion that these children initiated it."

He added he considered a six-month jail term' "extremely lenient."

Pat Bay Bypass Urged

Saanich police have suggested alternate routes for motorists using the Patricia Bay Highway to avoid road construction tie-ups on the highway.

Police suggest that to bypass paving at the intersection of West Saanich Road and the Patricia Bay highway, motorists proceeding from points north of these intersections on the West Saanich Road and intending to drive to Victoria should take Goward Road to Interurban Road or Wilkinson Road to Interurban.

As there is no access at present from Royal Oak Avenue to the Patricia Bay highway for westbound traffic, police suggest traffic from the east intending to go north on the highway use Quadra or drive through Cordova Bay to Sayward Road to emerge onto the highway north of Elk Lake.

Saanich police pointed out traffic along the Patricia Bay highway near the West Saanich Road junction was backed up most of the afternoon Friday and at the peak traffic hour was backed up more than a mile.

Young Drivers Heading East

Paul Hadfield, 909 Pendergast, and Bill Craven, 3230 Quadra, Saanich, both members of the Victoria Young Safety Council, will attend the fourth annual Canada Conference of Young Drivers to be held in Winnipeg, Aug. 26 to 29.

9 IN MEMORIAM

SMITH—Edward Melville.
The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me: Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the House of the Lord for ever.—23rd Psalm.
—Fond memories, Karl and Elsie.

SMITH—Edward Melville
—Rest in Peace, Dear Edward.
And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe
Is life—There is no death.
Goodnight my love.
—Lucy.

They are not lost
Who find the light of
Sun and stars and God.
—Your beloved Mother.

"Everything seen is transitory, all else is eternal. Emotions are so minute, they would only bring a smile to his face."
—Lovingly remembered by his Sisters and Families.

"The base hit originally scheduled for this time . . ."

BUREAU OF USELESS INFORMATION: Friday's answer — The last of opera lovers week included Hansel and Gretel, Englebert Humperdinck; Flying Dutchman, Wagner; I Pagliacci, Leoncavallo; Cavalleria Busticana, Mascagni, and Madame Butterfly, Puccini. Engelbert who?

Today's question — Speaking of better music, name the actors who played the violin in the movies Golden Boy, Humoresque and Magic Bow. And a real trivia tidbit: name the famous violinist of this century (now dead) who played his own works and said somebody else wrote them. Answers Tuesday.

Saturday Highlights

10:00—The CBC has listed the next hour as To Be Announced, which often means something good—2.

Saturday Sport

C-11:00 a.m.—Baseball. Cincinnati vs. the Mets.—5, 6.

C-12:00 noon—The same baseball game will be shown by CBUT after the parade—2.

C-2:00 p.m.—The Avco golf event—5.

C-4:30—Wide World of Sports repeats the 1966 Clay-Chuvalo fight—8.

C-5:00—CFL football, Winnipeg at Hamilton—2, 6.

C-6:30—An NFL football exhibition, Minnesota at Houston. Kappless, but it still beats the CFL—7, 12.

Saturday Movies

10:45 a.m.—Ivailo the Great (1963 Bulgarian dubber). Only one biggie today, so this must be a littlie—11.

1:30—Abbott and Costello Meet the Mummy (1955). You must have something better to do—7.

2:00—Man Behind the Gun (1952 Randolph Scott)—11.

7:00—West Point Story (hopeless 1950 cadet musical). Cagney, Virginia Mayo—11.

C-9:00—Way Way Out (1966 Jerry Lewis)—8.

9:00—Death Ray of Dr. Mabuse (Dumb 1960 dubber). Zap it—13.

● 9:30—The Haunting (excellent 1963 horror). Julie Harris, Claire Bloom, Richard Johnson. My favorite scary film, and dig that breathing door—12.

11:00—Beast from 20,000 Fathoms (1953 so-bad-it's-sci-fi)—11.

11:00—Knights of the Black Cross (1962 dubber). Not funny, but just bad—13.

11:15—John Loves Mary (1949 soaper, not too bad), Ronald Reagan, Patricia Neal. Much of it is painful but it has a few good moments—4.

C-11:15—Way Way Out (see 9:00)—6.

C-11:15—Night of the Generals (1967 war mystery). Peter O'Toole, Omar Sharif, many more. Far too long but not too bad—8.

C-11:30—House of Bamboo (overviolent 1955 gangsters), Robert Ryan, Robert Stack—12.

12:00—Raw Wind in Eden (sub-par 1958 island romance), Esther Williams, Jeff Chandler. Jaw muscles flex but nobody acts—7.

1:00 a.m.—We Dive at Dawn (1942 English war drama), John Mills, Eric Portman. An antique but still the best of the late shows—4.

1:05—His Butler's Sister (1943 Deanna Durbin)—5.

1:30—Hell's Half Acre (suspenseless 1965 suspense), Evelyn Keyes, Wendell Corey. What? You never heard of Deanna Durbin?—12.

Saturday Radio

11:00 a.m.—The CBC's weekly program of ballet music includes Easdale's Red Shoes. That is, he wrote it and Moira Shearer wore them—CBU-FM (105.7).

2:00 p.m.—Encore repeats highlights from James Bannerman's Beachcomber, with Tony Van Bridge as Bannerman and Barry Morse as everyone else—CBU-FM.

8:05—Gala: Debussy's La Mer—CFMS (98.5).

Sunday Highlights

C-4:00 p.m.—The CBC shows a NET special of last fall, Who Invited Us? It's a criticism of U.S. foreign policy—2, 6.

6:30—NET reruns To Save Tomorrow, a series about mental illness—9.

● C-9:00—The Fabulous 60s reaches 1966—8.

C-10:00—The Boston Pops concert features the Moog Synthesizer. If you've never heard it, now's your chance—9.

C-10:30—A report on the second Arctic trip of the oil tanker Manhattan—2, 6.

Sunday Sport

C-1:30 p.m.—End of the Avco golf event—5.

C-2:30—Kaleidosport: Water skiing—2.

C-4:00—A film about 1969 Davis Cup tennis—12.

Sunday Movies

10:30 a.m.—Treasure of Lost Canyon (1952 adventure), William Powell. Young boys will like it—7.

2:00 p.m.—Mighty Crusaders (1962 dubber). A yawn—4.

2:30—Blondie's Big Deal (1949). It isn't—6, 8.

2:30—Happy Is the Bride (fairish 1959 English comedy), Ian Carmichael, Janette Scott—12.

3:00—Four Guns to the Border (1954 western, not much), Rory Calhoun, Walter Brennan—7.

4:30—Naughty 90s (1945 Abbott and Costello)—5.

C-9:00—Night of the Generals (1967 war mystery, fairly good but too long), Peter O'Toole, Omar Sharif, scads more—4.

C-11:35—Night of the Generals (again)—6.

Sunday Radio

2:00 p.m.—A Canadian PGA golf report—CBU (690).

5:05—Remember When features everybody from Dr. Dafoe and Henry Ford to Fibber McGee and Stop the Music—CJVI (900).

6:00—Something to Say: Marlene Dietrich—CBU.

7:35—Opera Theatre has the Maria Callas-Nicolai Gedda recording of Carmen—CBU-FM (105.7).

8:00—The weekly CBC program report—CBU.

8:05—Gala is a Boston Pops concert, mostly Rhapsody in Blue—CFMS (98.5).

Winning Contract

By HOWARD and BEE SCHENKEN

During the recent world pairs championship in Stockholm we were delighted to renew our old friendship with Baron Egmont von Dewitz of Cologne, Germany, who has probably represented his country internationally more times than any other player.

Despite being a High Court judge, "Eggy" is supremely lighthearted and his speciality at the bridge table is stealing tricks by some kind of subterfuge or quick-witted move.

The longest cigarette-holder in international bridge wagged approvingly as he showed us this deal which he played in a previous world pairs championship against that great player and theorist, Alvin Roth of New York.

Roth opened with a weak two-diamond bid on the East cards but Eggy speedily arrived at a contract of six hearts. West led the ten of diamonds and declarer saw at once that his only real hope was to establish a diamond trick in dummy for a club discard.

Accordingly Eggy covered the ten with the queen! East not unnaturally put on the king and after drawing two rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, von Dewitz next led the three of diamonds.

Time now stood still while Eggy waited to see if his plan would work. But after a long, long huddle, Roth decided to credit declarer with the eight of diamonds.

Accordinly, he went in with the jack, ruffed by declarer who was now able to claim his twelfth trick with dummy's nine of diamonds.

Bullet Strikes RCMP Officer

PORT ALBERNI — An RCMP constable was struck in the right cheek by a 22-calibre rifle bullet while standing on the roadway in the Number Two Indian Reserve about 4:35 p.m. Friday.

RCMP spokesmen said Constable W. A. Van De Braak, 28, of 1111 Kendall, was taken to West Coast General Hospital and discharged after being treated for minor injuries.
pending, RCMP said.

They said the incident began when an RCMP constable's hat was struck by a bullet whizzed through the windshield of the patrol car he was in about 4:35 p.m.

The constable and another policeman were approaching the Indian reserve on a routine call when the shooting occurred, RCMP said.

Forest Fires Near Record

The forest fire hazard in the Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, has been rated as moderate to high for this weekend by the B.C. Forest Service.

A forest service spokesman said the moderate hazard areas on Vancouver Island were on the West Coast where there had been some rain and morning fogs.

The weekly report indicates that an all-time record of $7 million spent to fight 3,216 fires in 1967 could be broken this year.

Total fire fighting cost so far this year is $6,585,000 to fight 3,098 fires and there are indications the hot dry weather that is ideal for forest fires will continue for some time.

The forest service said fire fighting costs for the week were $416,000. There were no forest fires burning on the Island Friday night.

Two Buildings Go to Site For Retarded

•

The centre is expected to open in the autumn.

Mrs. Hazel Fee of Duncan Association for Mentally Retarded, who is building committee chairman, said this week that the old sheltered workshop would close after the centre opened.

The workshop, employing about 11 people, has been operating at Trunk Road and the Trans-Canada Highway for several years.

The sectional buildings which will be used were former Crofton bunkhouses. Twenty-eight were given to the association by Crofton Pulp and Paper Ltd., a subsidiary of B.C. Forest Products.

Land for the centre has been leased to the group by North Cowichan for $1 a year.

Mrs. Fee said the cost of moving the bunkhouse sections, levelling the ground and enclosing the section would be $12,000. Thirteen of the sections were being sold by the association to help defray expenses.

Driver Hurt Near Tofino

UCLUELET — Brian Edward Willard, 25, of Coquitlam, is in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria with a dislocated neck received Tuesday in a car accident on Long Beach Road, hospital authorities said.

Ucluelet RCMP said Willard was transferred by helicopter Wednesday from Tofino Hospital to Royal Jubilee Hospital.

They said Willard was thrown for 17 feet on the road, and Steve Chequer, from Haney, a passenger in the car, was pinned under the car.

Chequer was released from Tofino hospital later Tuesday night after being treated for minor injuries received in the mishap, RCMP said.

FBI Verdict: No Sniper At Kent State

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — A staff member of the president's commission on campus unrest said Friday an FBI investigation uncovered no evidence that any person "other than a guardsman" fired a shot at Kent State University when four students were killed.

"The FBI conducted an intensive search for any evidence dealing with the possibility of the existence of a sniper, including an investigation around the firing line for non-military bullets," said George Warren.

"The evidence indicates that there was no person other than a guardsman who discharged a firearm on May 4, 1970."

The Ohio National Guard reported shortly after the shootings that the guardsmen volley was touched off by a sniper. Guard officials said later an investigation failed to prove the existence of a sniper.

The commission concluded three days of hearings Friday.

Warren also said an investigation by campus patrolmen showed a .38-calibre pistol found at the scene had not been fired and a photographer who had been on top of a building near the scene had been cleared of any possible sniping charges.

"There was a photographer on the roof of Taylor Hall at the time of the shootings," Warren said. "It is our information that this photographer had a camera mounted on a rifle stock which could have looked like a weapon. A subsequent investigation showed that he did not have a firearm and was up there to take pictures."

A student who said he was an eyewitness to the shooting also testified Friday. He said he saw a National Guard officer raise and then lower his hand, which contained a .45-calibre pistol, seconds before the firing began.

"In my opinion he gave some sort of hand signal to fire," said James Woodring Jr., of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. "He started firing point-blank into the ground."

Peace Talks Set to Go Next Week

United Press International

Middle East peace talks are expected to begin in New York next week under the auspices of mediator Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden unless unforeseen developments intervene, diplomatic sources said at the United Nations Friday.

The sources said Israel most likely would appoint at a Sunday cabinet meeting UN ambassador Joseph Tekoah, as the representative to the Jarring talks despite the Israeli position that they should be held at foreign ministers' level.

* * *

There was an uncomfirmed possibility that the negotiator could be Israel's Washington ambassador, Yitzak Rabin, but in any case it would be an ambassador on the understanding that in their later stage the talks could be elevated to foreign ministers' level.

Jarring was expected to announce the date of his talks sometime early next week, possibly Tuesday, the sources said.

Tekoah himself, after a brief meeting with Jarring, declined to confirm Jerusalem reports that he might be appointed the negotiator. "I don't expect anything," he said. "I just follow instructions."

* * *

The Arabs, in appointing their UN ambassadors for the talks — the United Arab Republic's Mohammed Hassan El-Zayat and Jordan's Muhammad H. El-Pyva — were known to have agreed to a subsequent elevation of the talks to foreign ministers' level if developments after the opening stage so warrant.

The foreign ministers of the countries concerned — and many others — were expected to come to New York in any case by Sept. 15 when the UN General Assembly's 25th session is scheduled to begin.

Israel complained again Friday that Egypt is continuing grave violations of the Middle East cease fire by building defensive missile sites near the Suez canal.

Viet Cong Halted

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian artillery and air strikes Friday apparently halted a powerful North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault that had moved within six miles of Phnom Penh.

The government moved two battalions into the tiny village of Prek Krabao to replace Cambodian defenders who had been on the line for two nights and two days of heavy fighting.

* * *

Four 120-millimetre artillery pieces were moved north of this Cambodian capital to provide continued support for government forces that had pulled southward from the battle area in what was called a tactical retreat.

Although the government controlled Prek Krabao, six miles northeast of Phnom Penh, the Communists held the area to the north where the fighting was centred Thursday.

* * *

The government military spokesman, Maj. Am Rong, said a few mortars were fired at Cambodian lines across the Mekong River "to check our defences and draw them out."

Although the main Communist force was within rocket range of the capital,

Solar System Similar To Earth's, Far Away

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — A British scientist said Friday an American space satellite has helped discover what appears to be a solar system similar to Earth's 30 quadrillion miles away.

Zdenek Kopal, professor of astronomy at Manchester University, told the international astronomical meeting the centre of the system was a one-million-year-old star named Epsilon Aurigae.

Kopal said the star is surrounded by a transparent disc of matter, four billion miles across, apparently made up of large solid particles, a number already the size of small planets.

It has been known for about 40 years there was something unusual about Epsilon Aurigae, he said, but recent observations from the U.S. satellite OAO-2, an earth-orbiting astronomical observatory, show the star to be the centre of a solar system.

One surprising feature about the system, Kopal said, is that the temperature in the newly-found system reaches at most 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, about the same as the sunlit side of the moon.

Intensive Search Begun After Two Jets Collide

BAGOTVILLE, Que. (UPI) —The pilot of one of two CF-5 supersonic jets which collided in flight Friday was in hospital Friday night suffering from shock and bruises, while an air and ground search continued to hunt the second pilot in rough country 65 miles north of Bagotville.

Lt. Marc Fortier, 23, of Quebec City, ejected from his jet and parachuted safely to the ground. A third pilot said after the crash he saw two parachutes drop into the clouds.

Fortier was found late Friday and returned to Canadian Forces Base Bagotville, where he and the missing man, Capt. Denis Lambert, 35, are stationed.

A spokesman said Fortier was able to walk off the rescue helicopter that carried him back to Bagotville, but was later taken to hospital with shock and bruises and contusions suffered while bailing out.

The search for Lambert, a married man with two daughters, has been pinpointed in "rough bush territory," the spokesman said. He said the area of the search was determined by the discovery of Fortier and the two wrecked jets.

The collision came as the two, along with the CF-5 pilot who saw the parachutes, were performing a high-level exercise. All three belong to the 433 Tactical Squadron stationed at CFB Bagotville, which is located on the Saguenay River some 200 miles north of Montreal.

The spokesman said the search for Lambert included several aircraft, among them Otters, DC-3 Dakotas, two types of helicopters, T-33 jets, CF-5s and Voodoo jets. At any given time, he said, as many as 10 different planes might be involved.

He said a ground search party was working in the area but was not expected to take an active part in the search until daybreak. Overnight, the search was curtailed somewhat, he said, but at least one helicopter continued to work out of a nearby lumber camp airstrip.

Peterson Bid Accepted

First IWA Vote Rejects Offer

By DON COLLINS

At least one group of forest workers has already turned down the Nemetz contract proposal for the B.C. Coast region, the Colonist learned Friday night.

This was the result of a vote organized quickly at one woods operation before IWA negotiators had agreed to meet with Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, sources said.

The negotiating committee, reportedly dogged by troubles of its own and under new leadership, said it had accepted Peterson's request Friday for a meeting to discuss the 28-page report turned out by Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz.

* * *

Peterson asked during the day that both the union and industry refrain from voting pending further study of the report's implications.

The industry, represented by Forest Industrial Relations, has said it will comply with the request to study the report thoroughly, but has not indicated yet whether it intends to meet with Peterson.

Jack MacKenzie, new chairman and spokesman for the union's negotiating committee, said in a statement the union had accepted the labor minister's invitation and that "we have proposed 2 p.m. on Monday because of the urgency for an early solution to this problem."

* * *

MacKenzie, vice-president of the IWA western region, has replaced Jack Moore in the top committee role. Moore, who is president of the western region, was said to have resigned as both chairman and spokesman Thursday after the committee's decision to recommend rejection of the proposed package.

He was one of a minority on the committee favoring acceptance. He remains on the committee as a regular member.

One well-informed labor figure said late Friday: "There has been ill feeling over someone in the union conferring with government officials on the matter — and doing so on an individual basis.

* * *

"It now definitely appears the government had been led to believe there would be a recommendation for acceptance of the proposals."

This was given as the reason for the surprised reaction of Peterson and Premier Bennett when rejection was recommended.

Bennett said Thursday he

Trudeau Back, Busy

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau returned to Ottawa Friday from a week of Caribbean swimming and skin-diving and immediately presided at a late afternoon cabinet meeting.

The continuing postal contract deadlock and the stepped-up pace of rotating strikes by the postmen was expected to be one of the main issues discussed at the cabinet meeting.

A source in Trudeau's office said all ministers would be reporting to the prime minister on what had transpired in their respective fields during his absence.

Trudeau was whisked to the meeting directly after his plane arrived late in the afternoon.

Before taking the week of vacation Trudeau said the postal situation could not be allowed to continue much longer in its present state.

City Becomes Battleground

KATMANDU (UPI) — Fighting Communist and right-wing forces were reported Friday to have turned the industrial city of Biratnagar, 180 miles southeast of Katmandu, into a virtual battleground. Anti-Communist test against the Soviet occupation were only moderately effective in the Czech capital. There were fewer people in the stores, on the streetcars and in the streets than is

SFU Given Ultimatum

BURNABY (CP) — The executive of the Simon Fraser University Alumni Association said Friday it will demand the resignation of SFU's president and board of governors unless eight suspended professors are reinstated. The executive also will stop accepting donations for university use.

Dismissal proceedings and investigations have already cost taxpayers $200,000, the association charges.

Postmen Return To Work

The longest and most severe of the mail strikes to cripple B.C. services since the national postal dispute began was to be over by this morning.

The 48-hour stoppage, replacing the usual 24-hour rotation strikes, covered most of B.C. and was to finish as it had begun — on a staggered system.

* * *

The first of metropolitan Vancouver's 1,700 mail workers began reporting for work by 8:30 p.m. Friday and by this morning their counterparts were to be back on the job across the province.

The first workers were expected at the Victoria post office by 5 a.m.

But with the end coming when it did, it meant no mail delivery between Wednesday and next Monday.

* * *

The strike pattern across the country was reported more intense Friday than it had been on any day since the dispute began, with some 13,832 of the 27,000 mail workers off the job at 146 post offices. The government suspended operations at another 71 offices employing 1,291 workers.

Prime Minister Trudeau said in Ottawa that the government was prepared to give mediator Thomas O'Connor a week to 10 days to achieve results.

Quiet Prague Remembers

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

PRAGUE (LAT) — Complete calm burdened by an overwhelming mixture of apathy and fear prevailed throughout Czechoslovakia Friday on the second anniversary of the invasion of the country by the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact troops.

A steady, day-long drizzle over most of the country seemed appropriate to the mood of the populace which generally ignored official praise of the "timely and friendly assistance" of the Soviet forces which continue to occupy the country since they stormed in on Aug. 21, 1968, to crush the Communist reform movement of Alexander Dubcek.

Margaret's Portrait 'Like Tragic Queen'

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and the royal family toasted her 40th birthday with vintage champagne Friday while controversy flared over a new oil portrait of her.

* * *

Margaret was vacationing at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with husband Lord Snowdon, their two children and the rest of the British royal family. Rain pelted the castle ramparts but the champagne flowed.

The portrait by British artist Bryan Organ, 35, is the first major royal family portrait in abstract style. British newspapers and the public generally scorned it. Art students saw it as good riddance to the "starchy, still-life image of royals."

* * *

A close associate of Margaret's photographer husband said, "I understand she is delighted with the portrait." The princess herself tapped Organ for the job and gave him complete freedom of expression, the artist told newsmen.

Greek Prosecutor Asks Indictment of Magnate

Niarchos

ATHENS (UPI) — The Piraeus public prosecutor Friday night asked for the indictment of shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos on a charge of causing "fatal injuries" to his wife.

Evgenia Niarchos, 44, died early on May 4, at Spetsopoula, the private island resort of her husband. A board of medical experts appointed to examine an autopsy report after her death agreed she died of barbiturate poisoning.

But Piraeus prosecutor Constantinos Fafoutis said Friday night, "I have asked the judiciary board to indict Stavros Niarchos for causing fatal injuries to his wife Evgenia, the night of third to the fourth of May."

Development Cost Pegged at $300,000

Trent Supplies Royston Water Alternative

COURTENAY — If Royston residents are willing to pay the cost, they will be able to have a new water supply from the Trent River, according to a recent engineering report.

The work of bringing down the water is estimated at $300,000.

Webb engineering, North Vancouver, has told improvement district trustees "with the provision of distribution system storage, control of peak use, elimination of possible leakage, it is possible that the Trent River will supply an adequate water volume for several years of development.

"However, unless adequate flows are available for the anticipated life of the system, other alternatives must be explored."

Cumberland had told Royston that it proposes to institute a renovation waterworks program which will cost an estimated $120,000 to provide a supply until 1976.

Consequently, Royston rates would be raised.

Trustees have been informed that a meeting is scheduled for Wednesday when costs will be outlined.

About two months ago, Cumberland council had agreed in principle to sell its system to the regional board and buy back bulk water, but later decided against the idea. No reason was given for the change of decision.

★ ★ ★

The Webb report says that the "Trent River, augmented by diversion from the Tsable River, satisfies the criteria of an adequate water supply source."

Without augmentation, however, the Trent River scheme would be a risky operation, the report pointed out.

A survey made by the engineers stressed an excessive use of water by Royston residents.

The report says: "The recorded flow rates are approximately 50 per cent higher than usual averages. It was further suggested that it might be caused through a large unmetered use of water or through leakage.

There is another applicant for water storage and diversion on the Tsable River — Sooke Forest Products, Victoria — but the report states that an agreement could be reached with the company.

A preliminary estimate of costs for initial works, included $88,500 for an intake, diversion weir and settling basin on the Trent; $155,000 for 19,000 feet of supply main and a 50,000 gallon storage tank; $8,500 to divert water from Bloedel Creek to provide an adequate dry-weather source through Idle Creek to the Trent River.

Youth's Tip on Travelling:

Don't Wear Sunglasses While Hitching Rides

By DON GAIN

The faces were earnest; the voices were soft; the talk was serious.

"I've just spent four weeks hitchhiking around the country," said a youth from Crofton. "You learn things fast when you're 2,000 miles from home and you're out there on the highway."

"But I'd like to see a list of hints compiled. For instance, you shouldn't wear sunglasses when you're hitchhiking. People won't pick you up if they can't see the whites of your eyes."

A girl from Prince George spoke up. "If you're stranded on the highway beside a forest, you don't need to go hungry," she said, "provided you know what you can eat and what you can't."

"That's right," said the youth. "There are lots of things you can eat in the forest, but not along the highway, where it's been sprayed."

★ ★ ★

"Are there many kids coming here from the States?" the girl asked. "Kids wanting to homestead but not knowing where they're going or what to do when they get there?"

"If Cool-Aid could help them . . ." she went on.

Don Bridgeman, who is on the Victoria Cool-Aid summer staff, said Cool-Aid was helping such people.

"The only place I was hassled was in Wisconsin," said the youth from Crofton. "I flashed a peace sign at a policeman, and he didn't like it. But at Mosport in Ontario where they had the rock festival, the police were just great. They gave co-operation all the way."

The speakers were all delegates to the first provincial conference of the new Youth Helping Yough organizations meeting at the Victoria YM-YWCA in a one-day session Friday.

Friday afternoon they split into groups of six or seven and carried on discussions. Friday night they had a plenary session and summed up what they had accomplished.

"Basically," said Bridgeman, "we discussed the mechanics of the different Cool-Aid organizations, what they do, what they don't do and what they would like to do.

"One thing I hope will become a reality is the visiting of staff persons from one Cool-Aid to another to exchange ideas. We got a really good idea today of how the various Cool-Aids work. We didn't make any firm decisions, but we tossed a lot of information around."

★ ★ ★

The federal government sent two observers to the conference.

Kelly Ip of the state department came from his Vancouver office to talk to the young people.

He asked one group if all the Cool-Aids in Canada should share the same philosophy.

"No," was the emphatic answer.

"There would be a danger in a Canada-wide Cool-Aid," said one young man. "I could see one branch getting into trouble, and the government would have to close them all down. You can't handle it on a national level. Each one has to be a part of the local community."

★ ★ ★

This reporter asked Ip what he thought of Victoria Cool-Aid. He said he had been particularly interested in the exchange project this summer with young people in Quebec. It worked out "very favorably" he said.

Vicky Radley, who works for the national health and welfare department doing research on transient youth, said she travels all over the province and she hasn't found a Cool-Aid that does better work than Victoria's.

"We're not just interested in finding a bed for tonight or tomorrow night," he explained. "We're working on bigger issues — where is the situation heading, how can we change it, should we continue as we are or make major shifts?"

Adair said the economic situation was of great concern. "A lot of these young people aren't doing what they're doing just for the kicks," he went on.

"Many of them are dropping out of school because they see their friends graduating and not finding jobs. And the work force is getting smaller and smaller."

Handicapped Help

Two Buildings Go to Site For Retarded

The centre is expected to open in the autumn.

Mrs. Hazel Fee of Duncan Association for Mentally Retarded, who is building committee chairman, said this week that the old sheltered workshop would close after the centre opened.

★ ★ ★

The workshop, employing about 11 people, has been operating at Trunk Road and the Trans-Canada Highway for several years.

The sectional buildings which will be used were former Crofton bunkhouses. Twenty-eight were given to the association by Crofton Pulp and Paper Ltd., a subsidiary of B.C. Forest Products.

Land for the centre has been leased to the group by North Cowichan for $1 a year.

Mrs. Fee said the cost of moving the bunkhouse sections, levelling the ground and enclosing the section would be $12,000. Thirteen of the sections were being sold by the association to help defray expenses.

Mrs. Fee said that plumbing, heating and lighting would have to be installed before the centre could open. Architects had estimated the total cost of setting it up at $53,000. She said that without the bunkhouse contribution, costs would have been considerably higher.

★ ★ ★

"It was a terrific donation with no strings attached," she said.

Tom Oldfield, association publicity chairman, said: "We have to drive ahead for additional funds to get services installed, and we have already gone to several large firms and asked for help."

He said Ocean Cement had agreed to donate all the cement which would be needed.

Oldfield said the centre would give handicapped and mentally retarded people a place in the community. He said that several different kinds of jobs could be done by employees at the centre and more work was being sought. Eventually it was planned to do small repair work.

Mrs. Fee said the centre would provide incentive and employment for those who would otherwise be unable to work.

Forest Fires Near Record

The forest fire hazard in the Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, has been rated as moderate to high for this weekend by the B.C. Forest Service.

A forest service spokesman said the moderate hazard areas on Vancouver Island were on the West Coast where there had been some rain and morning fogs.

The weekly report indicates that an all-time record of $7 million spent to fight 3,216 fires in 1967 could be broken this year.

Total fire fighting cost so far this year is $6,585,000 to fight 3,098 fires and there are indications the hot dry weather that is ideal for forest fires will continue for some time.

The forest service said fire fighting costs for the week were $416,000. There were no forest fires burning on the Island Friday night.

Texas Hears About Tubs

Judy Spreads Word

By LYNNE WALLER

NANAIMO — The word of bathtubbing has spread to Texas, this time by way of top-ranking Nanaimo Girl Guide Judy Command.

Judy, 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Command of 925 St. David Street, was in the United States for a seven-week international Girl Scout program.

Teamed up with Littlefield, Tex. senior Girl Scout Jean Keeling, Judy toured Texas, Panhandle and in Lubbock helped co-ordinate a day camp for 75 school children.

She was made an honorary citizen of Lubbock by Mayor J. H. Granberry to whom she presented a bathtub sent by Nanaimo Mayor Frank Ney.

During the first three weeks of the tour, Judy was in New York for training and orientation with 24 U.S. guides and 23 international guides.

Judy, who has the gold cord, the highest honor for a Girl Guide, spent a day with Lady Baden-Powell at the Edith Macy Training Centre in Pleasantville, N.Y.

Judy, a guide for 10 years, is now an assistant leader. She will continue in Girl Guides when she goes to university after finishing Grade 12 this year at Nanaimo senior high.

Lubbock is the Panhandle's Hub City as Nanaimo is the Island's Hub City, Judy said.

She said Texans were fascinated by the summer bathtub races. Grantree returned greetings to Ney with a miniature cotton bale.

Judy was selected from about 200 B.C. girls. Then she and another Canadian delegate were picked at the national level.

Port Alberni Project

Fast Action Wanted On Low-Rent Homes

PORT ALBERNI — Ald. George McKnight, chairman of Port Alberni low-rental housing committee, has issued a statement urging immediate action on the city's application to build 20 subsidized housing units in the Wallace and Kendall Street area.

The statement said the housing committee "rejects the argument put forward by petitioners opposing the application for a low-rental housing project and urges city council to proceed as quickly as possible with the application as originally proposed."

Failure to act quickly, the committee warned, could result in loss of the project altogether, since the current allotment of money for housing purposes by the federal government will be taken up very rapidly by cities all across Canada.

"Arguments put forward by the petitioners that property values would be affected cannot be supported by facts," the statement said.

"There is no reason to believe that the addition of another 20 units of town housing in the same area will in any way affect property values south of Wallace Street.

"Money for this project can be had from funds already allotted by the federal government if we act quickly enough. People are already in dire need and living in substandard housing and their need for a decent place to live is desperate and beyond their means."

McKnight said during discussion of the committee's statement that many people apparently fail to realize that the city's welfare department is already subsidizing housing for welfare recipients in all areas of the city, including many of the so-called prime residential areas, because there is such a shortage of housing available at rents within the welfare recipient's budget.

"People also fail to realize that a maximum of seven out of the 20 units would be occupied by people on welfare, if that is what they are worried about.

"The rest must, by law, go to others supporting themselves on low income. These could include people forced by ill health to retire early on small pensions, people on workmen's compensation pensions, apprentices and working mothers faced with the sole responsibility for their children's care.

"The majority of them would be people struggling to stay off welfare, as well as well-screened welfare recipients.

"Wherever we decide to put this housing, there is almost certain to be some complaint at first. I repeat, simple human compassion and consideration for the welfare of those in our community who need this housing so badly should compel us all to support this project and urge its completion at the earliest possible time," McKnight said.

A petition signed by 80 residents and taxpayers opposing the area proposed for the housing was presented to city council. Council members have received a continuing flow of telephone calls.

Bullet Strikes RCMP Officer

PORT ALBERNI — An RCMP constable was struck in the right cheek by a 22-calibre rifle bullet while standing on the roadway in the Number Two Indian Reserve about 4:35 p.m. Friday.

RCMP spokesmen said Constable W. A. Van De Braak, 28, of 1111 Kendall, was taken to West Coast General Hospital and discharged after being treated for minor injuries.

A 28-year-old man was arrested and charges are pending, RCMP said.

They said the incident began when an RCMP constable's hat was struck by a bullet whizzed through the windshield of the patrol car he was in about 4:35 p.m.

The constable and another policeman were approaching the Indian reserve on a routine call when the shooting occurred, RCMP said.

A Little English Went a Long Way

Those are all the words he needed to do a simple translation of the New Testament for persons anywhere in the world who have trouble reading English.

The New Life Testament, recently off the presses of the Christian Literatures Foundation in Cany, Ore., is the result of several years work in substituting universally known words for difficult words and passages of the King James version.

Gleason Ledyard and his wife Kathryn, moved to Canby 3½ years ago after trudging their way through the deep snows of the Canadian Arctic during 14 years as missionaries to the Eskimos.

★ ★ ★

That experience and other travels in more than 40 countries taught Ledyard that, besides the Eskimos, there are millions of persons for whom English is a second language.

Even in the United States, the former missionary realized, there are poeple lacking in education who could benefit from a simplified translation of the Boble.

Word by word, Ledyard evaluated how the New Testament might be understood—or misunderstood—by persons unfamiliar with bibilcal times and ideas.

"Compassion" was turned into "loving pity."

A "bondswoman" became the phrase "woman who was owned by someone and who had to do whatever she was told."

A "hypocrite" was identified as "you who pretend to be someone you are not."

"Corruptiole" became "that which dies," while "Ark of the Covenant" was described as "the special box that held the Old Way of Worship."

The King James version of this difficult passage in Romans 7:23-24 reads: "But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O wretched man that I am: Who will deliver me from the body of this death?"

★ ★ ★

The New Life Testament gives the same passage like this: "But there is a different law at work deep inside of me that fights with my mind. This law of sin holds me in its power because sin is still in me. There is no happiness in me: Who can set me free from my sinful old self?"

The typeface in Ledyard's translation is large, and there are headings every time the New Teatament changes subjects of brings in new incidents. Maps and a list of defined terms are in the back.

An edition for children is 20 pages longer, using the same text but with more illustrations.

Pope: Don't Decry Faith

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul has exhorted Roman Catholics in Hungary not to renounce their faith and church history.

In what were apparently intended as words of comfort to two million Catholics living in a Communist society, the pontiff said that while the external circumstances of civil life change, the church is immutable.

The remarks were contained in an apostolic letter to the Hungarian Catholics, sent to commemorate the 1,000th anniversary Thursday of the birth of St. Stephen, founder of the kingdom of Hungary and of the church there.

Although the Holy See's relations with the Hungarian regime have deteriorated in recent years, the Pope's letter adopted a soft tone which observers here saw as conforming with the Vatican's conciliatory stance toward Communists.

Churchmen Slate Evangelic Study

OTTAWA (CP) — More than 600 delegates from 36 Protestant denominations will meet here next week to probe the meaning and role of evangelism.

Among the denominations to be represented at the Canadian Congress on Evangelism are the Anglican Church of Canada, the United Church, the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Baptist Federation of Canada, and smaller groups.

Rev. Leslie Tarr, a Baptist minister and public relations director for the congress, said the gathering will not be a "camp meeting."

"One of the primary aims is to find out what evangelism is."

The congress might help restore an emphasis on evangelism which had been discredited in the eyes of many church members because of "past excesses."

Among conference speakers will be Most Rev. Donald Coggan, Anglican archbishop of York, England and Dr. Leighton Ford, an associate of evangelist Dr. Billy Graham.

But Tarr said that "most of the action will be found in congress workshops."

One of the workshops is to centre on social questions — a weak point in Canadian evangelicalism in this century.

"Evangelicals should be in the vanguard of social progress," Tarr said.

The workshop will examine such issues as revolution, the classless society, nationalism and world federalism.

Rev. Ross Bailey, a United Church minister and a congress organizer, said that the idea for the congress sprang from the world congress on evangelism in Berlin three years ago.

Divine Mind Topic

One of the seven synonyms for God used in Christian Science is Mind, which is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Chambers and Pandora, at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday.

The nature of divine Mind will be explained in contrast to the belief that the human mind is a creative or governing power.

One of the Bible verses to be read is from Psalms: "Great is our Lord, and of great power; his understanding is infinite."

Other readings from the Bible illustrate the power of Mind utilized by Christ Jesus in healing the sick.

A citation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, discoverer and founder of Christian Science, reads:

"The basis of all health, sinlessness, and immortality is the great fact that God is the only Mind; and this Mind must be not merely believed, but it must be understood."

Edmundston Bishop Appointed

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul has appointed Rev. Fernand La Croix bishop of Edmundston, N.B. The 50-year-old La Croix previously served as superior general of the Congregation of Jesus and Mary (Eudists). He also headed the Eudist seminary at Limbour, Que.

All This from Junk

For United Methodist minister and artist Ralph Holdeman of New York, paints and brushes are nowhere. Instead, he wields oxyacetylene blowtorch and arc welder to sculpt Christ on cross from discarded steel, bronze, chrome and glass. Discarded material, he says, is like discarded lives — redeemable.

Patron Saints —Only One

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — The Vatican Friday published new instructions to bring up to date the veneration of saints in the Roman Catholic Church, including a controversial order that every country should have only one patron saint.

It says that from now on a nation, region, diocese, place, religious family or association shall be allowed only one patron saint.

Canada has two patron saints, according to the 1970 Catholic Almanac — St. Joseph and Ste. Anne.

The document also aims to abolish rhetoric and long-winded eulogies from prayers in honor of individual saints.

Also participating are Ira Munson, Gideon zone leader from the Vancouver area, as master of ceremonies and Douglas Bennett as song leader. Betty Gardiner of Vancouver will be guest vocal soloist.

Westminster Abbey To Demon Fighters

HONOLULU (CNS) — Name the faith and Hawaii has it — from The Ewa Assembly of God Church, advertising "help in fighting your demons," to Kawaihao church, "The Westminster Abbey of Hawaii."

The ancient religion of Hawaii ended in 1819. Kapu (taboos and special privileges for some) and heavy kahuna — rituals involving human sacrifice — were discontinued.

★ ★ ★

Old Hawaii developed a common life of sharing — in a big catch of fish or a baby's first birthday. From this evolved Hawaii's spirit of aloha, in a sense, a religious word. In the Islands, the exchange of cultures, food, dress and a genuine interest in others provides a perfect background for religions of all kinds.

The Church of England claims the first Christian service on Hawaiian soil: a funeral for one of Capt. James Cook's sailors.

The Eastern Orthodox church is another contender for first if the usual navy rules of holding religious services were followed when the Russians built a fort on Kauai.

French warships brought the first Roman Catholic priests. When Liholiho became king, an enterprising Catholic mission member began teaching him to read. They ended up playing cards.

The Hawaiian Evangelical Association of Congregational Christian Churches was the first organized group to come to the Islands. They developed an alphabet and taught the Hawaiians to read. The early missionaries' puritanical rules have softened through the years.

★ ★ ★

When the Filipinos docked, they were greeted by both Methodists and Congregationalists. The coming of the Portuguese strengthened the Roman Catholic church. Seamen's Bethel Church, originally built for English-speaking sailors, opened its arms to the Chinese.

Fussy Critter

To my mind, late summer and early fall is the best time of the year to plant up a new strawberry bed. By planting at this time of the year, the plants have lots of time to get themselves well and truly anchored in the soil and nicely established before growth stops in the late fall. And such plants may be permitted to carry a full crop of berries next year.

The first essential for a good strawberry bed is lots of humus in the soil. Hungarian gardeners, who are keen and expert growers of strawberries, dig in vast quantities of chopped straw, and I have sometimes wondered if this is how the strawberry got its name.

In our country it is more usual to get our humus from well-rotted manure or compost, and you'll need at least one bucketful per square yard. Dig deeply, adding the organic matter as you go, and if the subsoil appears dry, flood the bottom of your digging trench as the work progresses.

With this first digging completed, level the bed by raking, treading and raking again, then give the surface a top dressing of half a bucket of peat moss per square yard. Regarding fertilizer, the strawberry-wise Hungarians use half a cup of dried blood, one cup of bone meal and two cups of wood ashes per square yard.

Dried blood and wood ashes are not too easy to come by these days, so a pretty good substitute for the Hungarian formula is one cupful of ordinary chemical lawn fertilizer plus one cup of bone meal. If the plot has been recently stripped of old sod and soil pests are known to be troublesome, it is good insurance to add diazinon granuales at the rate of two tablespoonfuls per square yard.

With this mixutre applied evenly all over the surface of the new bed, dig it or rototill it in shallowly, mixing it intimately with the top six inches of soil.

Next, the soil should be firmed. You can use your lawn roller for this, or you can put on your biggest and heaviest boots and do a Charlie Chaplin shuffle all over the bed, so every square inch has received the benefit of your weight. Follow this with one final raking and you are ready to plant.

I allow three feet between the rows and 18 inches between the plants in the row. Use a trowel for planting, making a hole large enough to take the spread-out roots. Trim off the tips of the longer roots with a pair of scissors and remove about half the leaves, retaining just the central younger ones.

The strawberry is a fussy critter as to its depth of planting, and the crown should finish up just at soil level. If you plant too deeply, covering the entire growth or crown with soil, crown rot may develop. If too shallow, the roots may dry out.

I don't know of any plant that responds in a more dramatic fashion to "Planter's Punch" than the strawberry. This is my wife's name for a transplanting solution we use, usually Alginure of Dixon-Reid Vitamin B-1 or Transplantone in water; a good cupful of the solution is poured into each hole during the planting operation, finishing up with loose, dry soil on top.

★ ★ ★

Two years ago while planting strawberries I did half a row with plain water instead of Planter's Punch just to see whether I had been fooling myself with this planting technique. Within two weeks, the difference stuck out like a sore thumb and even my neighbor Ernie, who pooh-poohs all my little transplanting tricks, had to admit that the punch-treated plants had gotten away to a much better start. I think this is probably due to a root-stimulating hormone in the solution.

ARTHUR HOPPE

Life Isn't Simple

Once upon a time, there was a busy, frustrated man named Henry D. Thoreaubach who yearned, like most of us, for the simple life.

Henry's life was very complicated. At the office, he spent half his time deciding whom to saddle with the problems he'd been saddled with. The other half was devoted to seeing people he didn't want to see, phoning people he didn't want to phone, and writing people he wished would drop dead.

Being a busy man, he had many labor-saving devices. He had machines to chew up his garbage, wash his dishes, entertain his children, launder his clothes and brush his teeth. His hobby was laboring to repair them. It was very time-consuming.

But he loved his family. And he tried to schedule 12-minute chats with his children 6:18 p.m. daily and a romantic evening with his wife every other Wednesday — when he could squeeze them in.

Yet, somehow, Henry had the feeling he wasn't getting anywhere.

Well, one day Henry happened to read Thoreau's Walden Pond during his Great Books Reading Hour (every third Tuesday, 9 to 10 p.m.) "That," he cried "is the life for me!"

So he chucked his job sold his house bought an axe, ten pounds of nails and some fishhooks and set off to build a little log cabin in the wilderness.

He was lucky to find a nice 50-foot lot on a pond for only $19,500. And after he'd signed the mortgage, searched the title and assumed his pro-rata share of the bonded indebtedness for streets and sewers it was his.

Then he shouldered his axe and went off to chop down a tree. Unfortunately the Forest Service caught him. So after he paid his fine, he had to contract with the E-Z Credit Lumber Co. to deliver the logs. But he forgot a building permit.

The building inspector demanded studs on 16-inch centers. The plumbing inspector demanded enlarged toilet drains. The electrical inspector demanded No. 218a conduits. The health inspector . . . and when he tried to catch fish for his dinner he was socked $50 for failing to carry license.

That's when Henry said the hell with it, returned to the city and went on welfare. Here was the simple life he'd yearned for. He didn't do a thing all day long. "I am no longer busy and frustrated," said Henry after two months of it, "I am bored and frustrated."

Fortunately, Henry got a job making umbrellas. Red ones, blue ones, flowered ones. He liked making umbrellas. People need them. Besides, he didn't have to see people, phone people or write people he didn't want to see, phone or write. So he had lots of time on his hands.

★ ★ ★

He had time to picnic with his family, learn to play the piccolo, read Catch 22 in a single sitting, master Urdu, take long walks and, oh, a jillion other things. In fact, he didn't have any time at all. His life was soon twice as busy and complicated as it ever was.

But Henry didn't care. He was very, very happy.

Marilyn Beck — In Hollywood

Criticism Infuriates Director

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — A Man Called Horse director Elliot Silverstein has, as he puts it, "bitten down on the bullet" and endured the agony of the film's mixed reviews in painful silence.

Now he wants to blast out.

The rugged young movie executive, whose past credits include Cat Ballou, says he is tired of taking the brunt of the artistic criticism being hurled at Horse. He's also embarrassed about the entire project.

When we chatted on his elegant floating home — a yacht docked at Marina Del Rey — he made it known that his beef is with Cinema Center Studios, "who forced me into compromising from the start of production."

Elliot still winces when he recalls the evening the film was screened at the Directors' Guild for his show business peers and friends.

"Afterwards, they questioed as to why I had done some things and hadn't done others. I had to admit that most of the decisions had been taken out of my hands."

One of the decisions that most definitely wasn't his, "was that cliched battle scene. I was made to include it, the explanation being that distributors insist upon violence."

While the sun was setting lower and the temperature at the marina was becoming comfortably cool, Elliot was getting progressively hotter.

"It was some commercial-minded businessmen sitting in their ivory towers, who know nothing about art or moviemaking. Just sales! They were the ones who made the final decisions!

"And one of those judgments was to cut my working schedule from 90 days to 72, without ever checking with me.

"The film is doing well at the box office — and I will get my percentage of the profits — but commercial success doesn't always mean artistic success.

★ ★ ★

Now that Andre and Dory Previn are divorced, Mia Farrow decided she'll stay right with her guy when he takes off in mid-September for a tour of East Berlin, Holland, Russia and Poland. Mia, who'll be dropping the twins off in England before the jaunt, says she's particularly looking forward to seeing that other part of the world where few people know her — "and where there won't be a million photographers around." Mia felt terribly hounded by the hordes of papparazzi who followed her around during her visit to Hollywood with Andre this month.

SYDNEY HARRIS

A Cynical Axiom

Speaking of telephone companies, as I was a few weeks ago, a recent news item in the New York Times held me spellbound for 10 fascinating paragraphs.

It seems that two New York businessmen swindled the telephone company in the five years between 1962 and 1967, by making $146,000 worth of long-distance calls on a credit card, and not paying the bills.

This seems to substantiate the cynical axiom that if you are going to cheat, do it on a big scale. If you run a large enough bluff, you can go a long time before being detected.

If the ordinary phone subscriber fails to pay his bill for a month, he gets polite but firm letter from the company reminding him of his dereliction. If he lets it go another month, he is likely to get his phone yanked out, unless he can come up with a mighty plausible explanation for this "oversight."

But these two men, under a fancy company name, and with the obsequious co-operation of a district telephone manager, went on for five long years without making a single payment on their phone bill, which averaged out to nearly $30,000 a year.

Incidents such as this make it hard not to agree with those critics of our system who contend that we operate under a double standard — one set of rules for the ordinary citizen, and another for the affluent, or presumably affluent.

A maid who worked for us last year had her gas service shut off for some minor sum she was unable to pay because of illness in the family; and it took us weeks, working with various city and charitable groups, to get this service restored so that she could feed her children.

Contract buyers of houses — and thus the poorest homeowners — face eviction if they miss a monthly payment or two, and lose everything they have paid, in addition to the house, under most state laws. At the same time, affluent purchasers of hotel chains can pile up millions in charges and debts before being called to account — and if they go into bankruptcy, no punitive measures can be taken.

If capitalism is to remain viable, it must try to bring everyone into the mainstream of owning some property, or some comparable security. This cannot be done economically, so long as many laws favor those who already control property and assets. Though everyone has more today, the gap between the affluent and the indigent has not narrowed in the 40 years since the Depression, and a system cannot be said to be working well that does not help its lowest element.

School Work Moves

PORT ALBERNI — School board officials were heartened this week by what chairman Jack Whittall termed "a fairly optimistic report" from board engineer Jack Dyson and consulting engineers on the Klitsa junior high school project — now almost a full year behind schedule.

"Mr. Dyson is hopeful that we may, even now, come up with a mid-November or early December completion date for the school," Whittall said. "All trades involved are now back on the job, and in one respect, that of grounds development, we are actually ahead of schedule."

This situation improved when the crew working on grounds development was able to proceed uninterrupted during the long lay-off by construction workers during their recent dispute.

Now that the steel framework is up, walls are rising rapidly as masons work at full speed to get the building fully enclosed before wet weather in the fall.

Park Deed Near

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Development of about 50 acres of parkland on the Cowichan River may start soon, as a deed for a large tract is nearly completed.

The deed will cover 27 to 30 acres bought by Duncan Rotary Club several years ago for $10,000. The land was turned over to the city, but shifting river banks made boundaries difficult to define. This hurdle has now been removed.

The city already owns some property adjacent to McAdam Park that connects with the larger tract, which was given to Duncan for park development.

Duncan Ald. Martin Lukaitis, one of two aldermen representing council on Duncan recreation commission, said Friday the deal between Rotary Club and the city was initiated about 10 years ago by former Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson and Ald. Jim Saunders. Saunders is still on the council.

"Much credit should go to these two men and to the Duncan Rotary Club," Lukaitis said. "If the deed is finalized, we (the city) can proceed with the planning of the park.

"Last year we spent about $1,600 for the survey of the boundaries. Other than putting in some foot paths, we were not able to carry out any planning. We felt we should wait until the whole area was consolidated."

Lukaitis said he would prefer to retain the natural environment of the river park area.

★ ★ ★

"We already have been approached by different outdoors clubs to create more playing fields, but I am not in favor of hacking out all the wonderful trees. It takes such a long time for trees to grow."

He said there are already enough playing fields in this area. "What I would like to see is the establishment of picnic area.

"We also will approach the provincial government and find out whether it would be interested in putting in a Class A or Class B camping area.

"We are very fortunate to have such a wonderful, large acreage so close to the downtown centre, and I hope that future councils and recreation commissions will carry on with the beautification of the park area."

Lukaitis said the park complex has direct access to the Trans-Canada Highway near the silver bridge. The access is necessary for provincial park facilities.

Cleanup Planned

PORT ALBERNI — Port Alberni Society for Pollution and Environmental Control will conduct a cleanup of Rogers Creek at 10 a.m. Aug. 29. Volunteers are asked to bring boots and gloves as much of the cleanup will involve broken glass and litter. Work may continue Aug. 30.

Buyer Says Season For Herring Joke

PORT ALBERNI — A fish buyer in Port Alberni for a major west coast fish purchaser thinks the possibility of re-opening herring season is a joke.

The buyer said there just aren't enough grown herring, and the fisheries department should be able to see that. It was true that spawning had been very good, but "where are the grown herring?" he asked.

Woodward's fish and meat department manager Jim Rezak said there is an excellent demand for herring as food, as long as it is fresh herring.

Rezak said fresh herring sells readily at about 35 cents a pound uncleaned. But if the herring is frozen, there is no demand for it at all, he said.

A Port Alberni fisheries department official said the herring definitely appear to be recovering, but it is not economically feasible to start plant-up unless fishermen can be assured of a good supply of herring.

The official said most herring caught on the west coast goes to fish reduction plants for conversion to fertilizer. Efforts are being made to encourage more use of herring as food.

There had never been any curtailment on herring to be used as food. The ban had been on multi-ton catches for reduction plants.

9 IN MEMORIAM

SMITH—Edward Melville.
The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me: Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: Thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the House of the Lord for ever.—23rd Psalm.
—Fond memories, Karl and Elsie.

SMITH—Edward Melville
—Rest in Peace, Dear Edward.
And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe
Is life—There is no death.
—Lucy.

They are not lost
Who find the light of
Sun and stars and God.
—Your beloved Mother.

"Everything seen is transitory, all else is eternal. Emotions are so minute, they would only bring a smile to his face."

Schools Gain Life Courses

Family life education, a controversial topic that has been shelved by the B.C. government, will be extended this fall, into some of Greater Victoria's elementary classrooms after five successful years at the senior levels.

The Greater Victoria school board has appointed two full-time teachers for the topic that has been developed and co-ordinated by Dr. Elizabeth Patriarche. Other doctors have assisted in the program.

In a report that went to school trustees earlier this week, Mrs. Patriarche suggested family life courses might even extend to kindergarten classes. A program in human relations might also be offered at the Institute of Adult Studies, she said.

In 1965, Greater Victoria school board became a sex education pioneer in B.C. The discussions generally focussed on 13 and 14-year-olds.

As the success of the Victoria program became apparent, the B. C. School Trustees Association, B. C. Teachers' Federation and B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation asked the government to introduce a province-wide sex education course of studies.

Such a course of studies has been prepared by health and education experts and was submitted to Education Minister Donald Brothers in the spring of 1969.

Brothers this summer confirmed that he had the document but said he did not plan any action on it in the foreseeable future.

During the last school year, 2,510, or 95 per cent, of Greater Victoria Grade 8 students took the course. A survey by Mrs. Patriarche showed about half of them would have liked such a program at the elementary level, and about 70 per cent would have liked small group discussions.

"The program is now well accepted by parents, students and teachers as an inherent and desirable part of the curriculum and has proven of interest to other centres for the development of similar courses," Mrs. Patriarche said.

She suggests there is a need to lengthen the course so that more time may be spent discussing relationships in general as well as factual biological information.

"The understanding and acceptance of oneself and other human beings, indeed of all living processes, is an important aspect of human growth, development, learning and health," she said.

"It is my hope that the family life education programs will continue to expand and provide assistance to students and parents in this regard."

Brakes Applied Promptly To VD Cases

All who suspect they have either gonorrhea or syphilis and who appear at the board's Cook Street clinic receive antibiotics, whether or not they are confirmed cases of the disease.

It's what is called treating epidemiologically and officials expect that such an attack on venereal diseases, while not elliminating them, definitely keeps them under control.

Nevertheless Victoria, like elsewhere in North America, has had an increase in the number of reported VD cases this year.

During all of 1969, the health board's VD clinic treated 148 confirmed cases of gonorrhea and 11 confirmed cases of syphilis. During the first six months of this year alone there were 103 confirmed cases of gonorrhea and six persons with syphilis.

Giving everyone who appears at the clinic penicillin, tetracycline or ampicillin tablets or capsules after a blood sample has been taken for testing means that most contracts for the infections are eliminated in two or three days.

During last year, the metropolitan health board's clinic gave antibiotics to 505 persons. As an illustration of the increase in venereal disease, only 129 got drugs during 1963, before gonorrhea and syphilis started an epidemic curve in this province.

During those years, health authorities blamed the outbreak on large numbers of single men who had been uprooted from their normal places of residence to work in construction camps.

However, during recent years they have found that the main problems are with an influx of hippies that usually occurs during August.

Bylaw Rescinded

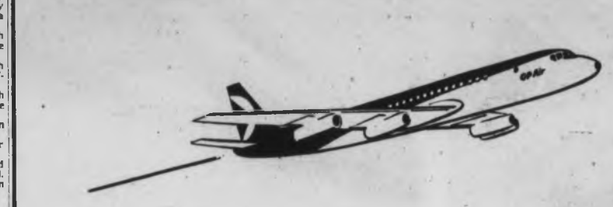

Mr. Justice George Gregory of the B.C. Supreme Court has ruled Oak Bay council didn't act in good faith in passing a bylaw that would have prevented Texaco Canada Ltd. from opening a service station on company property near Windsor Park.

He has ordered the municipality to rescind the bylaw.

In his ruling, Gregory also charged that Mayor Frances Elford made up her mind to pass the bylaw before hearing Texaco's arguments.

He termed the public hearing June 22 "little less than a farce and a waste of time."

Mayor Elford said council is "naturally disappointed." She said no decision would be made on a possible appeal until advice is received from the municipal solicitor at a closed meeting Monday.

Peace Talks Set to Go Next Week

United Press International

Middle East peace talks are expected to begin in New York next week under the auspices of mediator Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden unless unforeseen developments intervene, diplomatic sources said at the United Nations Friday.

The sources said Israel most likely would appoint at a Sunday cabinet meeting UN ambassador Joseph Tekoah, as the representative to the Jarring talks despite the Israeli position that they should be held at foreign ministers' level.

* * *

There was an uncomfirmed possibility that the negotiator could be Israel's Washington ambassador, Yitzak Rabin, but in any case it would be an ambassador on the understanding that in their later stage the talks could be elevated to foreign ministers' level.

Jarring was expected to announce the date of his talks sometime early next week, possibly Tuesday, the sources said.

Tekoah himself, after a brief meeting with Jarring, declined to confirm Jerusalem reports that he might be appointed the negotiator. "I don't expect anything," he said. "I just follow instructions."

* * *

The Arabs, in appointing their UN ambassadors for the talks — the United Arab Republic's Mohammed Hassan Bi-Zayat and Jordan's Muhammad H. El-Pyva — were known to have agreed to a subsequent elevation of the talks to foreign ministers' level if developments after the opening stage so warrant.

The foreign ministers of the countries concerned — and many others — were expected to come to New York in any case by Sept. 15 when the UN General Assembly's 25th session is scheduled to begin.

Israel complained again Friday that Egypt is continuing grave violations of the Middle East ceasefire by building defensive missile sites near the Suez canal.

Viet Cong Halted

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian artillery and air strikes Friday apparently halted a powerful North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault that had moved within six miles of Phnom Penh.

The government moved two battalions into the tiny village of Prek Krabao to replace Cambodian defenders who had been on the line for two nights and two days of heavy fighting.

* * *

Four 120-millimetre artillery pieces were moved north of this Cambodian capital to provide continued support for government forces that had pulled southward from the battle area in what was called a tactical retreat.

Although the government controlled Prek Krabao, six miles northeast of Phnom Penh, the Communists held the area to the north where the fighting was centred Thursday.

* * *

The government military spokesman, Maj. Am Rong, said a few mortars were fired at Cambodian lines across the Mekong River "to check our defences and draw them out."

Although the main Communist force was within rocket range of the capital,

Solar System Similar To Earth's, Far Away

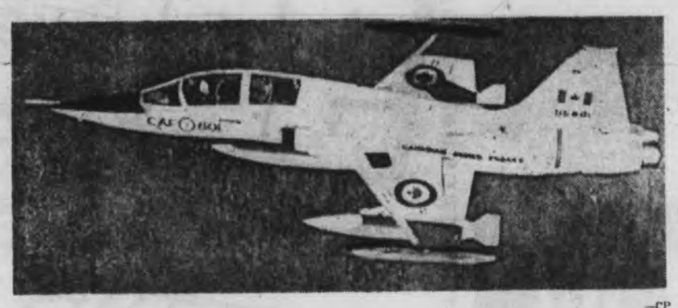

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — A British scientist said Friday an American space satellite has helped discover what appears to be a solar system similar to Earth's 30 quadrillion miles away.

Zdenek Kopal, professor of astronomy at Manchester University, told the international astronomical meeting the centre of the system was a one-million-year-old star named Epsilon Aurigae.

Kopal said the star is surrounded by a transparent disc of matter, four billion miles across, apparently made up of large solid particles, a number already the size of small planets.

It has been known for about 40 years there was something unusual about Epsilon Aurigae, he said, but recent observations from the U.S. satellite OAO-2, an earth-orbiting astronomical observatory, show the star to be the centre of a solar system.

One surprising feature about the system, Kopal said, is that the temperature in the newly-found system reaches at most 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, about the same as the sunlit side of the moon.

Intensive Search Begun After Two Jets Collide

BAGOTVILLE, Que. (UPI) —The pilot of one of two CF-5 supersonic jets which collided in flight Friday was in hospital Friday night suffering from shock and bruises, while an air and ground search continued for the second pilot in rough country 65 miles north of Bagotville.

Lt. Marc Fortier, 23, of Quebec City, ejected from his jet and parachuted safely to the ground. A third pilot said after the crash he saw two parachutes drop into the clouds.

Fortier was found late Friday and returned to Canadian Forces Base Bagotville, where he and the missing man, Capt. Denis Lambert, 35, are stationed.

A spokesman said Fortier was able to walk off the rescue helicopter that carried him back to Bagotville, but was later taken to hospital with shock and bruises and contusions suffered while bailing out.

The search for Lambert, a married man with two daughters, has been pinpointed in "rough bush territory," the spokesman said. He said the area of the search was determined by the discovery of Fortier and the two wrecked jets.

The collision came as the two, along with the CF-5 pilot who saw the parachutes, were performing a high-level exercise. All three belong to the 433 Tactical Squadron stationed at CFB Bagotville, which is located on the Saguenay River some 200 miles north of Montreal.

The spokesman said the search for Lambert included several aircraft, among them Otters, DC-3 Dakotas, two types of helicopters, T-33 jets, CF-5s and Voodoo jets. At any given time, he said, as many as 10 different planes might be involved.

He said a ground search party was working in the area but was not expected to take an active part in the search until daybreak. Overnight, the search was curtailed somewhat, he said, but at least one helicopter continued to work out of a nearby lumber camp airstrip.

Peterson's Plea

IWA Agrees To Parley

By DON COLLINS

At least one group of forest workers has already turned down the Nemetz contract proposal for the B.C. Coast region, the Colonist learned Friday night.

This was the result of a vote organized quickly at one woods operation before IWA negotiators had agreed to meet with Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, sources said.

The negotiating committee, reportedly dogged by troubles of its own and under new leadership, said it had accepted Peterson's request Friday for a meeting to discuss the 28-page report turned out by Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz.

* * *

Peterson asked during the day that both the union and industry refrain from voting pending further study of the report's implications.

The industry, represented by Forest Industrial Relations, has said it will comply with the request to study the report thoroughly, but has not indicated yet whether it intends to meet with Peterson.

Jack MacKenzie, new chairman and spokesman for the union's negotiating committee, said in a statement the union had accepted the labor minister's invitation and that "we have proposed 2 p.m. on Monday because of the urgency for an early solution to this problem."

* * *

MacKenzie, vice-president of the IWA western region, has replaced Jack Moore in the top committee role. Moore, who is president of the western region, was said to have resigned as both chairman and spokesman Thursday after the committee's decision to recommend rejection of the proposed package.

He was one of a minority on the committee favoring acceptance. He remains on the committee as a regular member.

One well-informed labor figure said late Friday: "There has been ill feeling over someone in the union conferring with government officials on the matter — and doing so on an individual basis.

* * *

"It now definitely appears the government had been led to believe there would be a recommendation for acceptance of the proposals."

This was given as the reason for the surprised reaction of Peterson and Premier Bennett when rejection was recommended.

Bennett said Thursday he

Trudeau Back, Busy

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau returned to Ottawa Friday from a week of Caribbean swimming and skin-diving and immediately presided at a late afternoon cabinet meeting.

The continuing postal contract deadlock and the stepped-up pace of rotating strikes by the postmen was expected to be one of the main issues discussed at the cabinet meeting.

A source in Trudeau's office said all ministers would be reporting to the prime minister on what had transpired in their respective fields during his absence.

Trudeau was whisked to the meeting directly after his plane arrived late in the afternoon.

Before taking the week of vacation Trudeau said the postal situation could not be allowed to continue much longer in its present state.

City Becomes Battleground

KATMANDU (UPI) — Fighting Communist and right-wing forces were reported Friday to have turned the industrial city of Biratnagar, 180 miles southeast of Katmandu, Nepal, into a virtual battleground.

SFU Given Ultimatum

BURNABY (CP) — The executive of the Simon Fraser University Alumni Association said Friday it will demand the resignation of SFU's president and board of governors unless eight suspended professors are reinstated. The executive also will stop accepting donations for university use.

Dismissal proceedings and investigations have already cost taxpayers $200,000, the association charges.

Postmen Return To Work

The longest and most severe of the mail strikes to cripple B.C. services since the national postal dispute began was to be over by this morning.

The 48-hour stoppage, replacing the usual 24-hour rotation strikes, covered most of B.C. and was to finish as it had begun — on a staggered system.

* * *

The first of metropolitan Vancouver's 1,700 mail workers began reporting for work by 8:30 p.m. Friday and by this morning their counterparts were to be back on the job across the province.

The first workers were expected at the Victoria post office by 5 a.m.

But with the end coming when it did, it meant no mail delivery between Wednesday and next Monday.

* * *

The strike pattern across the country was reported more intense Friday than it had been on any day since the dispute began, with some 13,832 of the 27,000 mail workers off the job at 146 post offices. The government suspended operations at another 71 offices employing 1,291 workers.

Prime Minister Trudeau said in Ottawa that the government was prepared to give mediator Thomas O'Connor a week to 10 days to achieve results.

Margaret's Portrait 'Like Tragic Queen'

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and the royal family toasted her 40th birthday with vintage champagne Friday while controversy flared over a new oil portrait of her.

* * *

Margaret was vacationing at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with husband Lord Snowdon, their two children and the rest of the British royal family. Rain pelted the castle ramparts but the champagne flowed.

The portrait by British artist Bryan Organ, 35, is the first major royal family portrait in abstract style. British newspapers and the public generally scorned it. Art students saw it as good riddance to the "starchy, still-life image of royals."

* * *

A close associate of Margaret's photographer husband said, "I understand she is delighted with the portrait." The princess herself tapped Organ for the job and gave him complete freedom of expression, the artist told newsmen.

"It appears the princess is

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

PRAGUE (LAT) — Complete calm burdened by an overwhelming mixture of apathy and fear prevailed throughout Czechoslovakia Friday on the second anniversary of the invasion of the country by the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact troops.

●

A steady, day-long drizzle over most of the country seemed appropriate to the mood of the populace which generally ignored official praise of the "timely and friendly assistance" of the Soviet forces which continue to occupy the country since they stormed in on Aug. 21, 1968, to crush the Communist reform movement of Alexander Dubcek.

Clandestine appeals for a passive demonstration of protest against the Soviet occupation were only moderately effective in the Czech capital. There were fewer people in the stores, on the streetcars and in the streets than is

Niarchos

ATHENS (UPI) — The Piraeus public prosecutor Friday night asked for the indictment of shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos on a charge of causing "fatal injuries" to his wife.

Evgenia Niarchos, 44, died early on May 4, at Spetsopoula, the private island resort of her husband. A board of medical experts appointed to examine an autopsy report after her death agreed she died of barbiturate poisoning.

But Piraeus prosecutor Constantinos Fafoutis said Friday night, "I have asked the judiciary board to indict Stavros Niarchos for causing fatal injuries to his wife Evgenia, the night of third to the fourth of May.

Misty's Just Fine Thanks to Hydro

Five-month-old Misty, a little white kitten that had been perched atop a B.C. Hydro pole on Cook near Quadra since Monday, was brought down safely Friday morning by a B.C. Hydro workman.

The rescue operation took the Hydro man only about five or 10 minutes, resulted in no injuries and brought loud applause from a large crowd at the moment the workman picked up Misty.

He turned the kitten over to Debbie Vanyo, 15, of 4014 Quadra, who was babysitting for the owner, Mrs. David Bouchard, 3350 Cook. Debbie took Misty to the Bouchard home, fed it milk and a heaping bowl of catfood and kept guard while Misty had a long sleep.

The Bouchards and their neighbors had tried since Monday to coax the kitten down, to no avail. Thursday, Hydro, SPCA and police and fire officials declined to act until Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock, vacationing off the west coast of Vancouver Island, phoned Hydro — which performed the rescue free.

Advisory Board

Harbor Scheme Under Review

A thorough review of Victoria's Inner Harbor plans will be made by the city's advisory planning commission, it was learned Friday.

Commission chairman S. J. Cunliffe told the Colonist in an interview the entire Inner Harbor scheme will be "given a thorough going over."

★ ★ ★

The committee never had a chance before to look at the various proposals, Cunliffe said.

The fact the commission was never consulted on any of the Inner Harbor plans has been criticized by Victoria Ald. Peter Pollen. He said last week the purpose of the commission is to review major development schemes prior to council's approval.

Last week, council decided at a special meeting to speed up the city's plans for Inner Harbor redevelopment.

Submissions to the provincal and federal governments regarding detailed plans for the Inner Harbor will be made early next month.

On Sept. 8, city officials, accompanied by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, will go to Ottawa for a meeting with Robert Andras, federal minister responsible for housing.

Cunliffe said the commission will review all plans before they are submitted for Ottawa's consideration.

The area slated for urban renewal consists of about 55 acres adjoining the proposed Reid Centre. Any plans for the area's urban renewal necessitate acquisition by the city of the Ocean Cement property. Negotiations are in progress.

If the three levels of government agree to participate jointly in the project, Victoria will have to pay only 25 per cent of the Ocean Cement purchase price.

Although the proposed Reid Centre isn't part of the urban renewal scheme, J. A. Reid, president of the Vancouver-based development company Reid Properties Ltd., has stated he will only go through with his plans if the city acquires the Ocean Cement site. This, Reid said, will be the initial step in renewing the entire Inner Harbor area.

May Date For Pool

Revised target date for completion of Victoria's $1.75 million aquatic complex in Central Park is May, 1971.

This is three months later than originally scheduled. The delay was caused by the prolonged construction lockout, project architect John Di Castri said in an interview Friday.

"But we are in full gear now, and unless we get more labor trouble, we should be finished by May," he said.

"Right now, we are still coming out of the ground and are putting up basement walls."

"Because of the interruption, we were able to pick up an extra $35,000 by using the allocated money for short-term investments," Bramley said.

This money, he said, would help offset additional expenditures which became necessary as a result of unexpected rock formation in the construction area.

Included in the original $1.75 million cost estimate was a $25,000 contingency fund. More than $21,000 of that fund has been used up and more rock could be found where it wasn't anticipated, Bramley said.

To date, the city has paid $254,000 to the contractor H. E. Fowler and Sons Ltd. and $87,000 in architects' and engineering fees.

Young Hitchhikers Get an Education

Life on the Open Road

By DON GAIN

The faces were earnest; the voices were soft; the talk was serious.

"I've just spent four weeks hitchhiking around the country," said a youth from Crofton. "You learn things fast when you're 2,000 miles from home and you're out there on the highway.

"But I'd like to see a list of hints compiled. For instance, you shouldn't wear sunglasses when you're hitchhiking. People won't pick you up if they can't see the whites of your eyes."

A girl from Prince George spoke up. "If you're stranded on the highway beside a forest, you don't need to go hungry," she said. "provided you know what you can eat and what you can't."

"That's right," said the youth. "There are lots of things you can eat in the forest, but not along the highway, where it's been sprayed."

"Are there many kids coming here from the States?" the girl asked. "Kids wanting to homestead but not knowing where they're going or what to do when they get there?

"If Cool-Aid could help them . . . " she went on.

★ ★ ★

Don Bridgeman, who is on the Victoria Cool-Aid summer staff, said Cool-Aid was helping such people.

"The only place I was hassled was in Wisconsin," said the youth from Crofton. "I flashed a peace sign at a policeman, and he didn't like it. But at Mosport in Ontario where they had the rock festival, the police were just great. They gave co-operation all the way."

The speakers were all delegates to the first provincial conference of the new Youth Helping Youth organizations meeting at the Victoria YM-YWCA in a one-day session Friday.

Friday afternoon they split into groups of six or seven and carried on discussions. Friday night they had a plenary session and summed up what they had accomplished.

"Basically," said Bridgeman, "we discussed the mechanics of the different Cool-Aid organizations, what they do, what they don't do and what they would like to do.

"One thing I hope will become a reality is the visiting of staff persons from one Cool-Aid to another to exchange ideas. We got a really good idea today of how the various Cool-Aids work. We didn't make any firm decisions, but we tossed a lot of information around."

★ ★ ★

The federal government sent two observers to the conference.

Kelly Ip of the state department came from his Vancouver office to talk to the young people.

He asked one group if all the Cool-Aids in Canada should share the same philosophy.

"No," was the emphatic answer.

"There would be a danger in a Canada-wide Cool-Aid," said one young man. "I could see one branch getting into trouble, and the government would have to close them all down. You can't handle it on a national level. Each one has to be a part of the local community."

★ ★ ★

This reporter asked Ip what he thought of Victoria Cool-Aid. He said he had been particularly interested in the exchange project this summer with young people in Quebec. It worked out "very favorably," he said.

Vicky Radley, who works for the national health and welfare department doing research on transient youth, said she travels all over the province and she hasn't found a Cool-Aid that does better work than Victoria's.

"We're not just interested in finding a bed for tonight or tomorrow night," he explained. "We're working on bigger issues — where is the situation heading, how can we change it, should we continue as we are or make major shifts?"

Adair said the economic situation was of great concern. "A lot of these young people aren't doing what they're doing just for the kicks," he went on.

"Many of them are dropping out of school because they see their friends graduating and not finding jobs. And the work force is getting smaller and smaller."

★ ★ ★

The Inner City Project deals not only with youth, but with poverty in general. There are four full-time staff members and 30 university students working on it.

"We help people start food co-operatives," Adair said. "We help them with housing and with legal aid. We serve about 700 meals a day to transients.

"We have a mobile bus painted crazy colors so people will be sure to notice it. It is used as an information referral service. We have a medical clinic.

"One fact that is becoming more and more evident is that people need help in the winter just as much as they do in the summer. We're working on that problem now."

Men 65—Females 60

Woman Librarian Battles Age Gap in Retirements

By DIANE JANOWSKI

A female Victoria librarian is fighting a decision that has forced her to retire at 60 while men doing the same work are kept on until 65.

The woman, who worked at the Greater Victoria Public Library for about 18 years, was forced to retire at the end of June because the library board interpreted the staff pension plan to read that women must retire five years before men must.

"This has been happening all along, but I guess no one has ever minded the early retirement enough to fight it before," said Alex Markides, a field representative of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, which represents the librarians.

★ ★ ★

He said the case has been put before the board of industrial relations which must determine whether or not the employer has complied with the agreement.

If that decision is not favorable for the woman, an approach may be made to the Human Rights Commission, but Markides noted this may not be possible.

"The Human Rights Act permits a registered pension plan to have this kind of retirement age without being discriminatory," he said. Markides declined to identify the woman involved.

The difference in retirement ages came about when the Municipal Superannuation Act was brought into effect in 1958. Women were asked to vote on whether they would retire at 60 or 65, but men were simply assigned the 65 age.

Another Victoria librarian, who asked that she not be identified, said that prior to this year women employees who reached 60 had simply asked the library board for permission to work beyond that time.

"It was sort of a gentleman's agreement," she said, "but the present board doesn't feel bound by it. Two women reached the age this year but although they had asked to stay longer it was refused.

"They were simply notified by mail that their services would be terminated on the specified date. It was a pretty cold letter for women who have given so many years of service."

"It's completely iniquitous that a person should be forced to retire before she's entitled to receive the federal old age pension," said Mrs. Charles Burchill of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Civil Liberties Association.

"Not only is it discriminatory because the men and women are considered equal in other respects, but it means with the new Canada Pension Plan that she will get a smaller pension for retiring before 65."

Sports Arrive At Cathedral

Parishioners of Christ Church Cathedral will go there Sunday morning in sports clothes, ready for their Parish Fun Day.

They'll attend eucharist at 10 a.m. — a combined service to take the place of the usual 9:30 and 11 a.m. services — and then they'll go outside for a turkey barbecue in the lot where the bishop's house used to be.

At the eucharist the parishioners will see a plan for the new east end of the interior of the cathedral. It includes a free-standing altar with the choir behind it.

After the barbecue there will be a cricket match in Topaz Park between the rector's warden's team and the people's warden's team. There will be a softball game for the youngsters and one for those who don't want to play cricket.

Evensong will be celebrated at the regular time — 7:30 p.m. But in the morning, everybody will be sporty.

Underground Paper

No Dirt, No Revolt

By HUBERT BEYER

The first edition of what could be called Victoria's first underground newspaper will be sold on city streets Friday.

Its name: The Partisan. Its aim: An independent socialist Canada. Its editors: A 31-year-old socialist who advocates revolution by democratic means.

The Partisan's base of operations is located in the basement of a home on a quiet Oak Bay street just a stone's throw from the municipal hall.

★ ★ ★

The rest bears a resemblance to most newsrooms; stacks of paper piled on tables, typewriters with slightly torn ribbons awaiting punishment from reporters and old newspapers cluttering up desks.

Editor Bob Munro is busy with the layout of the Partisan's first edition.

"We chose the name because it is a partisan paper and because a partisan is a fighter," he says.

"We will not publish any pornography, and there will be no advocating of violent revolution. We take a serious look at society, not a frivolous one. If society doesn't want pornography, we respect its wish."

Initially, the Partisan will have eight tabloid pages with a circulation of 3,000. Munro hopes to get it up to 5,000 soon.

The paper will concern itself mainly with Canada's economic development, the educational system, and local politics.

"We will cover city hall regularly; we will attempt to give a close account of our provincial politics and we will point out what's happening to our resources, why the workers are becoming more militant and what can be done for our low-income group," Munro says.

—Jim Ryan

Partisan editor Munro

Munro is mainly self-educated. He left his hometown of Regina at the age of 14, worked on farms and in factories. At 17, he joined the navy where he served for three years.

Following that, Munro made his home in Victoria. He became active in trade union activities and joined the Communist party which he left — disillusioned, he says — after the 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia by Russian troops.

Neither Munro, nor his 10 volunteer colleagues, has any previous newspaper experience.

"We will have a business licence and sell our papers on the same basis as the two dailies are sold," Munro says.

He doesn't anticipate trouble from the police as was the case with two persons recently convicted of selling the Maoist publication Mass Line without a business licence.

Ilene Ramage, 22, of 1664 Fort, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a dislocated left hip received in a water skiing accident at Elk Lake about 7:35 p.m. Friday, Saanich police said. Hospital spokesmen said Miss Ramage is in satisfactory condition.

Roller-Skater Hurts Shoulder

Misty's Just Fine Thanks to Hydro

Five-month-old Misty, a little white kitten that had been perched atop a B.C. Hydro pole on Cook near Quadra since Monday, was brought down safely Friday morning by a B.C. Hydro workman.

The rescue operation took the Hydro man only about five or 10 minutes, resulted in no injuries and brought loud applause from a large crowd at the moment the workman picked up Misty.

He turned the kitten over to Debbie Vanyo, 15, of 4014 Quadra, who was babysitting for the owner, Mrs. David Bouchard, 3350 Cook. Debbie took Misty to the Bouchard home, fed it milk and a heaping bowl of catfood and kept guard while Misty had a long sleep.

The Bouchards and their neighbors had tried since Monday to coax the kitten down, to no avail. Thursday, Hydro, SPCA and police and fire officials declined to act until Victoria Mayor Courtney Haddock, vacationing off the west coast of Vancouver Island, phoned Hydro — which performed the rescue free.

Young Hitchhikers Get an Education

Life on the Open Road

By DON GAIN

The faces were earnest; the voices were soft; the talk was serious.

"I've just spent four weeks hitchhiking around the country," said a youth from Crofton. "You learn things fast when you're 2,000 miles from home and you're out there on the highway.

"But I'd like to see a list of hints compiled. For instance, you shouldn't wear sunglasses when you're hitchhiking. People won't pick you up if they can't see the whites of your eyes."

A girl from Prince George spoke up. "If you're stranded on the highway beside a forest, you don't need to go hungry," she said. "provided you know what you can eat and what you can't."

"That's right," said the youth. "There are lots of things you can eat in the forest, but not along the highway, where it's been sprayed."

"Are there many kids coming here from the States?" the girl asked. "Kids wanting to homestead but not knowing where they're going or what to do when they get there?

"If Cool-Aid could help them . . . " she went on.

★ ★ ★

Don Bridgeman, who is on the Victoria Cool-Aid summer staff, said Cool-Aid was helping such people.

"The only place I was hassled was in Wisconsin," said the youth from Crofton. "I flashed a peace sign at a policeman, and he didn't like it. But at Mosport in Ontario where they had the rock festival, the police were just great. They gave co-operation all the way."

The speakers were all delegates to the first provincial conference of the new Youth Helping Youth organizations meeting at the Victoria YM-YWCA in a one-day session Friday.

Friday afternoon they split into groups of six or seven and carried on discussions. Friday night they had a plenary session and summed up what they had accomplished.

"Basically," said Bridgeman, "we discussed the mechanics of the different Cool-Aid organizations, what they do, what they don't do and what they would like to do.

"One thing I hope will become a reality is the visiting of staff persons from one Cool-Aid to another to exchange ideas. We got a really good idea today of how the various Cool-Aids work. We didn't make any firm decisions, but we tossed a lot of information around."

★ ★ ★

The federal government sent two observers to the conference.

Kelly Ip of the state department came from his Vancouver office to talk to the young people.

He asked one group if all the Cool-Aids in Canada should share the same philosophy.

"No," was the emphatic answer.

"There would be a danger in a Canada-wide Cool-Aid," said one young man. "I could see one branch getting into trouble, and the government would have to close them all down. You can't handle it on a national level. Each one has to be a part of the local community."

★ ★ ★

This reporter asked Ip what he thought of Victoria Cool-Aid. He said he had been particularly interested in the exchange project this summer with young people in Quebec. It worked out "very favorably" he said.

Vicky Radley, who works for the national health and welfare department doing research on transient youth, said she travels all over the province and she hasn't found a Cool-Aid that does better work than Victoria's.

"We're not just interested in finding a bed for tonight or tomorrow night," he explained. "We're working on bigger issues — where is the situation heading, how can we change it, should we continue as we are or make major shifts?"

Adair said the economic situation was of great concern. "A lot of these young people aren't doing what they're doing just for the kicks," he went on.

"Many of them are dropping out of school because they see their friends graduating and not finding jobs. And the work force is getting smaller and smaller."

★ ★ ★

The Inner City Project deals not only with youth, but with poverty in general. There are four full-time staff members and 30 university students working on it.

"We help people start food co-operatives," Adair said. "We help them with housing and with legal aid. We serve about 700 meals a day to transients.

"We have a mobile bus painted crazy colors so people will be sure to notice it. It is used as an information referral service. We have a medical clinic.

"One fact that is becoming more and more evident is that people need help in the winter just as much as they do in the summer. We're working on that problem now."

Men 65–Females 60

Woman Librarian Battles Age Gap in Retirements

By DIANE JANOWSKI

A female Victoria librarian is fighting a decision that has forced her to retire at 60 while men doing the same work are kept on until 65.

The woman, who worked at the Greater Victoria Public Library for about 18 years, was forced to retire at the end of June because the library board interpreted the staff pension plan to read that women must retire five years before men must.

"This has been happening all along, but I guess no one has ever minded the early retirement enough to fight it before," said Alex Markides, a field representative of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, which represents the librarians.

★ ★ ★

He said the case has been put before the board of industrial relations which must determine whether or not the employer has complied with the agreement.

If that decision is not favorable for the woman, an approach may be made to the Human Rights Commission, but Markides noted this may not be possible.

"The Human Rights Act permits a registered pension plan to have this kind of retirement age without being discriminatory," he said. Markides declined to identify the woman involved.

The difference in retirement ages came about when the Municipal Superannuation Act was brought into effect in 1958. Women were asked to vote on whether they would retire at 60 or 65, but men were simply assigned the 65 age.

Another Victoria librarian, who asked that she not be identified, said that prior to this year women employees who reached 60 had simply asked the library board for permission to work beyond that time.

"It was sort of a gentleman's agreement," she said, "but the present board doesn't feel bound by it. Two women reached the age this year but although they had asked to stay longer it was refused.

"They were simply notified by mail that their services would be terminated on the specified date. It was a pretty cold letter for women who have given so many years of service."

"It's completely iniquitous that a person should be forced to retire before she's entitled to receive the federal old age pension," said Mrs. Charles Burchill of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Civil Liberties Association.

"Not only is it discriminatory because the men and women are considered equal in other respects, but it means with the new Canada Pension Plan that she will get a smaller pension for retiring before 65."

Sports Arrive At Cathedral

Parishioners of Christ Church Cathedral will go there Sunday morning in sports clothes, ready for their Parish Fun Day.

They'll attend eucharist at 10 a.m. — a combined service to take the place of the usual 9:30 and 11 a.m. services — and then they'll go outside for a turkey barbecue in the lot where the bishop's house used to be.

At the eucharist the parishioners will see a plan for the new east end of the interior of the cathedral. It includes a free-standing altar with the choir behind it.

After the barbecue there will be a cricket match in Topaz Park between the rector's warden's team and the people's warden's team. There will be a softball game for the youngsters and one for those who don't want to play cricket.

Evensong will be celebrated at the regular time — 7:30 p.m. But in the morning, everybody will be sporty.

Advisory Board

Harbor Scheme Under Review

A thorough review of Victoria's Inner Harbor plans will be made by the city's advisory planning commission, it was learned Friday.

Commission chairman S. J. Cunliffe told the Colonist in an interview the entire Inner Harbor scheme will be "given a thorough going over."

★ ★ ★

The committee never had a chance before to look at the various proposals, Cunliffe said.

The fact the commission was never consulted on any of the Inner Harbor plans has been criticized by Victoria Ald. Peter Pollen. He said last week the purpose of the commission is to review major development schemes prior to council's approval.

Last week, council decided at a special meeting to speed up the city's plans for Inner Harbor redevelopment.

Submissions to the provincial and federal governments regarding detailed plans for the Inner Harbor will be made early next month.

On Sept. 8, city officials, accompanied by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, will go to Ottawa for a meeting with Robert Andras, federal minister responsible for housing.

Cunliffe said the commission will review all plans before they are submitted for Ottawa's consideration.

The area slated for urban renewal consists of about 55 acres adjoining the proposed Reid Centre. Any plans for the area's urban renewal necessitate acquisition by the city of the Ocean Cement property. Negotiations are in progress.

If the three levels of government agree to participate jointly in the project, Victoria will have to pay only 25 per cent of the Ocean Cement purchase price.

Although the proposed Reid Centre isn't part of the urban renewal scheme, J. A. Reid, president of the Vancouver-based development company Reid Properties Ltd., has stated he will only go through with his plans if the city acquires the Ocean Cement site. This, Reid said, will be the initial step in renewing the entire Inner Harbor area.

May Date For Pool

Revised target date for completion of Victoria's $1.75 million aquatic complex in Central Park is May, 1971.

This is three months later than originally scheduled. The delay was caused by the prolonged construction lockout, project architect John Di Castri said in an interview Friday.

"But we are in full gear now, and unless we get more labor trouble, we should be finished by May," he said.

"Right now, we are still coming out of the ground and are putting up basement walls."

"Because of the interruption, we were able to pick up an extra $35,000 by using the allocated money for short-term investments," Bramley said.

This money, he said, would help offset additional expenditures which became necessary as a result of unexpected rock formation in the construction area.

Included in the original $1.75 million cost estimate was a $25,000 contingency fund. More than $21,000 of that fund has been used up and more rock could be found where it wasn't anticipated, Bramley said.

To date, the city has paid $254,000 to the contractor H. E. Fowler and Sons Ltd. and $87,000 in architects' and engineering fees.

Underground Paper

No Dirt, No Revolt

By HUBERT BEYER

The first edition of what could be called Victoria's first underground newspaper will be sold on city streets Friday.

Its name: The Partisan. Its aim: An independent socialist Canada. Its editors: A 31-year-old socialist who advocates revolution by democratic means.

The Partisan's base of operations is located in the basement of a home on a quiet Oak Bay street just a stone's throw from the municipal hall.

The rest bears a resemblance to most newsrooms; stacks of paper piled on tables, typewriters with slightly torn ribbons awaiting punishment from reporters and old newspapers cluttering up desks.

"We chose the name because it is a partisan paper and because a partisan is a fighter," he says.

"We will not publish any pornography, and there will be no advocating of violent revolution. We take a serious look at society, not a frivolous one. If society doesn't want pornography, we respect its wish."

Initially, the Partisan will have eight tabloid pages with a circulation of 3,000. Munro hopes to get it up to 5,000 soon.

The paper will concern itself mainly with Canada's economic development, the educational system, and local politics.

"We will cover city hall regularly: we will attempt to give a close account of our provincial politics and we will point out what's happening to our resources, why the workers are becoming more militant and what can be done for our low-income group," Munro says.

Munro is mainly self-educated. He left his hometown of Regina at the age of 14, worked on farms and in factories. At 17, he joined the navy where he served for three years.

Following that, Munro made his home in Victoria. He became active in trade union activities and joined the Communist party which he left — disillusioned, he says — after the 1968 invasion of Czechoslovakia by Russian troops.

Neither Munro, nor his 10 volunteer colleagues, has any previous newspaper experience.

"We will have a business licence and sell our papers on the same basis as the two dailies are sold," Munro says.

He doesn't anticipate trouble from the police as was the case with two persons recently convicted of selling the Maoist publication Mass Line without a business licence.
